PREFACE

The 2011 Census Demographic Report – is the first volume of a series to be published, giving the results of the 2011 Population and Housing Census, which was conducted by the Central Statistical Office of Trinidad and Tobago (CSOTT) during the period 9th January -31st May 2011. Trinidad and Tobago has maintained an unbroken tradition of conducting decennial Censuses dating back to 1851. The census was originally scheduled for 16th May - 30th June 2010, but was postponed when Parliament was prorogued before the Census Order – the legal authority for the conduct of the Census – was passed.

The 2011 Population and Housing Census was conducted as part of the CARICOM Secretariat's regionally co-ordinated approach to census taking for the 2010 Round of Population and Housing Censuses. The Central Statistical Office of Trinidad and Tobago has actively participated as a member of the Regional Census Co-ordinating Committee (RCCC) of CARICOM, in the formulation of the regional strategy to promote the use of uniform concepts and definitions and a common core of questions for the purpose of producing comparable, high-quality data, which can be useful for monitoring social and demographic developments across the region.

A census is the largest, most demanding data gathering exercise that a National Statistical Organization will ever undertake. The 2011 Population and Housing Census confronted many challenges throughout all stages of its implementation and successfully overcame them all, to realize the high quality, information-rich product that is the 2011 Census Demographic Report – Volume 1.

The difficulties in enumerating crime hotspots and gated communities distributed throughout Trinidad and Tobago, led to the extension of the field enumeration exercise. However, this challenge also fostered the creativity and tenacity of the Field Data Collection Team and allowed the 2011 census to achieve 89% response rate.

To facilitate an accurate and comprehensive enumeration exercise, Trinidad and Tobago was sub-divided into 2824 Enumeration Districts, each of which represents an enumerator's workload of approximately 150 – 200 households. To manage the data collection exercise, the fourteen municipalities in Trinidad and the island of Tobago were combined into eight (8) Zones managed by eight Zone Co-ordinators. The Zone Co-ordinators were supported by Technical Area Supervisors each of whom managed 5-6 Supervisors, who in turn supervised the work of 5-6 Enumerators. Field Editors were also used to improve data quality during the data collection phase.

This time around, the CSO employed Scanning Technology using Cardiff Teleform Application Software, instead of the method of direct data entry, which was used in the 2000 Census. The CSO acquired expertise in the use of scanning technology through its collaboration with the FAO for the 2004 Agriculture Census. The Data processing of the 450 000 questionnaires collected was undertaken by a Data Processing team consisting of an Information Technology Specialist, Database Administrator, Network Specialist, Network Technician, Scanning Supervisors, Verifier Supervisors, Scanning Operators Data Verifiers and Data-entry Staff.

The 2011 Population and Housing Census Demographic Report provides a total count of the population of Trinidad and Tobago as at 12:00 am on January 9th, 2011 (Census Moment). Two population totals are referenced in the Report. The first count is the De Facto Count of the Population of Trinidad and Tobago, which is a stock taking of all persons present in the country at the Census Moment, whether they usually reside in Trinidad and Tobago or were visitors found staying in Hotels and Rooming Establishments and on board Ships-in-harbour. The De Facto population total excludes persons who usually reside in Trinidad and Tobago but were out of the country at the census moment and were expected to return within six months. The second count is known as the De Jure Count of the Population of Trinidad and Tobago. This total refers to persons whose usual residence is Trinidad and Tobago. It excludes persons whose usual place of residence is outside of Trinidad and Tobago ( Visitors staying in Hotels and Other Rooming Establishments and on board Ships-in-harbour) who were present at the census moment. The De Jure Count however includes in the total population, those persons who usually reside in Trinidad and Tobago who were not present in the country during the reference period of the census but who were expected to return within six months of the reference period. The tables presented in the report are based on the De Jure Total Population, that is only persons whose usual place of residence was Trinidad and Tobago.

The 2011 Population and Housing Census Demographic Report has been produced in the record time of eighteen months after completion of the data collection phase. This volume provides an expanded range of 23 statistical tables covering demographic variables such as age, sex, religion, ethnicity, education, internal migration, marital status, fertility, household size, household composition and international migration. This should certainly be well appreciated by data users and researchers. The Census Questionnaire included 61 questions organized under 13 sections.

The Census Demographic Report covers information collated from the following sections: Characteristics, Internal Migration, Education, Marital Status, Fertility, and International Migration. Subsequent volumes in the series will report on the other sections such as Disability, Chronic Illness, Health, Economic Activity, Information and Communication Technology and Housing.

This Report provides a wealth of information which can be utilized to inform evidence-based decision making for both private and public data users, as well as to formulate policies which would assist in improving the quality of life and standard of living for the people of Trinidad and Tobago.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Central Statistical Office of Trinidad and Tobago, a Division of the Ministry of Planning and Sustainable Development, wishes to extend deepest appreciation to the people of the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago, for welcoming and receiving, into their homes, business establishments and institutions, the Census field data collection team. Their assistance advice and protection as they canvassed their Enumeration Districts, and their cooperation in taking valuable time to respond to 61 questions over an average interview time of 45 minutes must be acknowledged. The information shared will be used by the stakeholders in the National Statistics System to inform about ourselves and enable a better understanding of the nation's progress since the last census taking in 2000. Thank You, Trinidad and Tobago.

The Statistics Act Chapter 19:02 of the revised laws of Trinidad and Tobago, authorizes the C.S.O. to conduct any census or survey to inform on the socio-economic conditions of the people. The Act appoints the Director of Statistics as the Census Officer. In order to plan and execute such a large-scale project as a Population and Housing Census, the Census Officer and the Census Planning and Management Team must seek the cooperation, collaboration, contribution and synergy of large numbers of individuals and institutions from all walks of life. It is not possible to publicly recognize in this space everyone who has contributed to the success of the 2011 Population and Housing Census. We take the opportunity presented to recognize some, whose intervention and effort were particularly timely and valuable to the realization of the objectives of this project.

The special contribution of Senator, Dr. The Honourable, Bhoendradatt Tewarie, Minister of Planning and Sustainable Development and other Ministers of Government responsible for National Statistics is acknowledged. Senator Dr. The Honourable Emily Dick Forde and Senator, the Honourable Mary King were all involved at different stages of the project, and provided oversight, maintained direct interest in achieving project milestones and ensured that the project was always properly resourced.

The CSO gratefully acknowledges the invaluable contributions of the members of the Cabinet Appointed Technical Advisory Committee who played a significant role in the design of the census questionnaire and other instruments. The Committee comprised representatives of Ministries of Government, Non-Governmental Organizations, The UN System in Trinidad and Tobago and the Academic Community. These initiatives were also supported by the Internal Census Working Group of the CSO, which comprised experienced statisticians and other highly trained technical staff.

We owe a debt of gratitude to our International and Regional Partners, who collaborated with us through every step of the journey and provided timely support through their global network. The UNFPA and UNECLAC contributed technical assistance in the form of national training workshops facilitated by international and local consultants and expert consultancies, to evaluate, critique and guide the CSO in the development of the census methodologies, and in the strategic planning. We publicly recognize Ms. Leah Marie Richards, Ms. Tammy Yates, Ms. Nicole Darmanie and Ms. Aurora Noguera Ramkissoon, Mr. Sylvan Roberts, Ms. Sinovia Moonie, Mr. Carlos Ellis and Mr. Mario Hernandez.

We are truly appreciative of the support provided by the Regional Statistics Program of the CARICOM Secretariat led by Dr. Philomen Harrison. Funding support for training workshops directly related to various aspects of the census process resulted in harmonization of approaches and methodologies and the sharing of knowledge and best practice through a process of South-South cooperation.

Deserving of acknowledgement are the Chief Statisticians, Directors of Statistics and experienced Statisticians of the CARICOM region who worked in a true spirit of collaboration to develop the regional strategy for the harmonization and coordination of census taking for the 2010 Round of Censuses.

A significant contribution was made by the Family Development and Children's Research Centre of the University of the West Indies St. Augustine. Mr. David Thomas of UWI FDCRC an expert sampling statistician assisted in the design of the Post Enumeration Survey (PES) , the training of staff and estimation of the census undercount. Also making a significant contribution was Dr. Godfrey St. Bernard, of the Sir Arthur Lewis Institute of Social and Economic Studies (SALISES) who provided expert advice throughout the project and guided staff in the Demographic Analysis of Census results.

An extensive communications campaign planned and facilitated by GISL with concept and designs from Collier Morrison and Belgrave Ltd helped to keep the census campaign in the forefront and made the enumerators jobs that much easier. The talented story teller, Paul Keens Douglas in his inimitable style communicated census messages to the community and became the voice of the census. We wish to acknowledge as well, all who took part in the census jingle and slogan competition.

The Field Staff of the Census and Surveys Division of the CSO played a critical role in the management of the data collection exercise and brought their wealth of experience to bear in dealing with difficult respondents and helping the enumerators cope with the extension of the project. The Geographic Information Systems section who updated and produced all the Enumeration District maps in good time for the field enumeration deserve our acknowledgment. Public Officers of several Ministries and Departments of Government accepted the challenge to work on the field exercise and served in management, supervisory responsibilities as well as serving as training facilitators.

Sincere thanks go out to The Principal of Talparo Government Primary School, The Principals of the various Secondary Schools throughout Trinidad & Tobago for the provision of facilities for the training of the census field enumeration team.

Sincere appreciation is also extended to the Chief Executive Officer of the Point Fortin Borough Corporation, The Chief Executive Officer of the Penal Regional Corporation, The Permanent Secretary in the Ministry of Sports & Youth Affairs, The Director of the Sports Company of Trinidad & Tobago, The Permanent Secretary in the Ministry of Community Development and The Director of Culture in the Ministry of the Arts & Multiculturalism, The managers of the various Community Centers throughout Trinidad & Tobago, The Sangre Grande Civic Centre, The Principal of the University of Trinidad & Tobago Valsayn Campus, The Manager of El Reposo Sangre Grande, The Permanent Secretary in Ministry of Food Production, Land and Marine Affairs, The Permanent Secretary in Ministry of Works & Infrastructure all of whom assisted by providing Census Area Offices which were the Regional operation command centres while the census data collection exercise was in the field. The Chief Executive Officer of the Port of Spain City Corporation must also be acknowledged for providing meeting space and for other assistance.

Special thanks is also extended to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs for facilitating the enumeration of Trinidad and Tobago diplomatic missions abroad and foreign diplomatic missions resident in Trinidad and Tobago. The Ministry of National Security must be publicly recognised for the tremendous support provided to the field staff in the enumeration of the crime hotspots. Special acknowledgement is extended to Superintendent Lennard Gay (deceased), Inspector Jawahir, Ag. Inspector Charles, Inspector Dann, Sergeants John, Lawrence, Manwaring and Nobbee.

The CSO must publicly recognize the contribution of the Zone Coordinators Mr. Joel Holgar Hackshaw, Zone 1 (Diego Martin); Mr. Roger Jones, Zone 2 (San Juan/Laventille), Mr. Sterling Chadee, Zone 3 (Tunapuna Piarco), Messrs. David Williams and Louis Gomez, Zone 4 (Arima/Sangre Grande); Mr. Roger Jugmohan, Zone 5 (Mayaro Rio Claro/Princes Town); Mr. Adhar Beepath, Zone 6 (San Fernando/ Penal Debe/ Siparia/ Point Fortin); Ms. Shirley Christian Maharaj, Zone 7 (Couva/Tabquite/Talparo) and Mr. Otis Noel, Zone 8 (Tobago) and their teams of Technical Area Supervisors, Field Supervisors, Field Enumerators and Field Editors who supported them. The contribution of Mr. Clifford Lewis in Zone 3 and Ms. Marva Williams in Zone 1 during the pre-enumeration period is also recognised. These individuals worked tirelessly to see the exercise to its completion. The names of close to 4000 persons are too numerous to mention here.

Undoubtedly however, the success of the 2011 Population and Housing Census was mainly due to the assembly of the finest group of statistics professionals in Trinidad and Tobago, to undertake the technical activities related to the planning, management processing analysis and reporting of the census. These dedicated and committed persons have put their personal lives on hold for several years and have remained ever focused on the goals of delivering an accurate and objectively collected census product. They rode every project storm, and overcame all obstacles to see the project through all its stages. Special acknowledgment is extended to Ms. Carol Salim, Ms. Caron London, Ms. Cynthia La Fortune, Mr. Basook Mahadeo, Mr. Chester Dalrymple, Ms. Petronella Simone Stewart, Mr. Jeffery Charles, Ms. Ingrid Diaram, Mr. Victor Pinder, Ms. Dixie-Ann De Souza, Mr. Aubrey Mendonca, Mr. Ian Rameshwar and Ms. Donna Berment and other members of the Technical section for the contribution of their expertise.

Sincere thanks are extended to, Julianna Lawrence, Brent Marchan, Mohanee Sinanan-Mitchell, Claire Phillips and Stephan Samuell of the Demographic Analysis Committee of the Central Statistical Office for their contribution to the analysis of the census results.

The contribution of the Administration Section led by Mr. Leon Lucillio, is acknowledged. They ensured that the support services, logistics and accounting arrangements were in place so that the project milestones could be achieved within reasonable time. Special thanks are extended to Ms. Esther Mc Ewen, and all the staff of the administration section who contributed in any way to the completion of the census project.

The contribution of four persons were outstanding and must be publicly recognized. Ms. Carol Salim, the Census Administrator, managed all the technical functions of the planning, conduct, processing, analysis and reporting of the census. Her many years of experience in censuses and as a senior statistician at the CSO were critical to the successful completion of the project. Messrs Basook Mahadeo and Chester Dalrymple who have worked on five censuses now, made an invaluable contribution through their institutional memory and knowledge of census processes. Special recognition is due to Ms. Dixie-Ann De Souza who managed the entire Data Processing with limited IT support. She brought her tremendous technical expertise in developing scanning applications and solutions to this project. This Census Demographic Report would definitely not have been achieved without her contribution. Finally, Mr. Mike Stroot retired Programmer of the US Census Bureau and external consultant to the project made a significant contribution by developing the validation and error checking programs, cleaning the data, programming the imputations and producing the final data tables.

KEY CONCEPTS AND DEFINITIONS

POPULATION AND HOUSING CENSUS

A Population and Housing Census can be described as a form of national stocktaking. It is a complete count of the population and living quarters in a country at a given point in time – Census Day.

POPULATION CENSUS

A Population Census provides detailed benchmark data on the size of the population, age structure, educational attainment, labour force and other socio-economic characteristics of all persons in a country at a specified time.

HOUSING CENSUS

A Housing Census provides detailed benchmark data on the living quarters and household amenities in a country at a specified time.

CENSUS DAY

Census Day was the 9th January, 2011. This is simply the reference date for the collection of all data.

CENSUS MOMENT

Census Moment can be described as a well-defined reference point in time and is one of the essential features of population and housing censuses. Each person and/or each set of living quarters is enumerated as closely as possible in respect to census moment. The census moment was 12:00am on the 9th January, 2011.

ENUMERATION DISTRICT (ED)

An Enumeration District (ED) is a defined geographical area comprising approximately one hundred and fifty to two hundred (150 – 200) households. Some EDs may be less than 150 or greater than 200 households depending on terrain, remoteness, population density or other special features. The country is divided into EDs to facilitate a precise and organized approach to the collection of data for Surveys or Censuses.

UNITS OF ENUMERATION

In the case of the population census, the primary unit of enumeration is the person. There are two frameworks in which individuals are identified:

(a) Households and (b) Collective Living Quarters.

The household is the general framework in which most individuals are identified, since the majority of the population live in households. The second framework comprises collective living quarters which are intended for habitation by large groups of individuals or several households. Such quarters can be (i) hotels, rooming houses and other lodging houses; (ii) Institutions like hospitals, orphanages, prisons etc. (iii) camps which represent temporary accommodation for groups with common interests or goals e.g. workers camps and (iv) other - which includes population on Ships in Harbour.

In the case of the Housing Census, the household is one of three (3) units of enumeration, the other two being living quarters (private dwelling units and collective living quarters) and buildings.

TOTAL POPULATION

In the broadest sense, the total population may comprise either all usual residents of the country or all persons present in the country at the time of the Census. The total of all usual residents is generally referred to as the de jure population and the total of all persons present in Trinidad and Tobago at the time of the census as the de facto population.

Various population groups are enumerated:

- (i) Persons living in private households (Non- Institutional Population)
- (ii) Persons living in non-private dwellings, group dwellings and institutions (Collective Living Quarters)
- (iii) Persons with no fixed place of abode (Street Dwellers)
- (iv) Persons, including crew on ships in port at the time of the census
- (v) Foreign military, naval, diplomatic personnel and their respective families located in the country at the time of the census
- (vi) Usual residents of Trinidad and Tobago on diplomatic postings, farm (labour) programmes and students in foreign countries
- (vii) Persons living on offshore islands which are geographically part of Trinidad and Tobago

NON-INSTITUTIONAL POPULATION

The non-institutional population comprises households found in private dwellings.

COLLECTIVE LIVING POPULATION

The collective living population ( see definition of Collective Living Quarters below ) comprises persons found in :-

- (i) Hotels and Guest Houses
- (ii) Institutions such as hospitals, nursing homes, correctional and penal institutions, military institutions, monasteries, convents, retirement homes, hostels, boarding schools, student dormitories, orphanages.
- (iii) Workers Camps
- (iv) Ships in harbour

COLLECTIVE LIVING QUARTERS (NON PRIVATE DWELLINGS)

Collective living quarters include structurally separate and independent places of abode intended for habitation by large groups of individuals or several households and are occupied at the time of the census. Such quarters usually have certain common facilities such as cooking and toilet installations, lounge rooms which are shared by the occupants.

They may be classified as follows:

- (i) Hotels, rooming houses and other lodging houses
Hotels are defined as permanent structures that provide lodging on a fee basis and which cater for six (6) or more paying guests, boarders or lodgers. Hotels, motels, inns, boarding houses and lodging houses and so forth fall within this category.
- (ii) Institutions
Institutions are any set of premises in a permanent structure or structures designed to house usually large groups of persons who are bound by a common public objective or a common personal interest. Such sets of living quarters usually have certain common facilities shared by the occupants.
The following fall within this category.
hospitals, nursing homes, correctional and penal institutions, military institutions, monasteries, convents, retirement homes, hostels, boarding schools, student dormitories, orphanages.

Inmates in institutions are included in their respective households if as at Census Night they were inmates in the institutions for less than six (6) months.

Note: This information was collected from the household in which these inmates normally reside.

(iii) Camps

Camps are sets of premises originally intended for the temporary accommodation of persons with common activities or interests. Included in this category are military camps and camps established for the housing of workers involved in construction, agriculture or other types of enterprise.

(iv) Other - Ships in Harbour

CLASSIFICATION OF LIVING QUARTERS

INSTITUTIONAL POPULATION

The Institutional Population comprises those persons who, at census night, were living in institutions for six (6) months and more. The Institutional Population is a sub-group of the population found in Collective Living Quarters and can be identified in the diagram above. (See definition of Collective Living Quarters above).

ENUMERATED POPULATION

The enumerated population refers to all household members for whom a census questionnaire was completed. Tabulations on the enumerated population, therefore, present aggregations of the various responses given to the census questions.

UNENUMERATED POPULATION

This relates to the population in households that existed during the census but for whom no information was obtained, due to “No Contacts”, “Refusals”, “Closed” or “Not Visited”. ‘No Contact’ means that the enumerator visited the household but did not make contact with any household member. Refusals are recorded when the household refused to respond to the census questions. A dwelling unit is described as Closed when it has been ascertained that the unit is occupied but the occupants were temporarily away for a period of less than six (6) months. Not Visited means that the household was not visited by the census interviewers.

PLACE OF ENUMERATION

The place of enumeration is the geographic locality at which the individual was enumerated at the time of the census.

STREET DWELLERS

Street dwellers are persons who are destitute, without fixed place of abode and without immediate social and economic support (Ministry of the People and Social Development – Social Displacement Unit.)

For the purpose of the 2011 Population and Housing Census, Street Dwellers refer to persons who were found sleeping or preparing to sleep on the sidewalk and pavements of streets or on the ground of open plots of land adjoining a street.

HOUSEHOLD

A private household consists of one (1) person or two (2) or more persons living together (sleeping most nights of a week) and sharing at least one of the main daily meals. In general, a household will comprise a father, mother and children living together.

A member of the household is not necessarily a relative of the main family. For example, a boarder or a domestic employee who sleeps in most nights of the week and shares at least one of the daily meals is also included as a member of the household.

The concept of the household and family is not the same. It is possible to encounter more than one family constituting a single household once they share common living arrangements.

Other living arrangements are:

- (i) Where a person has recently moved in with a group of persons, as long as he/she intends to make his/her home with them and spent Census Night in the household, that person is considered as a member of the household. However, anyone who moves into the household after Census Night is NOT counted as a member of that household.
- (ii) A Boarding House, which caters for less than six (6) boarders/lodgers, is classified as a private household.
- (iii) If a building is divided into flats or other separate dwellings, each such separate dwelling constitutes at least one separate household. A tenant or sub-tenant, if he makes his own arrangements for eating, also forms a separate household.
- (iv) If within the institution (non-private dwelling) there are separate quarters for all or any members of the staff, with separate housekeeping arrangements, such quarters form separate dwelling units occupied by private households.
- (v) A domestic employee including her family, if any, who sleeps in the house or in an out-building on the premises is a member of the household. However, if the domestic employee maintains separate eating arrangements on the premises, she constitutes an independent household. Additionally, a domestic employee who does not sleep on his/her employer's premises is NOT counted as a member of the household where he/she works.
- (vi) A boarder or lodger who eats and sleeps with the household, during most nights of a week, is considered a member of that household.
- (vii) A person who rents a room from his/her landlord/landlady and does not share any meals with him/her constitutes a separate household that is a single-person household.

- (viii) A person who sleeps most nights away from his/her family is enumerated at the place where he/she usually sleeps. He/she may be a boarder or lodger in a household, or constitute a separate household. However, a person who because of the nature of his/her job (e.g. watchmen, medical personnel, care-givers or shift workers), spends most nights away from his/her home is enumerated at the same place as the other members of his household, that is, at his/her place of usual residence.
- (ix) A foreign visitor or guest who spends Census Night in the household is counted as a member of the household for the de facto population count but is excluded from the de jure population count.
- (x) Students who are studying abroad and students studying locally who spend most nights away from home because of rental arrangements are counted as members of the household.

Hence, from the definition of a household and the rules given, one person may comprise a household. Any person living alone in a house or part of a house constitutes a separate household. The concepts of “sharing at least one daily meal” and “sharing common living arrangements” are used as indicators for identifying household membership

HEAD OF HOUSEHOLD

For census purposes every household has a ‘Head’. The head of the household is the person, male or female, who carries the main responsibility in the affairs of the household. In any event, the person recognized by the respondents as the head is accepted as such for census purposes.

In the case of a group of unrelated persons sharing a dwelling on an equal basis, that member of the group who the others acknowledge as such would be taken as the head.

A person running a guesthouse or similar establishment that caters for less than six (6) guests is considered the head of that household as long as he/she lives at the guesthouse or similar establishment.

RELATIONSHIP TO HEAD OF HOUSEHOLD

Relationship to Head of Household, where members of the households are classified in terms of their relationship to the Head, facilitates analyses on family size and structure and kinship patterns.

The following distinctions are made:

- (i) Head
- (ii) Spouse of head
Is defined as the husband or wife of the head of the household, who is a member of the household.
- (iii) Partner of head
Is defined as the common-law partner of the head of the household, who is a member of the household.
- (iv) Child of head and spouse/partner
This refers to the child of the Spouse/Partner of the head AND the head, or the child of the common-law partner of the head AND the head, who is a member of the household. This does not include adopted children.
- (v) Child of head only
- (vi) Child of spouse/partner only
- (vii) Adopted child of head and spouse/partner
This refers to the adopted child of the spouse/partner of the head and the head, who is a member of the household. The adoption may or may not be legal.
- (viii) Spouse/partner of child
Is defined as the spouse/partner of either the child of the head or the child of the spouse/partner of the head, who is a member of the household.
- (ix) Grandchild of head/spouse/partner
Is defined as the grandchild of either the head, the spouse or partner of the head, who is a member of the household.
- (x) Parent of head/spouse/partner
Is defined as the parent of either the head, the spouse or partner of the head, who is a member of the household.
- (xi) Other relative of head/spouse/partner
This refers to cousins, uncles, grandparents, great grandparents, in-laws etc., of the head, the spouse or partner of the head of the household who are members of the household.
- (xii) Domestic Employee
This refers to a domestic employee, for example maid, gardener or other employee who is a member of the household.
- (xiii) Other Non-relative:
Is categorised as a boarder or lodger who is a member of the household.

SEX

This is reported for each person (male or female) and depends on the respondent's answer.

AGE

Age is the interval of time between the date of birth and the date of the census (9th January, 2011) expressed in completed years.

ETHNIC GROUP

Broadly defined, ethnicity pertains to people of the same race sharing a common history and distinctive cultural characteristics.

Indigenous refers to people of Amerindian descent, commonly known as Caribs and Arawaks.

RELIGION

Religion may be defined as an affiliation with an organized group having specific religious or spiritual tenets.

MARITAL STATUS

Marital status is the personal legal status of each individual enumerated in relation to the marriage laws of the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago. The question on marital status is addressed to all persons fourteen (14) years old and over.

The following categories are identified:

(i) Never Married

A person who has never been married, either formally (that is in accordance with the marriage laws of the country) or through customary marriage ceremonies which are prescribed under Hindu or Muslim rites.

(ii) Married

Applies to persons who have gone through a legal marriage ceremony. Also included in this category are persons married according to Hindu or Muslim rites, whether or not such marriages have been legally registered.

A person, living apart from, though not legally separated from his/her married partner is to be recorded as married.

- (iii) Widowed
This category applies to all persons, married legally or through customary Hindu or Muslim rites, whose partners have died and who have not re-married.
- (iv) Legally Separated
A person who is married but not living with his/her spouse and has obtained a separation by means of legal proceedings.
- (v) Divorced
A person, having formally dissolved his/her marriage through legal proceedings, and has not remarried.

MIGRATION

Place of Birth

The place of birth is the geographical location in which the mother of the individual resided at the time of the person's birth.

Foreign Born

This is defined as any person not born in Trinidad and Tobago.

Foreign Born – Duration of Residence

This is the interval of time up to the date of the census expressed in completed years during which each foreign born person has lived in Trinidad and Tobago at the time of the census.

Place of Usual Residence

Usual residence is defined as the place where the person lives at the time of the census, and has been there for some time, or intends to stay there for some time.

Place of Residence at a specified time in the past

This refers to the place in which the individual resided at a specified time preceding the census. National circumstances such as hurricanes, civil unrest etc. may make it possible for the time reference to be easily remembered.

Place of previous residence

This is the locality or foreign country in which the individual resided prior to returning to or migrating to the person's present place of usual residence.

EDUCATION

School Attendance

This is defined as regular attendance at any accredited educational institution or programme, public or private, for organized learning at any level of education at the time of the census. It is important to distinguish attendance from enrolment since a person can be enrolled in school but not necessarily attending.

A “full time” student is one whose main activity is attending school, university, or some other educational institution.

A “part time” student can be defined as one, whose main activity is other than attending school or being engaged in the learning process.

“Distance learning” is defined as any form of organized educational experience in which teaching and learning take place with teachers at a distance from the learners for most of the time. It incorporates all levels of education and training using forms of technology that range from the simple medium of print to the more advanced medium of technology involving satellites, teleconferencing, networks, television, radio broadcast and other mechanisms.

Highest Level of Educational Attainment.

This refers to the highest level completed within the most advanced level attended in the educational system. This concept relates to non-vocational education, i.e attainment at Primary, Secondary, Post secondary and University.

The concept is also applicable to Secondary Schools where vocational and trade subjects were incorporated within the system. It should be noted that in cases where the respondents were educated abroad, the equivalent is to be recorded.

UNION STATUS

Apart from marriage, women are found living in non-legal unions i.e. not legally married to the partner with whom they are living.

Married and living with spouse

Common law and living with partner

Visiting

} Currently in a union

No longer living with spouse
No longer living with common-law partner
Never had a spouse nor common-law partner

} Currently not in a union

A woman is regarded as having a 'visiting' relationship if there was a birth within the twelve (12) month period preceding the census and the partner is not a member of the household.

CHILDREN EVER BORN

This refers to all children born alive (excluding foetal deaths) during a woman's lifetime, whether currently residing with her, elsewhere in Trinidad and Tobago or abroad. Also included are the children born alive, but died.

Please note that children born dead (still births) are not to be included here.

LIVE BIRTH

A Live Birth means the complete expulsion or extraction from its mother of a product of conception, irrespective of the duration of pregnancy; which, after such separation, breathes or shows any other evidence of life, such as beating of the heart, pulsation of the umbilical cord, or definite movement of voluntary muscles, whether or not the umbilical cord has been cut or the placenta is attached; each product of such a birth is considered live born.

STILL BIRTH

A Still Birth is defined as death prior to the complete expulsion or extraction from its mother of a product of conception, provided that the product is one of twenty-eight weeks gestation or over; the death is indicated by the fact that after such separation the product does not breathe or show any other evidence of life, such as beating of the heart, pulsation of the umbilical cord, or definite movement of voluntary muscles.

CENSUS NIGHT

Census Night refers to 12:00am on the 9th January 2011. This is the reference period for the population count.

MUNICIPALITY

The major divisions into which Trinidad and Tobago is divided for administrative purposes.

POPULATION DENSITY

Population Density relates to the number of persons per square kilometre in a clearly defined geographic area. It is computed by dividing the population in the specified area by its land area (in square kilometres).

POPULATION CONCENTRATION

Population Concentration is measured based on the calculation of the index of concentration. This index compares the extent to which the percentage distribution of a given population across specific geographic regions/spatial units deviate from having a distribution that is consistent with the respective share of the total land area covered by each geographic region/spatial unit.

An Index of Concentration of zero is indicative of a situation in which each region has a percentage of the total population consistent with its relative share of the total land area. An index of Concentration near to 100 is indicative of a population that is concentrated in one region/spatial unit only.

INDEX OF DISSIMILARITY

This index is a simple summary measure which provides a basis for comparing two percentage distributions whether they reflect age groups, occupational status, educational characteristics, or ethnicity, among other attributes. It measures the extent to which one percentage distribution is not consistent with another. One of the two distributions is usually deemed to be the standard. In the context of a percentage distribution of a population by age group, it measures the extent to which cases in the reference population have to be redistributed to other age groups to match the distribution that is reflected by the percentage distribution characterizing the standard population. The theoretical range is between 0 and 100. Zero would denote that the two percentage distributions are identical and 100 would imply that the two percentage distributions are totally dissimilar. It should be noted that two populations with contrasting characteristics can have the same index of dissimilarity.

INDEX OF POPULATION REDISTRIBUTION

This index is based on the Index of Dissimilarity measuring the extent of change in the percentage distribution of a specific population between two dates. The two percentage distributions can be predicated on any given attribute of interest.

AVERAGE HOUSEHOLD SIZE

This is calculated by dividing the Total Non-Institutional Population by the Total Number of Households

SEX RATIO

The sex ratio is normally defined as the number of males per 100 females and is computed as follows:-

$$\frac{\text{Total Male Population}}{\text{Total Female Population}} \times 100$$

AGE DEPENDENCY RATIO

The age dependency ratio is defined as the percentage of persons in the dependent ages- less than 15 years and over 64 years- in relation to those of 'working age'.

$$\frac{\text{Population under 15 years of age} + \text{Population 65 years old and over.}}{\text{Population 15 – 64 years}} \times 100$$

MEDIAN AGE

The Median Age is the age that divides the population into two equal groups, that is, half the population is younger than the median age and half is older.

PROPORTION OF AGED PERSONS

The proportion of aged persons has been regarded as an indicator of a young or old population. This is measured by the population sixty five (65) years old and over as a proportion of the total population.

AGING INDEX

The Aging Index is the ratio of the number of persons sixty five (65) and over to the number of persons zero (0) to fourteen (14) years.

$$\frac{\text{Population 65 years old and over}}{\text{Population 0-14 years}} \times 100$$

SINGULATE MEAN AGE AT MARRIAGE

The Singulate Mean Age at Marriage (SMAM) is an indirect estimate of the mean number of years lived by members of a population before marriage based on age-determined proportions of the population deemed to have ever been married in a specified period.

POST ENUMERATION SURVEY

The Post Enumeration Survey is designed to produce estimates of both coverage and content errors. The Survey is normally conducted immediately after the conduct of the census.

COVERAGE RATE

The Coverage Rate is the matched population between the Census and the Post Enumeration Survey (PES) relative to the PES population estimate. It is the complement of the Omission Rate.

OMISSION RATE

The Census Omission Rate is the missed population relative to the PES population estimate.

FERTILITY

Synthetic Cohort Fertility Measures

Total Fertility Rate (TFR) is a synthetic cohort fertility measure that is determined on the basis of age-specific birth rates in a specific period and permits efforts to gauge current fertility variation across different periods.

The TFR is an estimate of the number of children a cohort of 1000 women would bear if they all went through their reproductive years exposed to the age-specific birth rates in effect in a specific period.

The Gross Reproduction Rate (GRR) is the number of female children born to a woman throughout her productive life.

Period Fertility Measure

The General Fertility Rate (GFR) is the number of live births that occur in a year per 1000 women of childbearing ages, 15 – 49 years.

Real Cohort Fertility Measures

Parity Progression Ratios (PPRs) assume the form of a probability associated with having another child given that one has already had a certain number of children. Reference is usually made to older women, say those aged 45-49 years as they would have more or less completed their fertility cycle.

$a_0$  is the proportion of women in the cohort assuming motherhood. It is also the probability of women in the cohort becoming mothers.

$a_n$  is the proportion of women in the cohort who have had  $n$  births and go on to have at least  $n+1$  births. It is also the probability that women in the cohort having  $n$  births and proceeding to have at least  $n+1$  births.

The results permit assessments of the proportion of women from the cohort who remain childless as well as the estimation of the cohort fertility rate (CFR) of a real cohort.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

De Facto Population - 1,332,901. This refers to all persons present in the country on 9th January 2011, including Visitors staying in Hotels and Rooming Establishments and in Private Dwellings and persons on Ships in Harbour. This total excludes all persons whose place of usual residence is Trinidad and Tobago but were abroad on that day.

Total Population - 1,328,019. This refers to all persons whose usual residence is Trinidad and Tobago. The total includes,

- Household or Non institutional population usually resident in the country and were present on Census Night
- Household or Non institutional population usually resident in the country who were abroad for less than six months on Census Night.
- Population in Institutions and in Workers Camps
- Street Dwellers.
- T&T Students studying abroad.

Excluded from this count:

- Foreign students studying in Trinidad and Tobago
- Foreign diplomats residing in Trinidad and Tobago.

Non-Institutional Population (De Facto) - 1,325,569. This total represents the population found in private dwellings on Census Night, including visitors and persons for whom usual residence is abroad. Those Visitors who reside abroad will only be counted in the De Facto population.

Non-Institutional Population - 1,322,546. This represents only the household population found in private dwellings for whom usual residence is Trinidad and Tobago.

Population in Collective Living Quarters - 6,495. The subsets denoted as living collectively are shown in Data Table 6. Note: Visitors staying in Hotels and rooming establishments and who were present in the country on Census Night are only counted in the De Facto count of the population and are excluded from the total population count. Also, persons in Institutions and for whom usual residence is not Trinidad and Tobago are also excluded e.g. foreign students and 'refused leave to land' persons in Detention Centres.

The Total Population has been adjusted for 'No contact', 'Non-response', 'Refusals' and Under-coverage (see Key Concepts and Definitions). Estimates for Under-coverage were measured by the Post Enumeration Survey (PES).

Adjustment factors were applied at the level of the Municipalities for Trinidad and at the level of the Parishes for Tobago.

Imputations were made for missing ages except for the Street Dwellers.

Discrepancies between totals and component totals in the Data Tables may be due to rounding.

1. NATIONAL POPULATION CHARACTERISTICS

POPULATION GROWTH/SIZE/TRENDS

The total population of Trinidad and Tobago based on the 2011 Population and Housing Census was 1,328,019. This population is referred to as all usual residents and did not include visitors to the country. The sub-populations included in this figure were persons in private dwellings referred to as the non-institutional population, persons in institutions and workers camps, and street dwellers. When the sizes of non-institutional and street-dweller populations enumerated in 2011 were compared with corresponding sizes for census 2000, Table 1.1 shows that there were increases of 5.7% from 1,250,652 (2000) to 1,322,546 (2011) and 13.4% from 471 (2000) to 534 (2011) respectively. With respect to the size of populations enumerated in institutions and workers camps, a steep decline of 57.8% from 11,714 (2000) to 4,939 (2011) was observed between the two censuses.

Comparison of Total Population, 2011 and 2000: Trinidad and Tobago

Population	2011	2000	Change (%)
Non institutional – persons found in private dwellings	1,322,546	1,250,652	5.7
Institutions and Workers Camps - usual residents	4,939	11,714	(57.8)
Street Dwellers	534	471	13.4
Total	1,328,019	1,262,366	5.2

Usual residents in institutions would include only those who have spent six(6) months or more in institutions and whose usual residence is Trinidad and Tobago. Persons who spent less than 6 months would have been counted in their respective households, foreign students and persons who were in the Detention Centre having been 'refused leave to land' by Immigration authorities would have been excluded from these census counts.

Table 1.2 gives the size of the population from 1851 to 2011 and the computed growth rates. There was a steady growth in the population from as far back as 1851, which is also illustrated in Chart 1.1. The largest increase of 3.0% per annum was recorded between 1871 and 1881, while the smallest increase of 0.4% per annum was observed between 1990 and 2000. Between 2000 and 2011, the annual rate of population growth was 0.5%, negligibly larger than that of the previous intercensal period and reinforced the fact that the rate of population growth in Trinidad and Tobago has been lower since 1990 when compared to periods before 1990.

For the intercensal period 2000-2011, the change in population size was 65,653. Between the last census in June of 2000 to the 9th January 2011, the total number of live births was estimated to be 196,093 while the total number of deaths was estimated to be 104,417 implying a natural increase of 91,676 persons. Net migration calculated as the difference in intercensal growth and the natural increase has therefore been estimated as (26,023).

Table 1.3 shows the changes in census population by municipalities in Trinidad and Parishes in Tobago. Declines were observed in the Cities of Port-of-Spain and San Fernando and Diego Martin Region. Minimal growth was seen in all the other areas except San Juan/Laventille where no change was reported. The Borough of Chaguanas in Trinidad and the Parish of St George in Tobago experienced the highest growth.

AGE/SEX COMPOSITION

Chart 1.3 shows a comparison of the age/sex pyramids of 2000 and 2011 which reflects the changing age structures of the national population. The structure of the 2011 population has been superimposed on the structure of the 2000 population. In the youngest age group (0-4 years) there was growth in the percentage distribution of both the male and female populations. The widening of the top of the pyramid in 2011 is consistent with the aging of the population of Trinidad and Tobago.

Table 1.4 shows that increases in population size were also observed in each of the five-year age groups between 20 and 34 years, as well as, all groups over 45 years. Irrespective of sex, there were declines in the size of populations in each of the five-year age groups between 5 years and 19 years and between 35 years and 44 years. The declines in the age groups 10-14 years and 15-19 years were quite noteworthy. A further examination of the age composition showed that the population in age groups classified as the dependent group (i.e. all persons aged 0-14 years and 65+ years) decreased from 32.4% of the population in 2000 to 29.6% in 2011. The working-age population classified as persons 15-64 years increased from 67.6% in 2000 to 70.4% in 2011.

A comparison of the pyramids for Trinidad in 2000 and 2011 showed that the classic pyramid shape seemed to be slowly disappearing and the resemblance of a bi-modal distribution may be developing where two age ranges were becoming dominant, 20-34 years and 45-55 years.

As in the case of the pyramids for Trinidad and Tobago, in 2000 and 2011, corresponding pyramids for Tobago reveal a similar expansion at the top of the pyramids which is indicative of aging among the population of Tobago with the passage of time.

Sex Ratio and Excess/Deficit

With reference to the population of Trinidad and Tobago in 1980 and 1990, Table 1.5 shows that the census data were consistent with a slight preponderance of females over males in the respective populations, this being especially evident among persons 35 - 54 years and 65 years or older in 1980 and among persons 45 years or older in 1990. Based on the 2000 census, however, Table 1.5 is indicative of a sex ratio that is consistent with a slight preponderance of males over females in the entire population. This was particularly the case in every five-year age group below the age of 55 years. For persons in five-year age groups between the ages of 55 and 79 years and those 80 years or older, females outnumbered males. A similar trend existed based on the 2011 census, where the number of males was greater than the number of females in all five-year age groups under 65 years. For persons in five-year age groups between the ages of 65 and 79 years and those 80 years or older, females also outnumbered males. These observations revealed highly consistent patterns of variation in the age-determined sex composition of the population of Trinidad and Tobago across the four census years.

Indicators of Aging Populations

Table 1.6 shows that the age dependency ratio for Trinidad and Tobago decreased from 48 in 2000 to 42 in 2011. This ratio looks at the proportion of dependents, that is, the combined child population comprising all age groups of persons less than 15 years and the aged population of persons 65 and older in relation to the working-age population defined as the 15-64 age groups. The decline in this ratio meant that every 100 members of the working-age population were carrying 42 dependents in census 2011 instead of 48 as was seen in census 2000. The improvement in the age dependency ratio in 2011 was due to a growth in the working-age population (15-64 years) and a decline in the dependent population.

When the age dependency ratio is examined by Municipality, five (5) municipalities showed ratios below the national average. In descending order they were Tunapuna/Piarco; Princes Town; Couva/Tabaquite/Talparo; Penal/Debe and Chaguanas. Areas with ratios above the national average (also in descending order) were Port of Spain; Diego Martin; Tobago, San Juan/Laventille; San Fernando, Sangre Grande, Point Fortin, and Arima. The other areas had age dependency ratios which were similar to the national average.

Table 1.6 shows persons age 65 years or older as a percentage of the total population as an indicator of a young or old population. The indicator shows that in 2011, persons age 65 years or older relative to the total population rose to 9.0% from 5.6% in 1980. A population in which this indicator assumes magnitudes ranging between 5 and 10 is regarded as neither young nor old but is in an intermediate stage.

Another indicator that examines the age composition of a population is the aging index. (Table 1.6). This index, which measures the persons 65 years and older relative to the population under 15 years of age, more than doubled from 16.3 as measured by the 1980 census data to 43.5 based on the 2011 census. A population with a ratio above 30 may be described as 'old'. In Trinidad, the municipalities with aging indices above the national average were the Cities of Port of Spain and San Fernando and the Regions of Couva/ Tabaquite/ Talparo, Arima and Mayaro/ Rio Claro. In the island of Tobago, aging indices above the national average were recorded for the Parishes of St George and St John.

The median is another measure used to describe the age composition of the population. In 2011, Table 1.6 reveals that the median age was 32.6 years which meant that half of the population was younger than 32.6 years while the other half was older than 32.6 years. Countries with median ages over 30 are described as 'old'. In 2000, a younger median age of 28 years was reported and this can be interpreted as an 'intermediate' stage between young and old.

ETHNIC COMPOSITION

In 2011, Chart 1.10 shows that East Indians and Africans were again the two largest ethnic groups in Trinidad and Tobago. East Indians accounted for 35.4% of the total population while Africans accounted for 34.2%. In the 2000 census, the respective percentages were 40% and 37.5%. The difference between the groups narrowed from 2.5% in 2000 to 1.2% in 2011.

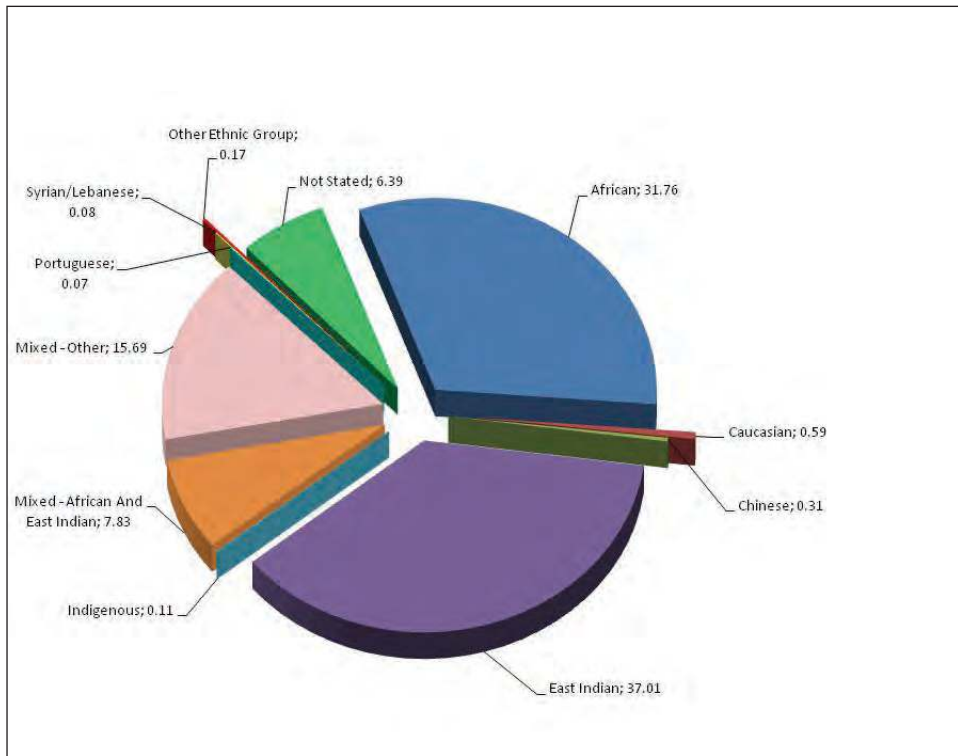

The next largest group was described as 'Mixed' representing 22.8% of the population and disaggregated into the 'African/East Indian' 7.7% and 'Mixed Other' 15.1%. This group increased from 20.5% in 2000. All other ethnic groups totalled 1.4% although there was a relatively large 'not stated' category consisting of 6.2%.

When the ethnic composition was compared across the two islands, a completely different landscape was observed in Tobago as compared to Trinidad (Chart 1.11). Chart 1.12 shows that 85.2 % of the population was African followed by the 'Mixed' group comprising 8.5%.

RELIGIOUS COMPOSITION

In 2011, according to Table 1.7, Roman Catholicism was again the largest religious denomination with 285,671 followers, having declined from a membership of 289,711 in 2000, a decrease of 1.4%. Other religious denominations that experienced decreases in their membership in 2011 were Hinduism, Anglican, Presbyterian/Congregational and Methodist. The number of persons claiming affiliation to Pentecostal/Evangelical/Full Gospel more than doubled from 76,327 in 2000 to 159,033 in 2011, an increase of 108.4%. Interestingly, the category 'None' rose by 33.5% and the 'Not Stated' constituted quite a large number of persons. Chart 1.13 gives a distribution of the population by religious affiliations based on the 2011 Population and Housing Census.

EDUCATIONAL ATTAINMENT AND QUALIFICATIONS

According to the 2011 Population and Housing Census, Data Table 20 shows that 29.8% of the population had attained primary-level education. Proportions amounting to 43.5% had attained secondary and post-secondary, with 6.2% attaining tertiary non-university level education and 8.4% tertiary university-level education. When educational attainment is disaggregated by sex, males outnumbered females up to the primary and secondary levels. At the tertiary level females outnumbered males.

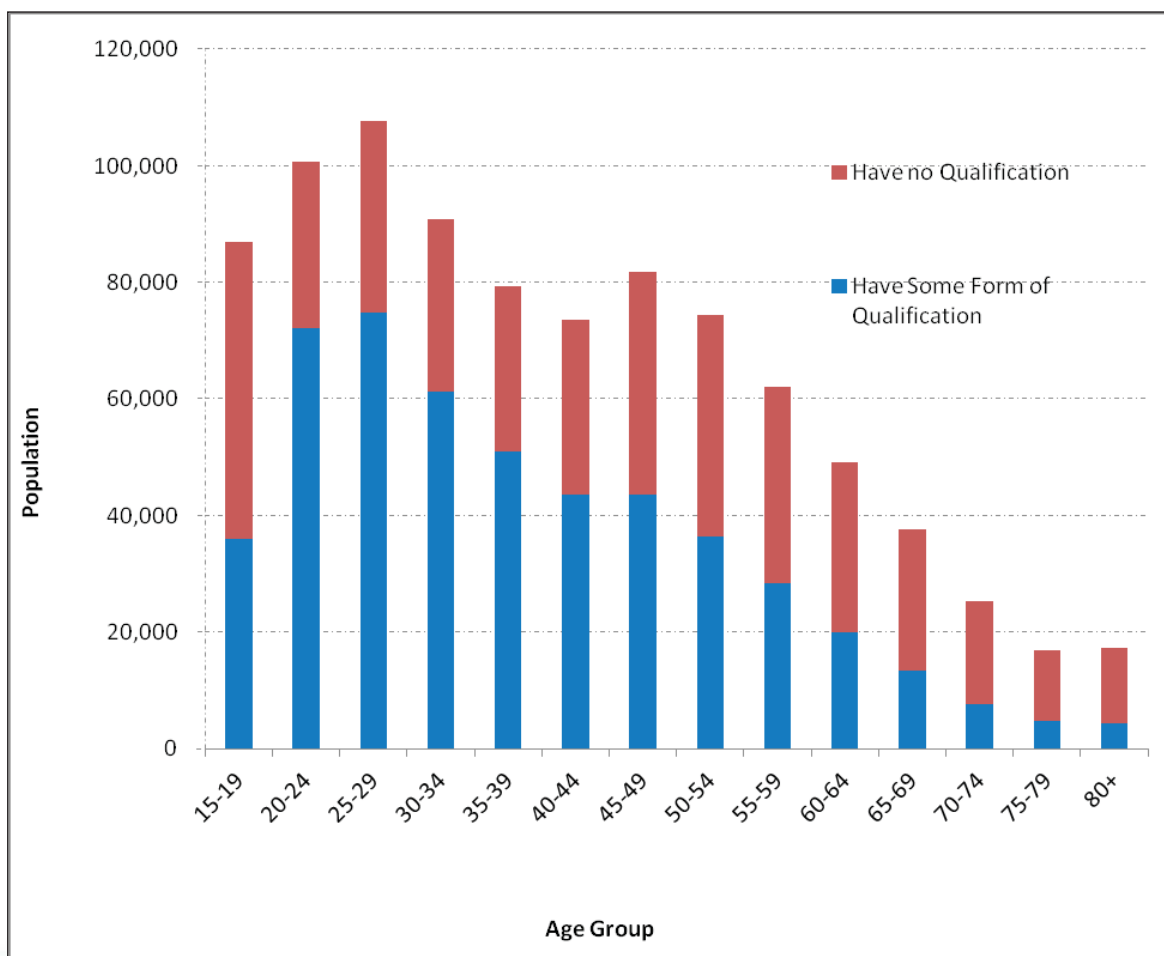

As illustrated in Chart 1.14, 38.7% of the population 15 years or older had no qualifications. Included in this proportion are some persons who may not have written examinations to receive qualifications. The chart also show that 4.3% reported school leaving as the highest qualification attained and 2.1% claimed to have attained CXC Basic as their highest educational qualification. While 25.1% achieved GCE 'O' level/CXC General or 'A' Levels as their highest educational qualification, 9.3% were granted Diplomas, 5.0% achieved either a Bachelor's or a Masters degree and 0.2% matriculated to the doctoral level.

Chart 1.15 shows the percentage distribution of the population 15 years or older in 5 year age groups by status with regard to having educational qualifications. From the age group 20-24 years to the 40- 44 years, more than half the population in each age group had some form of qualification. In the 45-49 year age group, there was almost an even split with respect to those having qualifications and those not having any qualifications. In older age groups, from 50 years or older, more than half the population in each age group had no educational qualifications.

INTERNATIONAL MIGRANTS

Intercensal Emigration 2000-2011

An emigrant is defined as a person who leaves one country to take up residence in another. In Trinidad and Tobago, there were 15,455 persons who migrated to other countries during the period 2000-2011. Migration is one of the components of population change and has been notoriously difficult to measure accurately. The 2011 census attempted to account for migration during the period since the 2000 census by asking household heads about migratory movements of former household members. However, in cases where entire households migrated, no data were obtained about migration.

During the period 1960-1980 it is estimated that Trinidad and Tobago had lost approximately 175,000 of its nationals (National Census Report; Trinidad and Tobago; 1990). The trend in destination countries of choice continued to be the United States, Canada and the United Kingdom. Together, these three countries received over 81% of Trinidad and Tobago’s emigrants amounting to 12,594 during the period 2000-2011 with the United States alone accommodating 59%, or 9,177 as shown in Chart 1.17.

Chart 1.17:
Intercensal Emigrants by Country of Destination, 2000-2011
Trinidad and Tobago

Tables 22 and Table 23 in the Data Tables provide information on emigrants across all age groups. Emigrants 15-19 years and those 20-24 years constituted almost 30% of all nationals emigrating from Trinidad and Tobago during the intercensal period. Chart 1.18 below shows emigrants in older age groups constitute smaller proportions of all emigrants. The 1990 National Census Report reported that the 65 and older age groups represented 23.2% of those emigrating. The data from the 2011 census suggested a reversal in this trend, as they represented only 1.0% of the emigrating population. However, the ‘Not Stated’ category for age was quite substantial.

Chart 1.18:
Percentage Distribution of Emigrants by Age Group, 2000-2011:
Trinidad and Tobago

Table 1.8 revealed that most emigrants moved from Tunapuna/Piarco (3019), San Juan/Laventille (2091) and Diego Martin (1669) during the intercensal period. Females constitute a relatively larger share among emigrants from Trinidad and Tobago during the intercensal period, a proportion amounting to 56.6%. The largest number of female emigrants came from Tunapuna/Piarco. However, when female emigrants were examined as a percentage of the resident female population in any given municipality, Diego Martin lost the largest proportion of its female population due to emigration.

Foreign-Born Population

The total number of foreign born residents was 48,781 based on the 2011 Population and Housing Census compared to 41,753 in 2000, an increase of 16.8%. Despite this increase, foreign-born persons as a percentage of the total population were virtually unchanged, moving from 3.3% in 2000 to 3.7% in 2011. Between the 2000 and 2011 censuses, there was no marked change in the distribution of foreign-born residents by country of birth as illustrated in Chart 1.19 and Chart 1.20. Immigrants from the Caribbean countries constituted 55.6% of the total foreign born residents in 2011 having declined from 65.5% in 2000. With respect to the foreign-born population, there were apparent reductions in the proportions born in Caribbean countries such as Grenada, St, Vincent and the Grenadines and Barbados in the intercensal period, In contrast, the proportions from the United States and Guyana increased during the period; the latter being observed to have increased from 12.6% of the total foreign-born population in 2000 to 19.7% in 2011. A large number of persons 8.7% in 2011 compared to 1.9% in 2000 did not state their country of birth.

2. POPULATION DENSITY AND CONCENTRATION

Population densities for Trinidad and Tobago based on Population and Housing Censuses in 2000 and 2011 are presented in Table 2.1. Trinidad and Tobago has a landmass of 5,127 square kilometres (1,980 square miles). Based on the 2011 census, the population density of the twin island state was 259 persons per square kilometre, up from 246 persons per square kilometre in 2000 suggesting that Trinidad and Tobago became slightly more densely populated over the intercensal period.

Notably, the City of Port of Spain which has one of the smallest land areas (12 Sq.km) in Trinidad continued to be the most densely populated municipality, having approximately 3,090 persons per square kilometre in 2011. This is indicative of a decrease in population density when compared with the 2000 census having approximately 4,086 persons per square kilometre. This reduction resulted from the decrease in the overall population residing in the Capital City.

The second and third most densely populated areas were the Borough of Arima and the City of San Fernando with 2,801 and 2,570 persons per square kilometre respectively. This pattern was different from that which occurred in the 2000 Census when the City of San Fernando was found to be more densely populated than the Borough of Arima.

The municipalities with the lowest population densities were Mayaro/Rio Claro, 44 persons per square kilometre and Sangre Grande, 82 persons per square kilometre. Both areas combined however, occupy more than one third of the total land area of Trinidad and Tobago but only comprise 8.4 percent of the national population. Interestingly, the municipalities of Mayaro/ Rio Claro, Sangre Grande, Princes Town and Siparia all revealed population densities that were below 200 persons per square kilometre in both the 2011 and 2000 censuses.

The Parish of St Andrew continued to be the most populous area in Tobago in 2011. Based on the 2011 census, most Parishes maintained the same ranking with regard to their population densities when compared with 2000 except for St Mary which had the lowest population density in 2000 but was replaced by St John in 2011. Incidentally, both of these Parishes occupy the largest (St Mary) and second largest (St John) land area in Tobago. (Refer to Population Density Map 2 at the back of the report)

Index of Concentration

The Index of Concentration compares the percentage distribution of the entire population across municipalities in Trinidad and Tobago with the share of the total land area constituting the respective municipalities. An Index of Concentration of zero (0) is indicative of a situation in which each municipality has a percentage of the total population consistent with its relative share of the total land area. Conversely an index of one hundred (100) is indicative of the entire population being concentrated in one municipality.

Selected Indices: Trinidad and Tobago

Trinidad and Tobago
	2011/2000	2000/1990
Index of Concentration	0.35	0.37
Index of Dissimilarity (Age Structure)	10.7	10.3
Index of Re-distribution	3.07	-

*Note: The Index of Dissimilarity 2011 was calculated using a comparison between the 2000 and 2011 population by age groups.
The Index of Dissimilarity 2000 was calculated using a comparison between the 1990 and 2000 population by age groups.*

Table 2.2 shows that based on the censuses of 2000 and 2011, the index of concentration was 0.37 (2000/1990) and 0.35 (2011/2000) being marginally lower in 2011. Thus, there does not appear to be much if any change in the extent to which the distribution of the population across municipalities match the share of total land area comprising the respective municipalities. In fact, the spread reflected based on the 2011 data seems more equitable when assessed in accordance with the land area of the respective municipalities.

Index of Dissimilarity (Age Structure)

A cursory examination of Table 2.2 shows the index of dissimilarity for the age distributions of populations based on two sets of censuses, the first being 2000 compared with 1990 and the second being 2011 compared with 2000. For the former, the index is 10.3 and for the latter it is 10.7. The theoretical range for the index of dissimilarity lies between 0 and 100, with 0 denoting that the two populations are identical, 40 being the upper limit for an acceptable level of similarity and 100 that they are dissimilar. Across the two sets of censuses, the evidence is consistent with a high level of similarity between the population age structures for two sets of censuses. This suggests a greater degree of dissimilarity between the age structures of the population in 2011 when compared with 2000 than was observed to be the case with respect to the age structure of the population in 2000 relative to that of 1990.

Index of Population Re-distribution

With reference to the 2011 census, the Index of Re-distribution measures the extent to which the distribution of the national population across municipalities has departed from being identical with the corresponding distribution based on the 2000 census. With a magnitude of 3.07, the observed index suggests that in 2011, the distribution of the national population across municipalities did not depart much if at all from the distribution that was observed in 2000 due to intercensal demographic changes due principally to fertility, mortality and migration.

Internal Migration

Internal Migration is an important component in assessing changing population sizes due to migration across municipal boundaries. Within any national context, an internal migrant is defined as someone who changes his or her region of usual address and takes up residence in another region, with the region of destination becoming the new usual residence (2000 National Census Report). The 2011 census attempted to measure the extent of movement between municipalities within the intercensal period. Table 2.3 shows that approximately 1,554 persons whose usual residence was Tobago in the 2000 census took up residence in Trinidad at the time of the 2011 census. The census data also reveal that approximately 2,794 persons who were resident in Trinidad in 2000 became residents of Tobago in 2011. Further analysis show that relative to the 2000 population the Borough of Arima and the City of Port of Spain recorded the highest percentages of out-migrants at 17% each, during the intercensal period. Interestingly, Sangre Grande, Tobago and Mayaro/Rio Claro were the areas where persons were least likely to move. These areas recorded the highest percentages of non-movers, 82% in the region of Sangre Grande, 80% in Tobago and 79% in Mayaro/Rio Claro. The Boroughs of Chaguanas and Arima recorded the highest percentages of in-migrants during the period at 14% and 13% respectively. The municipality of Penal/ Debe also welcomed 13% in-migrants.

3. MARITAL STATUS

Marital status is the personal status of each individual in relation to the marriage laws or customs of the country (UN Principles and Recommendations, Revision 2, 2008). The 2011 Census recognized the following marital status categories, never married, married, widowed, legally separated and divorced. In Trinidad and Tobago, marriages according to the Hindu or Muslim marriage ordinances are recognized legally. It should be noted that a legally married person who has not had the marriage dissolved, is still regarded as married whether or not he or she was living with the person to whom he or she is married.

Proportion Ever Married

Table 3.1 provides data collected for persons 14 years or older and shows that 48.9 % of the population had never been married, 41.2% were married, 5.3% were widowed, and 4.7% were either divorced or legally separated. It also shows that males were more likely than females to have been never married or be married while females were more likely than males to have been widowed or be divorced/legally separated.

Percentage Distribution of the Population by Marital Status and sex
(14 Years and over) 2011

Marital Status	Total	Male	Female
Total	1067020	532380	534640
Never Married	48.9	51.8	46.0
Married	41.2	41.4	40.9
Widowed	5.3	2.4	8.0
Divorced and Legally Separated	4.7	4.3	5.1

Note: 'Not Stated' was re-distributed among marital status categories

Singulate Mean Age at First Marriage (SMAM)

The singulate mean age at first marriage (SMAM) is an indicator of the mean age at first marriage among those who marry by some pre-defined age limit. This was estimated to be 29.2 years and 31.8 years for females and males respectively in 2011, up from 28.1 years for females and 31.4 years for males in 2000, thus representing a marginal increase. This method assumes that no first marriage occurs after age 50 or before age 15. (Refer to Data Table 15)

4. FERTILITY

The cohort fertility rate measures the number of children born alive to specific real cohorts of women by the end of their childbearing period. For the cohort of women aged 45-49 years at the time of the 2011 Population and Housing Census, the cohort fertility rate was estimated to be 2.5 live born children per woman on average. These women would have been born in the early to mid-1960s. Table 4.1 permits a comparison of the completed fertility levels of such women relative to those who would have been at the end of their childbearing period at the time of the 1990 and 2000 Population and Housing Censuses. The latter set of women would have been born in the early to mid-1940s and early to mid-1950s respectively and exhibit cohort fertility rates indicative of a steady decline in fertility from 4.1 live born children per woman for those on the verge of completing their childbearing lifetime in 1990 to 3.1 and 2.5 for those completing their childbearing lifetime in 2000 and 2011 respectively.

Table 4.1:
Selected Fertility Rates, 2011, 2000 and 1990

	2011	2000	1990
Cohort Fertility Rate	2.5	3.1	4.1
Proportion who remained childless	12.8	10.0	8.3

Table 4.1 shows the Index of Childlessness which measures the proportion of women who remained childless at the end of their childbearing period. Between 1990 and 2011, the prevalence of childlessness increased considerably from 8.3% to 12.8% among women attaining ages consistent with the termination of their childbearing lifetime. In spite of an increasingly larger female cohort aged 45-49 years, a smaller proportion of these women had children with the passage of successive intercensal periods.

5. HOUSEHOLDS AND THEIR CHARACTERISTICS

Household Stock and Intercensal Growth

For statistical purposes, a household has a special meaning. It is defined as a group of persons who usually eat together and share common living arrangements. The 2011 census revealed that 1,322,546 persons lived in 401,382 private households as compared to the 2000 census which showed that 1,250,652 persons lived in 343,180 private households. The remaining 5,473 persons in the total population lived in institutions or were street dwellers. The total number of households increased 17% over the intercensal period.

All the municipalities showed increases in the number of households with the exception of the City of Port of Spain and the City of San Fernando. The increases were most evident in the Borough of Chaguanas, Sangre Grande and Tobago. This is a reversal of earlier public housing programmes that predominantly provided homes in the major urban areas. The data clearly show a more dispersed pattern of housing allocations, whether public or private. Table 5.1 below shows the annual rate of growth in both population and households by municipality. It indicates that the rate of growth in households has outpaced the rate of growth in population since the 2000 census, resulting in a decline in the size of an average household.

Table 5.1 shows intercensal growth in household stock between the censuses of 2000 and 2011. Specifically, the number of households in Trinidad increased by 16.2% while the number in Tobago increased by 32.6%, being more than twice the number that was observed for Trinidad.

Household Size and Intercensal Change

Table 5.1 shows that in Trinidad and Tobago, there was an average of 3.3 persons in each household at the time of the 2011 census, down from 3.6 in 2000. While the average size declined from 3.7 to 3.3 in Trinidad, the growth of single-person households drove the decline in household size in Tobago to 3.0 in 2011, from 3.5 in 2000.

Within the regions of Trinidad and Tobago, average household sizes ranged between 2.9 and 3.5. Princes Town, Mayaro/Rio Claro and Couva/Tabaquite/Talparo had the largest average household sizes at 3.5, 3.4 and 3.4 respectively, while the smallest average household sizes were observed in the City of Port of Spain (2.9) and the Borough of Point Fortin (3.0). Chart 5.1 shows that the average size of households in rural municipalities still tended to be higher than that of households in more urbanized municipalities.

Average Household Size in Trinidad and Tobago by Municipality 2011 & 2000

There are many factors that contribute to the determination of household size. The industrialization of Trinidad and Tobago has brought with it the first-world phenomenon of growth in the number of persons who live alone. Other contributing factors are the declining fertility rates and the increased number of divorces since 2000. Based on the 2011 census, the number of single-person households has risen to 76,698 from 46,259 in 2000, (an increase of 68%). The number of single-person households represented 19% of all households in Trinidad and Tobago in 2011.

TOTAL	401384	76698	19%	100%

As seen in Table 5.2 above, single-person households comprised 28% of all households in the City of Port of Spain. It can be observed in Chart 5.2 that the largest number of single-person households was found in Tunapuna/Piarco. Tunapuna/Piarco also has the tallest bar which indicates it has the largest number of households in Trinidad and Tobago. The Borough of Point Fortin, on the other hand, has the lowest bar suggesting that it has the lowest number of households. The colour coding reveals the disaggregation by household size for each municipality. Table 12 in the Data Tables Section of this report provides additional data on the distribution of all households by municipality. In Princes Town, just 16 % of all households were single-person as compared to one quarter having five or more persons. The reverse was true of the Borough of Point Fortin, where 5+ person households accounted for one fifth of all households and single person households constituting just 26%.

Number of Households by Size, 2011: Municipalities in Trinidad and Tobago

With respect to single-person households, men accounted for the majority, some 65% of all persons living alone. However, women outnumbered men among persons 65 years or older living alone. The predominance of men over women among persons living alone is a phenomenon that is evident across all municipalities as seen in Chart 5.3. In Sangre Grande and Mayaro/Rio Claro, 7 out of every 10 single-person households were occupied by a male.

Single-Person Households by Sex of Occupant and Municipality, 2011

Among single-person households, Table 5.3 and Chart 5.4 indicate that larger numbers of occupants were 45-64 years than any of the other age groups – 15-24 years, 25-44 years or 65 years or older; this being the case irrespective of sex. Among persons 45-64 years living alone, the largest number consisted of persons 50-54 years. The older working population, the 45-64 year age group, represented 41% of the single-person households whilst the younger working population, the 25-44 year age group, accounted for 30% of single-person households.

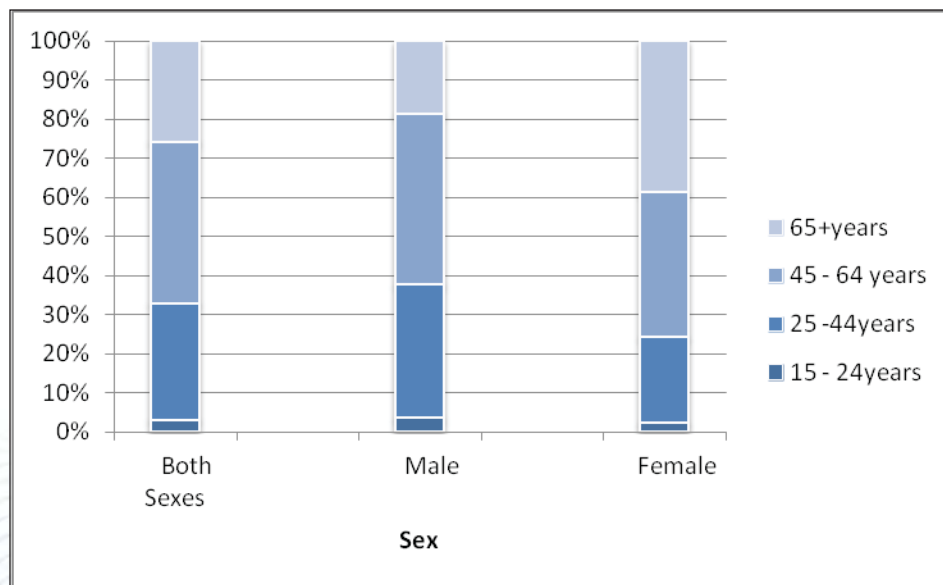

Persons 15-24 years living alone constituted only 3% of the total number of single-person households, while the number of males living alone was 1.8 times the number of females living alone. For persons living alone, the preponderance of males over females persisted among those aged 15-24 years, 25-44 years and 45-64 years. However, the male predominance was reduced somewhat in the 45-64 age group and females were more predominant than males among persons 65 years or older living alone.

6. HOUSEHOLD HEADSHIP

With respect to the sex of household heads, Table 6.1 shows headship status for all households in Trinidad and Tobago and all municipalities based on the 2011 census. Even though twice as many household heads were men, the proportion of households headed by females was substantial, at 33%. Table 6.1 below also shows the prevalence of male-headed and female-headed households for each municipality. In the City of Port of Spain, San Juan/Laventille, the City of San Fernando and in Diego Martin, there was a greater prevalence of female-headed households than in the other municipalities, notably Penal/Debe, Mayaro/Rio Claro and Couva/Tabaquite/Talparo, where male-headed households tended to be markedly more predominant. This phenomenon may be more of an urban feature since the prevalence of female-headed households in the City of Port of Spain was nearly twice that of Penal/Debe.

Table 11 in the Data Tables Section of this report, gives the breakdown of heads of households by age group. In Trinidad and Tobago, 2 out of every 3 households are headed by a male. Table 6.2 indicates that in all the age groups from 20-24 years to 55-59 years, the ratio of male-headed to female-headed households was above the national average. Noteworthy is the case of the 80 years or older group, which is the only instance of female-headed households outnumbering male-headed households. Most of the males heading households were between the ages of 45-49 years while the majority of female heads were 50-54 years.

Table 6.3 takes a look at the households that responded to current economic activity status. It indicates that 63% of household heads were engaged in paid employment, while 37% were not working.

The table below demonstrates that in households with 4 persons, 73% of the heads were engaged in paid employment whereas for single person households, 56% of respondents were economically active. However, in the case of single-person households in which the occupants were 65 years or older, just 36% of such occupants were not economically active.

No sex was given for 289 emigrants. Therefore male and female do not sum to total emigrants. The residual would be the “Not Stated” figure. See table 1.8 in data highlights for a disaggregation of this “Not Stated” figure.

nMx = Age-specific central death rate.
nax = Average person-years lived by those who die between ages x and x+n.
nqx = Probability of dying between exact ages x and x+n (age-specific mortality rate).
lx = Number of survivors at age x.
ndx = Number of deaths occurring between ages x and x+n.
nLx = Number of person-years lived between ages x and x+n.
5Px = Survival ratio for persons aged x to x+5 surviving 5 years to ages x+5 to x+10 = 5Lx+5/5Lx (first 5Px = 5L0/510, second 5Px= 5L5/5L0, last 5Px = Tx+5/Tx).
Tx = Number of person-years lived after age x. ex = Life expectancy at age x.

nMx = Age-specific central death rate.

nax = Average person-years lived by those who die between ages x and x+n.

nqx = Probability of dying between exact ages x and x+n (age-specific mortality rate).

lx = Number of survivors at age x.

ndx = Number of deaths occurring between ages x and x+n.

nLx = Number of person-years lived between ages x and x+n.

5Px = Survival ratio for persons aged x to x+5 surviving 5 years to ages x+5 to x+10 = 5Lx+5/5Lx (first 5Px = 5L0/5I0, second 5Px = 5L5/5L0, last 5Px = Tx+5/Tx).

Tx = Number of person-years lived after age x.

ex = Life expectancy at age x.
