

(a) Standard finetuning

(b) Prompt-based method

(c) Entailment-based method (our approach). Each class has a label description, and we choose the class with maximum probability of entailment between input sentence and label description.