

Junction

An important milestone in the completion of Autoroute 30 was achieved with the opening of the Jean-Leman segment to traffic on November 7. In fact, this will end the work done by the Direction de l'Ouest-de-la-Montérégie of the ministère des Transports using a conventional method.

A year earlier, on November 19, 2010, the Ministère inaugurated the eastern section of Autoroute 30, from Saint-Constant to Candiac. The opening of this segment to traffic increased traffic flow on some sections of Route 132, therefore, making travel easier for many road users.

The relocation of Route 236, to Beauharnois, carried out by the Ministère, has also been completed over the past few weeks. However, this new road will be open to traffic in late 2012, as will the western section of Autoroute 30.

The completion of this major step is the result of the continuous efforts of many contributors and partners. Therefore, I take this opportunity to acknowledge all of this outstanding work accomplished over the past few years.

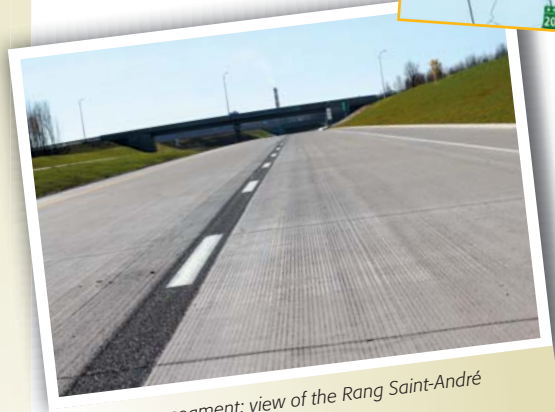

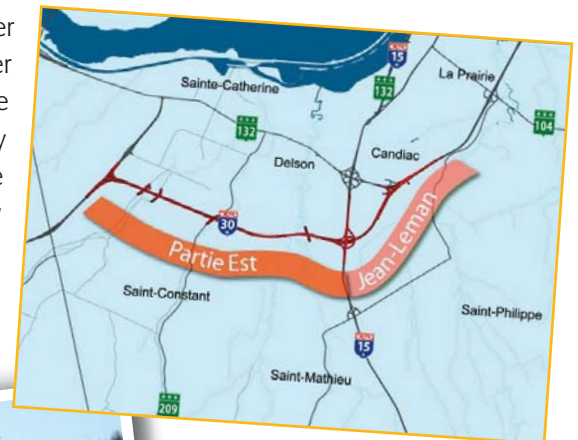

Well done everyone!

Joceline Béland
Director of Ouest-de-la-Montérégie

Inauguration of a New Segment

On November 6, the Minister of Transport and Member for Châteauguay, Pierre Moreau, accompanied by various dignitaries from the region, inaugurated a new segment of Autoroute 30: the Jean-Leman segment.

This 3.4 km segment is located at Candiac and includes five overpasses as well as a railway bridge. It creates a link between the segment from Châteauguay to Autoroute 15 and the segment starting at Candiac, allowing road users to continuously use Autoroute 30 from Châteauguay to Sorel-Tracy.

Remember that the final segment is still under construction. The western section of Autoroute 30 from Vaudreuil-Dorion to Châteauguay, built in a public-private partnership with Nouvelle Autoroute 30, S.E.N.C., should be completed for December 2012.
