The Cabinet Office sits at the centre of government and, with the Treasury, provides the government's co-ordination function. The Cabinet Office has an overarching purpose of making government work better and more efficiently. The Department has three core functions that enable it to achieve this overarching purpose:

- Supporting the Prime Minister and Deputy Prime Minister – to define and deliver the Government's objectives, implement political and constitutional reform, and drive forward from the centre particular cross-departmental priority issues such as public service improvement, social exclusion, the Third Sector;
- Supporting the Cabinet – to drive the coherence, quality and delivery of policy and operations across departments; and
- Strengthening the Civil Service – to ensure the civil service is organised effectively and efficiently and has the capability in terms of skills, values and leadership to deliver the Government's objectives, including ensuring value for money to the taxpayer. Working with the Treasury to drive efficiency and reform across the public sector.

The Department for Transport (DfT) has four Departmental strategic objectives which focus on the core areas of its business. These are to:

- Sustain economic growth and improved productivity through reliable and efficient transport networks.
- Improve the environmental performance of transport.
- Strengthen the safety and security of transport.
- Enhance access to jobs, services and social networks, including the most disadvantaged.

The Department creates the strategic framework for transport services, which are delivered through a wide range of public and private sector bodies including its own executive agencies. DfT often works in partnership, funding the provision and maintenance of infrastructure, subsidising services and fares on social grounds, and setting regulatory standards, especially for safety, accessibility and environmental impact.

IV - EXECUTIVE AGENCIES

ANIMAL HEALTH

Animal Health (AH) is the government's executive agency primarily responsible for ensuring that farmed animals in England, Scotland and Wales are healthy, disease-free and well looked after. We also have responsibility for managing outbreaks of notifiable animal diseases, and in this way we support the farming industry, helping it compete successfully worldwide, protect the welfare of farmed animals and safeguard public health from animal borne disease. AH is sponsored by, and work on behalf of, the Department for the Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (Defra), the Scottish Executive and Welsh Assembly Government across Great Britain implementing the animal health and welfare policies primarily on farms, at livestock markets and during transport. AH also works for the Food Standards Agency to protect public health by ensuring that dairy hygiene and egg production standards are met. AH also regulates the trade in endangered species.

VI - NON-MINISTERIAL DEPARTMENTS

CHARITY COMMISSION FOR ENGLAND AND WALES

The Charity Commission is the independent regulator for charitable activity in England and Wales. It aims to put charity at the heart of society, working to promote public trust and confidence in the integrity of charity. It does this through enabling charities to maximise their impact, encouraging innovation and effectiveness, ensuring compliance with legal requirements and championing the work of the sector. Under the Charities Act 1993 it is responsible for registering charities, advising trustees and developing policy on best practice, monitoring charitable activity through regular reporting and for investigating and tackling maladministration and abuse. In fulfilling these functions the Commission derives its authority from the Charities Act 1993, but its role is independent from ministerial direction. It acts on the same basis as the courts, working within and developing the legal rules that determine which organisations are charitable in law.

CROWN PROSECUTION SERVICE

The Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) is an independent body, responsible for prosecuting people in England and Wales. Created by the Prosecution of Offences Act 1985, the CPS works closely with the police to advise on lines of inquiry and to decide on appropriate charges or other disposals in all but minor cases. CPS prosecutors prepare cases for court and present cases in both the magistrates' courts and, increasingly, in the higher courts. The Director of Public Prosecutions (DPP) is the head of the CPS; he is superintended by the Attorney General and accounts, through the Law Officers, to Parliament. The CPS's Headquarters are in London and York. The CPS has offices based on a structure of 42 geographical areas, corresponding to the 43 police forces in England and Wales. The CPS London Area covers the operational boundaries of both City of London Police and Metropolitan Police Service. The CPS incorporates the Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office who are responsible for prosecuting major drug trafficking and tax fraud cases in the UK.

NATIONAL SAVINGS AND INVESTMENTS

National Savings and Investments (NS&I) is a Government Department and became an Executive Agency of the Chancellor of the Exchequer in 1996. As part of the Government's debt management arrangements, NS&I is responsible for providing cost-effective financing by issuing and selling savings and investment products to the public. NS&I is one of the largest savings organisations in the UK, with £78 billion of investors' money at the end of February 2007 (representing 15% of the National Debt and 8.7% of the cash based deposit market) and annual cash flows in excess of £20 billion. Its mission is to help reduce the cost to the taxpayer of Government borrowing now and in the future. To achieve this, its single strategic objective is to provide retail funding for Government that is cost-effective in relation to funds raised on the wholesale market.

NATIONAL SCHOOL OF GOVERNMENT

The role of the National School of Government, a separate Non-Ministerial Department since 1 January 2007, is to act as a centre of excellence for learning and development in support of the business priorities of government. The National School works nationally and internationally to help government departments and public sector organisations build capacity in good governance and offer more effective, better value services.

The National School aims to invigorate the thinking of public servants and to evolve their constituent organisations. It offers a combination of open programmes, tailored and bespoke solutions and consultancy work.

The National School of Government Steering Board, appointed by the Cabinet Secretary, comprises leaders from across Whitehall, the wider public and not-for-profit sectors. Chaired by Sir Brian Bender, the Steering Board oversees the work of the National School.

OFFICE FOR STANDARDS IN EDUCATION, CHILDREN'S SERVICES AND SCHOOLS (OFSTED)

The new Ofsted (the Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills) came into being on 1 April 2007. It brings together the wide experience of four formerly separate inspectorates. Ofsted inspects and regulates care for children and young people, and inspects education and training for learners of all ages.

The Education and Inspections Act 2006 set out the general duties to be placed on Her Majesty's Chief Inspector and preserves the Chief Inspector's independent and sole responsibility for inspection judgements. It also put in place a new governance structure, creating a non executive chair and members who, along with the Chief Inspector, form the Ofsted Board which has responsibility for setting the strategic direction of Ofsted

OFFICE OF FAIR TRADING

The OFT's job is to make markets work well for consumers. Markets work well when businesses are in open, fair and vigorous competition with each other for the consumer's custom. Our job is to make sure that consumers have as much choice as possible across all the different sectors of the marketplace. When consumers have choice they have genuine and enduring power.

As an independent professional organisation, the OFT plays a leading role in promoting and protecting consumer interests throughout the UK, while ensuring that businesses are fair and competitive. Our tools to carry out this work are the powers granted to the OFT under consumer and competition legislation.

The OFT works under a structure that is arranged by markets, rather than legislation. This enables us to look more easily at whole markets and to use all the tools available to us to improve them if they are not operating effectively. We will use consumer and competition enforcement, market studies and references, education and communication in whatever combination is appropriate.

OFFICE OF RAIL REGULATION

The Office of Rail Regulation (ORR) was established on 5 July 2004 under the Railways and Transport Safety Act 2003. It replaced the Office of the Rail Regulator. On 1 April 2006, ORR assumed new responsibilities as a combined safety and economic regulator under The Railways Act 2005. It also has concurrent jurisdiction with the Office of Fair Trading under the Competition Act 1998 as the competition authority for the Railways.

As the railway industry's independent health and safety and economic regulator, the Office's principal functions are to: ensure that Network Rail manages the national network efficiently and in a way that meets the needs of its users; encourages continuous health and safety performance; secures compliance with relevant health and safety law, including taking enforcement action as necessary; develops policy and enhances relevant railway health and safety legislation; and licences operators of railway assets, setting the terms for access by operators to the network and other railway facilities, and enforces competition law in the rail sector. ORR is led by a Board appointed by the Secretary of State for Transport, under the chairmanship of Chris Bolt.

POSTAL SERVICES COMMISSION

The Postal Services Commission is an independent regulator. It has been set up to further the interests of users of postal services. Postcomm's other main tasks are to:

- Seek to ensure a universal postal service at a uniform tariff;
- Encourage competition in postal services;
- Licence postal operators;
- Control postal prices and quality of service;
- Give advice on the future of the sub post office network.

Postcomm's policies are steered by a board of eight commissioners, headed by the chairman, Nigel Stapleton.

UK STATISTICS AUTHORITY

The UK Statistics Authority is an independent body operating at arm's length from government as a non-ministerial department, directly accountable to Parliament. It was established on 1 April 2008 by the Statistics and Registration Service Act 2007.

The UK Statistics Authority's overall objective is to promote and safeguard the quality and comprehensiveness of official statistics that serve the public good. The Authority is also required to promote good practice in relation to official statistics.

The Authority has three main functions: oversight of the Office for National Statistics (ONS) - its executive office; monitoring and reporting on all official statistics, wherever produced; and independent assessment of official statistics.

UK TRADE AND INVESTMENT

UK Trade & Investment is the government organisation that provides integrated support services for UK companies engaged in overseas trade and foreign businesses focused on the UK as an inward investment location. It brings together the work of teams in British Embassies and FCO posts overseas and government departments across Whitehall. In England, international trade support is coordinated by nine International Trade Directors working in partnerships with each Regional Development Agency. UK Trade & Investment services are delivered locally through a network of International Trade Teams typically located in Business Link operators or Chambers of Commerce. The devolved administrations in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland have their own arrangements for local delivery of services.
