GEEZER BUTLER

The Very Best Of

Release Date: 8/6/21

GEEZER BUTLER, founder member of BLACK SABBATH, presents his selection of tracks from his three iconic solo albums for the first time ever. Plastic Planet was originally released in 1995 under the name g/z/r and featured Burton C. Bell of Californian industrial/groove metal pioneers Fear Factory on vocals and is considered a classic of 90s metal. The album perfectly melded Geezer's roots in doomy blues rock to the industrial influenced metal sound that was a key element in pushing the genre forward in the nineties.

Returning in 1997 with Black Science and originally released this time under the name Geezer, this album saw Butler once again working with drummer Deen Castronovo and guitarist Pedro Howse, and like Plastic Planet, was produced by Butler and Paul Northfield (Rush, Alice Cooper, Suicidal Tendencies, Dream Theater etc). Bell was unable to provide vocals this time due to commitments with Fear Factory, but his industrial boots were more than adequately filled by the then completely unknown Clark Brown who stepped up to the plate and delivered an impressively powerful vocal performance over the album's high-energy and heavy power grooves.

With 2005's Ohmwork, gone were the industrial metal influences of the previous decade, but Butler still steadfastly refused to hark back to the past and kept everything contemporary, drawing on influences, as a keen follower of music, on everything that was happening in rock at the time. From the pedal to the metal of "Aural Sects" to the epic, neo-psychedelia of "I Believe," Ohmwork was a fitting finale to Geezer's solo album trilogy.

The Apple Drop

Street Date: 8/6/2021

20 years on from Liars' debut album release, Mute is elated to announce the release of their 10th studio album, The Apple Drop. Out August 6th on limited edition recycled color vinyl, eco-pack CD with 16 page booklet, and digital formats.

Recorded in Australia with avant-garde jazz drummer Laurence Pike and multi-instrumentalist Cameron Deyell, The Apple Drop is a unique fusion of the archetypal band structure with experimental electronics.

"Constructing these songs felt akin to dragging them through a wormhole," says frontman Angus Andrew. "I'd stretch and transform the studio sounds in the computer, pushing patterns and melodies through filters and sequencers, experimenting with probability based algorithms."

Throughout the album, rich textures overlap with engulfing ambience, before giving way to eruptive blasts of noise, crackling electronics and thrashing drums.

Indie retailers will be provided with limited edition flexi-discs featuring acoustic versions of the singles "Sekwar" and "Big Appetite." To be included as a free add on with all album sales.

DESCRIPTION:

Emerging from the frostbitten, dark and brooding woods of Siberia, NYTT LAND ascends as one of the most captivating and haunting musical forces in folk music. On their new album, Ritual, out August 6 via Napalm Records, NYTT LAND effortlessly pulls listeners into a world of ancient percussive instrumentation and vocal tradition: eight songs on the seventh full-length studio album tell tales of gods and heroes, born centuries ago and preserved in traditions, expressed in a unique sonic experience that can best be described by the duo itself as Shamanic Dark Folk. NYTT LAND is inspired by the sounds of Siberian nature, and records have included live field-recordings of raven calls and forest sounds. Thematically, their work echoes many stories from Norse mythology and historic texts such as the Poetic Edda. NYTT LAND's ancient shamanic culture is palpable on songs like "U-Gra" – based on the legend of the Siberian native tribe known as Khanty. It tells the story of the guardian spirits of the tribe's homeland as somber ritual chants at the start of the song ask the spirits to be kind to their people and help them retain their lands. An atmospheric, meditative journey accompanied by an enthralling percussive section accents the unmatched, unique throat singing layers of NYTT LAND vocalists Natasha "Baba Yaga" Pakhalenko and Anatoly "Shaman" Pakhalenko. "Svartravn" seamlessly continues this vibe while introducing melancholic string sections, telling the story of a warrior dying on the battlefield with a crow circling him, awaiting his coup de grace. The dying warrior tells the crow about his worthy life and the deeds that he performed, and that he is not afraid of death, asking the raven to take the news of his death to his family. Underlying themes on Ritual become apparent in NYTT LAND's artistic entity, pulled together by mysterious, haunting visuals while still welcoming the listener into their spiritual world. Songs like "Dead Man's Dance" and "Blood Of The North" showcase the Nordic folk-driven roots of NYTT LAND, while the shamanic duo takes the genre to new levels on "The Fires Of Ragnarok" and title track "Ritual". Ritual is a previously uncharted display of intense, dark folk music inspired by NYTT LAND's unique, authentic and ancient Siberian culture. If bands like WARDRUNA, HEILUNG or RUNAHILD ensnare your senses, then you must prepare for this Ritual!

GEEZER BUTLER

Manipulations Of The Mind – The Complete Collection (4CD)

Release Date: 8/6/21

GEEZER BUTLER, founder member of BLACK SABBATH, presents his entire solo output. Includes his three iconic solo albums as well as a bonus disc made up of largely unreleased material. Plastic Planet was originally released in 1995 under the name g/z/r and featured Burton C. Bell of Californian industrial/groove metal pioneers Fear Factory on vocals and is considered a classic of 90s metal. The album perfectly melded Geezer's roots in doomy blues rock to the industrial influenced metal sound that was a key element in pushing the genre forward in the nineties.

Returning in 1997 with Black Science and originally released this time under the name Geezer, this album saw Butler once again working with drummer Deen Castronovo and guitarist Pedro Howse, and like Plastic Planet, was produced by Butler and Paul Northfield (Rush, Alice Cooper, Suicidal Tendencies, Dream Theater etc). Bell was unable to provide vocals this time due to commitments with Fear Factory, but his industrial boots were more than adequately filled by the then completely unknown Clark Brown who stepped up to the plate and delivered an impressively powerful vocal performance over the album's high-energy and heavy power grooves.

It wouldn't be until 2005 that Geezer would get the chance to continue his solo explorations, having returned to Sabbath for the 1997 edition of Ozzfest, remaining in the band ever since, but in 2005 he released Ohmwork, this time under the name GZR. Once again the recording was undertaken with Clark Brown on vocals and Pedro Howse on guitar, the difference this time being that drum duties were handled by Chad E Smith (the veteran St. Louis drummer, not the Red Hot Chili Peppers percussionist of the same name).

With Ohmwork, gone were the industrial metal influences of the previous decade, but Butler still steadfastly refused to hark back to the past and kept everything contemporary, drawing on influences, as a keen follower of music, on everything that was happening in rock at the time. From the pedal to the metal of "Aural Sects" to the epic, neo-psychedelia of "I Believe," Ohmwork was a fitting finale to Geezer's solo album trilogy. The fourth disc here features bonus material taken from throughout the sessions of the three albums with rare and unheard material, including three live tracks from 1996 which feature Burton C. Bell on vocals.

This brand-new collection brings together all three solo albums into one package for the first time and features a booklet which includes never-before-seen photos from the studio from when the original albums were recorded.

LIMITED TO 1,500 COPIES
IN NORTH AMERICA

Release Date: 8/6/21

The late Sixties and early Seventies witnessed a musical and cultural revolution in Britain, as the exciting new sound of reggae swept the country, largely propelled into the nation's consciousness by enterprising Jamaican ex-pats and a largely working-class fan base, comprising people of all colours.

This radical, yet widely overlooked phenomena, provides the focus of this essential multi-format set, comprising of both vinyl and CD sets alongside a selection of faithfully reproduced vintage Trojan posters, a highly sought after Trojan embossed medallion plus a fully illustrated 90-page book relating the stories behind the key record companies, reggae's first global hitmakers and the ordinary fans, all of whom contributed to one of most unlikely and significant, yet over-looked, success stories in the history of popular British music.

TRANCE

is Meredi's second album.

The songs are about the longing for the here and now. The longing to lose oneself, to let oneself fall.

"I always wanted to create the feeling of release" says the Berlin composer, producer and pianist.

Sometimes one tone can open worlds.

One idea runs through 7 pieces. The piano is accompanied by strings and synthesizers.

It is the longing for the here and now.

The longing to lose oneself, to let oneself fall and to forget the time. The music is about a felt never ending line moving upwards.

Trance can lead to various temporary mental changes such as creative hallucinations, increased memory and special emotionality.

It all depends on the perspective.

Moritz von Oswald Trio returns with Dissent, a striking new album that explores the scope of jazz and dance music within abstracted electronic music. It follows the Sounding Lines LP from 2015 with a further explorative and daring sound, which dives through broad ambiences, uptempo dance and jazz sensibilities. As ever with albums from the Moritz von Oswald Trio, this new album, recorded during November and December 2020 in Berlin, emerged from a series of long extended jams then edited down.

DESIRE MAREA

DESIRE

Street Date: 8/6/2021

Mute are excited to announce the physical release of new Mute signing Desire Marea's critically acclaimed debut album Desire. Previously only available digitally, Desire is out August 6th on limited edition white vinyl and CD with 16 page booklet.

Desire serves as a captivating introduction to the singular and multi-faceted world of Kwazulu-natal born, multi-disciplinary artist Desire Marea. The album is a skillful stylistic departure from their previous gqom inspired work. It's an exploration of loss, displacement, and the terrifying manifestations of love in the contemporary world.

In the words of Ruth Saxelby's 8.0 Pitchfork review, "their exploration of the divine takes them in a many-splendored multitude of stylistic directions, often within the span of a single track: liturgical drone, galloping club beats, existential noise."

Desire is from Durban and is a founding member of South African arts collective FAKA, who partnered with Versace to soundtrack their S/S 19 menswear show and were included in the Vogue World 100 and Dazed 100 lists.

PRAISE FOR DESIRE:

"Marea belongs to a new generation of independent artists approaching voice, musicianship, and performance with all the senses in mind. It's that embodied vitality that allows Desire to speak so fluently to the mind, body, and soul."
- Pitchfork

"This is music that feels genuinely new. It's not every day you come across a debut album so strikingly original."
- Brooklyn Vegan

"Epic, eerie, regal: a good summation of South African Desire Marea's debut album, which pushes the boundaries of club music to the limit... So raw, so scattershot, and still so intentional."
- PopMatters

"Marea's self-titled debut is a whirlwind of hypnotic tones and intonations intent on sacred and secular revelation."
- Beats Per Minute

JOAN consequences ARMATRADING

- 1 NATURAL RHYTHM
- 2 ALREADY THERE
- 3 TO BE LOVED
- 4 BETTER LIFE
- 5 GLORIOUS MADNESS
- 6 LIKE
- 7 CONSEQUENCES
- 8 SUNRISE (INSTRUMENTAL)

- 10 TO ANYONE WHO WILL LISTEN

Consequences, Joan Armatrading's new album, is one of her most intimate and direct albums yet and one that wears its conscience and its heart on its sleeve. Her 22nd studio album to date, it ably illustrates the fact that Joan Armatrading never likes to repeat herself. It is a very different follow up to 2018's Top 30 hit album Not Too Far Away.

Of course the change of musical pace will come as no surprise to Joan's many legions of world-wide fans since she has always been a pioneer in what she does - ever since the release of her first album in 1972 when her then record company, by their own admission, had little idea of how to present her, being so outside the norm. It should also be remembered that Joan Armatrading was the very first female singer/songwriter from the UK to have international success with the songs she wrote and performed.

Whether she's playing a blinding electric guitar solo that would put many of the recognised 'Guitar Heroes' in the shade or focusing on specific genres like jazz or blues, Joan has always gone where the muse takes her with no predictability attached. Repetition isn't in her lexicon, even when composing the music for The Tempest and as demonstrated on the recently screened documentary of her career. With her heartfelt direct and melodic trademark vocal style and lyrics that tell it exactly how it is and a strong rhythmic flow throughout, Consequences is an album of some surprises for sure but couched in a passionate intensity that benefits from listening to it straight through from start to finish. A complete aural experience and an uncompromising tour de force that engages and gets better with every listen. And while the subject matter, love in its many guises, is an innately intimate topic this is not an album about Joan herself but rather, as with all her work, one written from observation and where she has created songs that people can make their own, applying the lyrics to whatever their own particular circumstances might be.

THE COLD STARES

GENERAL INFORMATION

ARTIST: THE COLD STARES
TITLE: HEAVY SHOES
HOMETOWN: MADISONVILLE, KY
GENRE: ROCK
PARENTAL ADVISORY STICKERED: NO

BIO

The great state of Kentucky is world renowned for many things. Bluegrass music? Of course. The smoothest, best-tasting Bourbon created by the hands of man? It doesn't get any better. One thing that folks don't always associate with Kentucky however is visceral, in-your-face rock and roll. The Cold Stares are determined to change that perception.

Chris Tapp and Brian Mullins have known one another for a long, long time. They grew up in Western Kentucky, just a stone's throw from the border or Indiana, and attended different High School mere minutes down the road from one another. They originally started playing together in their early twenties before going their separate ways only to reunite in another outfit a decade down the line. "We were playing together in 2009 in another band that was doing really well," Tapp said. "It didn't work out, so we both kind of exited that band and contemplated retirement." It didn't take long before they were thankfully disabused of that notion.

That band is an intense amalgam of Led Zeppelin meets Free, Soundgarden meets Black Crowes; rock and roll wizardry where the riffs are hard, the vocals are searing, and the low end is capital "H," heavy. Most of the album was recorded in a single day at Sam Phillips fabled recording studio in Memphis. "That's our second record there, so there was a lot of familiarity going back in," Mullins said. "The thing about that studio is that it's old, and vibey. Sometimes you gotta bang on the gear a little bit to make it work. It's kinda like the Millennium Falcon. It's badass, but you just gotta get it running right."

'Heavy Shoes' is Cold Stares' best record yet, and they know it. It took a lot of blood, sweat, tears and doubt before Chris Tapp and Brian Mullins reached this moment, but it's all the sweeter knowing they did it their way. "We've been through some tough times, and I'd say our band is a pretty good representation for blue collar people in general. People that work hard. We're just a blue-collar American rock and roll band." 'Heavy Shoes' is available August 13th through Mascot Records.

TEN YEARS AFTER

NATURALLY LIVE (DELUXE EDITION)

For fans of Alvin Lee, Ten Years After, and Classic Rock!

Recorded at HsD, Erfurt, Germany on March 24th 2018, Naturally Live contains live tracks such as: "Land Of The Vandals", "Silverspoon Lady" & "Last Night Of The Bottle" taken from their phenomenally successful 2017 studio album A Sting In The Tale. These tracks are combined with old favorites such as "I'd Love To Change The World", "Hear Me Calling", "Good Morning Little Schoolgirl" and, of course, the Woodstock killer track "I'm Going Home".

Also included is the band's semi-acoustic section of their current live show which features three tracks from the very early days in 1967: "Portable People", "Don't Want You Woman" & "Losing The Dogs". Exclusive to the "Deluxe Edition" are the bonus tracks "I Say Yeah" and an amazing version of the Robert Johnson classic "30-20 Blues" performed by bassist Colin Hodgkinson.

The beginning of their meteoric rise to fame can be pinpointed to their performance at The Woodstock Music and Arts Festival in August 1969. The audience were blown away by the intensity of the band's performance and their unique combination of Jazz, Blues and Rock, and their enigmatic frontman Alvin Lee. This made them one of the biggest bands of the early 70's.

As well as original members Ric Lee (Drums) and Chick Churchill (Keys), the band now features Bass Icon Colin Hodgkinson (Peter Green, Spencer Davis, Chris Rea) and multi-award winning Guitarist/Vocalist Marcus Bonfanti (Van Morrison, Ginger Baker, Ronnie Wood).

DESCRIPTION:

Hailing from the great down under but headed straight to the top, Melbourne, Australia based gritty alternative rockers THE UGLY KINGS are poised to turn heads with their bombastic sophomore full-length, Strange, Strange Times, out August 13, 2021 via Napalm Records. Equal parts darkened power blues and raw punk with a metallic rock edge, THE UGLY KINGS channel the flavor of groups like Queens Of The Stone Age and The White Stripes while preserving razor sharp, daringly introspective control with clever lyricism and addictive riffage. Strange, Strange Times punches from 0 to 60 at the start of its five-and-a-half minute introductory title track, "Strange, Strange Times", before frontman Russell Clark brings the listener back down to earth with his ominous, Jim Morrison-esque croons of blissful ignorance amid relentless chaos. The band's revitalizing infusion of dark energy is immediately evident on tracks like radio-ready, gothic punk-laced head-bobber "Technodrone" and retro-inspired tripper "Do You Feel Like You're Paranoid?" – both interwoven with warning lyrics relevant to the times. The post-punk revivalism spirit continues on tracks like the creeping, dynamic "In The Shadows" and seductive foot-stomper "Electric Lady (My Kryptonite)", while the band goes on to flex their musical muscles on tracks like whiskey-soaked murder ballad "Lawman" and smoldering hard rocking standout "The Devil Comes With A Smile". Listeners will get lost in tracks like the psychedelic, grooving "Last Man Left Alive" and equal parts proto-metal/horror punk "Mr. Hyde", before commiserating with closing working man's inspirational anthem "Another Fucking Day". In a scene in which gimmick-free, angsty, inspired rock n' roll is becoming increasingly difficult to come by, Strange, Strange Times is a breath of welcomed, yet strange, strange air.

A Certain Ratio

ACR:EPR

Street Date: 8/13/2021

Mute is delighted to announce the release of A Certain Ratio's ACR:EPR, out August 13th on limited edition Storm Grey vinyl and digital formats.

This release completes A Certain Ratio's 2021 trilogy of EPs and was recorded with the internal brief of "anything goes..." The result is an incredibly groovy set of electronic infused jazz funk tracks in classic ACR style. It follows the band's highly acclaimed album ACR Loco which Brooklyn Vegan described as "a blend of funk, electro, indie guitar post-punk, acid house, rave-on Madchester and more...a serious party album."

A Certain Ratio was one of the first groups to sign to the legendary Factory Records in Manchester. Whilst many people credit New Order and The Happy Mondays as the groups who brought dance music into the sound of Manchester, it is in fact A Certain Ratio who were there in the beginning. Formed in 1978, the initial line-up comprised Simon Topping (vocals), Martin Moscrop (guitar and trumpet), Peter Terrell (tape loops) and Jeremy Kerr (bass). Their debut seven-inch "All Night Party" was Factory Records' fifth release. Soon after this Donald Johnson joined on drums.

This Storm Grey pressing is limited to 2,000 copies worldwide and includes extensive sleeve notes and a high definition audio download code.

MY NAME IS Suzie Ungerleider

An already distinguished and highly successful career officially opens a new chapter with the August 13 release of the new album My Name is Suzie Ungerleider. Bursting with her trademark evocative melodies and trenchant lyrics, it's the eighth solo studio album by the American-Canadian artist revered for such landmark records as Johnstown and Sleepy Little Sailor. It's also her first since the artist formerly known as Oh Susanna announced that she would now record and perform under her birth name.
