PERMISSION REQUESTS

Please read the following guidelines before completing the Permission Request Form.

- Please check the copyright page (usually at the front of the book) to determine the originating publisher of the book. We can only clear permission for titles originally published by Penguin Random House Australia & New Zealand. If the book is first published by another Penguin Random House company, or a different publishing house, you need to contact their office. If the book is published by one of the publishers whom Penguin Random House Australia distributes, you should contact that publisher directly.
- If the requested material is part of an anthology or collection, please check the acknowledgments page for details on the copyright holder of the material you wish to reproduce. If the copyright holder is not Penguin Australia, then please apply to the acknowledged third party directly.
- You should only request permission for direct quotations from published works. No deletions, additions, or other changes should be made to the material without written consent.
- Copyright expires after 70 years from the end of the calendar year in which the author dies, unless the book was published posthumously, in which case it is 70 years from the publication date. If the copyright has expired, the work is considered to be in the public domain and permission is not needed for reproduction. However, you should still acknowledge the originating publisher.
- If it is a photograph or illustration you wish to use from our publication, please check the acknowledgements page and if an original copyright holder is acknowledged you should seek permission directly from them.
- Please allow 8 – 12 weeks for your request to be processed. There may be a fee for usage of the material.
