Sexual Harassment

Sexual Harassment is now considered as a violation of the fundamental right to equality of a girl as guaranteed under Article 14 and 15 and the right to life and to live with dignity as per Article 21 of the Constitution of India. The definition of sexual harassment in the Act of 2013 stipulates that a girl shall not be subjected to sexual harassment at any place. As per the statute, presence or occurrence of circumstances implied or explicit promise, interference with work or creating an intimidating or offensive or hostile environment or humiliating treatment likely to affect the girl's health or safety may all amount to sexual harassment. With the enactment of the Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act, 2013 Andaman Law College will constitute an Internal Complaints Committee very soon.

So far, no complaint of sexual harassment in Andaman Law College has been received. However, the committee is ever vigilant to ensure the safety of women on the campus and has taken up the issue of making the students aware of their rights through setting up of open forum, talks and discussions from time to time.

Anyone found guilty of sexual harassment of any girl will be immediately expelled from the college and the case will be handed over to police to be dealt as per the law.
