Q10. [Bios were shown in random order] Dan Osborn, 48, is a Navy man, mechanic, an independent, union leader, and a husband and father. After serving in the Navy and Nebraska National Guard, he went to work at the Kellogg’s plant in Omaha as an industrial mechanic. After rising to the presidency of his union, BCTGM 50G, Dan led the successful 2021 Kellogg’s strike in Omaha, preserving hundreds of middle class jobs for the next generation of workers. Dan has made his living fixing things, and he believes there’s nothing that needs fixing more than the US Senate. He believes we all have more in common with each other than we have with the partisans who run Washington. He will bring Nebraskans together around a common-sense platform to protect small businesses, family farms and ranches, and middle-class jobs – before they become a thing of the past.

As a rural Nebraska cattle rancher and a mother of three, Deb Fischer, 72, is as Nebraskan as they come. After a 35-year career in agriculture, education, and public service, Deb was elected in 2012 as the first woman to represent Nebraska for a full-term in the U.S. Senate. She has worked hard to take care of both rural and urban communities, strengthen our military, and invest in public infrastructure for all Nebraskans. As a member of the Senate Armed Service Committee, Deb ensures that our men and women in uniform have the resources they need to fulfill their missions around the world. As a member of the Agriculture Committee, she is crafting the next Farm Bill to give Nebraskans a voice and ensure crop insurance is protected.

Q11. “Deb Fischer has stood right by the side of Alabama Senator Tommy Tuberville as he has blocked the promotions of hundreds of military leaders since February in protest of Pentagon abortion policy. This misguided activism undermines our military and puts our national security at risk at a critical time. We need a Senator who supports our military, not one who undermines its leadership.” Is this argument:

29% Very convincing
30 Somewhat convincing
24 Not very convincing
17 Not at all convincing

Q12. “When she first ran for Senate 12 years ago, Deb Fischer pledged that she would only serve for two terms. But now she’s breaking her promise and running for a third term. The problem in Washington, DC is wealthy career politicians who are out of touch with the needs of working people. Nebraska should be part of electing a new generation of leaders who understand the challenges we face.” Is this argument:

36% Very convincing
34 Somewhat convincing
20 Not very convincing
10 Not at all convincing

Q13. “Dan Osborn is the choice of Nebraska Democrats. He’s running for one reason: to keep Republicans from controlling the Senate so that Democrats can keep bankrupting our country. We shouldn’t be fooled – Deb Fischer is the only choice for Nebraskans who want to keep Democrats out of power.” Is this argument:

19% Very convincing
25 Somewhat convincing
26 Not very convincing
30 Not at all convincing

Q14. “Dan Osborn is a true independent who has never affiliated with or donated to either party. The US Senate gets nothing done because it’s full of politicians who follow orders from Charles Schumer or Mitch McConnell. Electing Dan can be a swing vote, ensuring that the nation’s policy is not being dictated by either Mitch McConnell or Charles Schumer.” Is this argument:

21% Very convincing
44 Somewhat convincing
24 Not very convincing
11 Not at all convincing

Q15. “Dan Osborn will fight every day for small businesses, workers, and farmers. He wants to cut taxes for small businesses and the middle class, protect middle-class jobs and wages, improve worker safety, and create a level playing field for family farms and ranches, through a Right to Repair law and fixing federal crop insurance subsidies that unfairly favor large operators.” Is this argument:

27% Very convincing
48 Somewhat convincing
16 Not very convincing
9 Not at all convincing

Q16. “Dan Osborn will prove that we don’t have to keep re-electing Republicans who aren’t making Nebraska any better. Dan is an independent who can appeal to reasonable voters in both parties, as well as those who don’t like either party. We finally have a strong, electable alternative and Nebraskans of all stripes should unite behind him.” Is this argument:

24% Very convincing
40 Somewhat convincing
22 Not very convincing
13 Not at all convincing

Q17. “For 12 years, Deb Fischer has championed the values of Nebraska families, farmers, and workers, and fought to keep spending down and keep our country on the right track. She’s been there for us, and now we need to be there for her. She’s earned a third term.” Is this argument:

11% Very convincing
28 Somewhat convincing
29 Not very convincing
32 Not at all convincing

Q18. “Dan Osborn opposes efforts to legislate how private citizens conduct themselves. While he respects the deep moral convictions of his fellow Nebraskans, he opposes using the federal government to enforce those convictions on others. The federal government should not ban guns, abortions or contraceptives, or the ability for people to live their private lives how they choose.” Is this argument:

- 28% Very convincing
- 45 Somewhat convincing
- 17 Not very convincing
- 11 Not at all convincing

Q19. “Deb Fischer is an extremist on abortion, who thinks it should be illegal to get an abortion even in cases of rape or incest. If she is part of the majority next year, that could become the law of the land. We can’t let someone as extreme as her set abortion policy for the whole country.” Is this argument:

- 34% Very convincing
- 23 Somewhat convincing
- 21 Not very convincing
- 22 Not at all convincing

Q20. One last time, if the 2024 election for United States Senate were held today and the candidates were the following, who would you vote for?
