The “crown jewel” of Pensacola Christian College is named in honor of the King of Kings, Jesus Christ. He is center stage at PCC. Crowne Centre is a testimony to God’s goodness and blessing.

The College and Campus Church outgrew the Dale Horton Auditorium several years ago. Two Sunday morning services worked well, but both the Sunday evening and Wednesday services increased to overflow crowds of over 1,500 and College chapel overflow grew to over 1,000.

From the President

Dr. Arlin Horton

Some students come to us with much Christian “polish”; others come from unbelieving, secular backgrounds, and not much “polish.” Recently, a student wrote me telling how he came to PCC and to encourage us to keep on training students for the Lord. I quote from his letter:

“A home school mom who uses the A Beka curriculum told me about a publishing company that was run by a college ministry called PCC. In a few days, she brought me the catalog. As soon as I opened it, I knew this was where God wanted me to attend college! I prayed for my father’s approval for two weeks straight, and God changed his ‘no’ to a ‘yes.’ I was thrilled! . . .

“Since I have come to PCC, I have learned so much! I cannot believe how quickly the time is going by!

“Academically, I have learned to do my best. I have learned that there is actually a beginning of time (Creation), that God made all of the trees, animals, and human beings separately and for a purpose. This may sound trivial, but it has been a breakthrough for me—a stark contrast from what I was taught in public school! I have learned that God is the Creator of all the subjects I study!

“Socially, I have learned to mature in being the correct, godly gentleman that God wants me to be. Also, He has shown me how to care for, love, and regard others higher than myself.

“Spiritually, I have learned to be patient, joyful, discerning, tolerant, have victory over sin, and most of all submission to God and His ordained authority. And time-management has been instilled in me.

“I have also had many struggles. My parents often mock me for my faith in Christ and attending such a ‘narrow-minded school.’ . . .”

As this young man stays close to the Lord, God will help him in his struggles and will make him a better witness for Christ. I’m glad that God takes the surrendered raw materials of His children to make beautiful jewels for His crown. What a joy to train young people for God’s glory.

Where Shall I Work Today?

“Father, where shall I work today?”
And my love flowed warm and free,
Then He pointed me toward a tiny spot
And said, “tend that for me.”

I answered quickly, “Oh, no, not that!
Why no one would ever see,
No matter how well my work was done,
In that little place for Thee.”

And the word He spoke, it was not stern,
He answered me tenderly:
“Ah, little one, search that heart of thine;
Art thou working for them or Me?”

Nazareth was a little place,
And so was Galilee.”

Thinking about Law School?

PCC grads talk about their training

Thousands apply to law schools each year and PCC graduates have an excellent track record for acceptance.

Scott Bergthold ('94) graduated 3rd out of 102 students at Regent

Scott Bergthold

University School of Law. He said, "PCC's prelaw program is an excellent balance in speech, English, and history." In law school, he was recognized for the best brief out of 130 entries in moot court competition and was inducted into Phi Delta Phi, an international legal fraternity for professional ethics. He has his own law practice in Scottsdale, Ariz.

Esther Slater ('00) attends Notre Dame Law School. She serves on the Notre Dame Law Review, has been appointed as a Blackstone Fellow, and has served on the leadership committee for the Blackstone Fellowship Program, a prestigious program for conservative Christian lawyers. She says, "The training I received at PCC has contributed in large part to my success in law school."

Marianna (Buresh) McKnight ('90) graduated 6th out of 192 students at the University of Tulsa College of Law in Tulsa, Oklahoma. She practices Social Security Disability law for Troutman & Troutman in Tulsa. She says, "Since writing skills are vital in my career, I am especially thankful for the solid foundation in grammar and composition that was provided in the various English courses at PCC."

Douglas Watson ('94) graduated in the top half of his class from the Dickinson School of Law of Pennsylvania State University in 1997. He says, "I felt well prepared for law school. PCC's English and grammar classes are excellent." He specializes in estate planning, elder law, and real estate with Lewis and Ristvey law firm of Hermitage, Penn.

Teddi Lynn (Burger) Ward ('87) says, "My undergraduate degree was excellent in law school. The focus on English, particularly the writing courses, was an immense help since most law school exams are written essays." She practices family law for Morris Laing in Wichita, Kansas. Gov. Bill Graves appointed her to the Board of Indigents Defense Service that oversees public defenders offices for the state. She also serves on the Family Practice and Ethics Committees of the Wichita Bar Association.

Warren Bennett ('98) was moot court board vice chairman and an honor court associate justice at Mississippi College School of Law. He was also awarded West's Outstanding Achievement Award for academic performance at law school graduation. Warren says, "My prelaw degree was an invaluable tool in achieving success at law school." He presently works for the Christian Law Association in Seminole, Fla.

Dr. Adams counsels Jeremy Moseley on law school.

PCC students benefit greatly from faculty members who are lawyers, such as Dr. Jeff Adams, a member of the Florida Bar. He says, "I'm totally convinced that if a student graduates from PCC, he can make it in law school."

Jeremy Moseley, a May, 2002 graduate also says, "Contact with faculty members who have been to law school is a definite advantage." Jeremy has been accepted by five prestigious law schools; he chose Notre Dame.

If you feel the legal profession is God's calling for your life, perhaps PCC is your place to prepare. Our friendly enrollment advisors are ready to answer your questions.

30 YEARS of Broadcasting

WPCS 30 yrs. Rejoice Radio 6 yrs.

Bob Bowman, chief engineer, installed the first equipment in 1971.

Donna Wiggins has served at WPCS since 1995

Dr. Arlin Horton has been the visionary behind WPCS and Rejoice Radio.

Greg Moses, General Manager since 1996

Tonita Ohman, Correspondence Officer since 1984

WPCS-fm (89.5), the flagship of the Rejoice Broadcast Network, started with only a dream; in 1969, Dr. Horton applied for FCC approval to operate an educational Christian radio station. Later, July 22, 1971, WPCS was on the air locally for 17 hours a day, broadcasting from an unused elementary classroom.

Great advances took place in the 1980s: broadcasting 24 hours, satellite capability, a new tower with increased coverage, and the move into new studios at the Communicative Arts Center on the PCC campus.

The station has remained fully automated, has never carried commercial messages, and is supported by gifts from listeners. Greg Moses, PCC graduate, began working in WPCS in 1982 and became operations manager in 1994. In 1996, he assumed the responsibilities of general manager.

That same year the Rejoice Broadcast Network first aired on a translator station in Eugene, Oregon. Today, RBN reaches throughout the upper Gulf Coast, the many areas of the country through 61 translator stations, and around the world on the Internet at www.rejoice.org. Listeners write from New Zealand, Saipan, Korea, Germany, Canada, Scotland, Brazil, and Nigeria about the spiritual encouragement and blessings that Rejoice Radio brings to them. Missionaries also report about the great inspiration they receive from RBN.

Craig Mattson, since 1994 delights listeners with a consistent level of information and inspiration interspersed between the Rejoice music.

His features include:

- Honey for the Soul,*
- Broadening Horizons,*
- Rejoice Bookshelf,*
- Celebration Series,*
- etc.*

20 YEARS of Telecasting Rejoice IN THE LORD

1982

First televised in the St. John Chapel with Pastor Bob Taylor

2002

Dr. Jim Schettler's enthusiastic messages bless and challenge viewers across the nation and around the world via Internet.

PCC has been involved in both radio and television ministries for many years. Rejoice in the Lord telecast is videotaped during the Campus Church services.

The television outreach to the Pensacola area began in March 1982. One year later, it expanded to 24 stations and took the name Rejoice in the Lord. In 1988, Jim Schettler became the pastor. The telecast continues to be listener supported, and is carried on 35 stations at major markets across the country that include such cities as Atlanta, Dallas, Phoenix, Seattle, and Boston. It is also carried on Satellite and the Internet.

The Campus Church's move to Crowne Centre was a major television challenge, but the camera volunteers quickly learned to work with the new cameras, a much larger stage, and a new sound system. It is a great encouragement when many viewers write and share the blessings the telecast brings to them.

Gloria Jacobs enjoys videotaping the program.

Crowne Centre Mission Conference Feb. 2002

More than 190 PCC alumni serve as missionaries in over 60 countries.

International students in native dress

A blaze with colorful flags, the stirring Parade of Nations began the Mission Conference in Crowne Centre. Over 380 international students from over 60 countries (many in native dress) marched down the aisles and filled the choir loft. They brought to the conference a vivid reminder of the nations of the world and the need to reach the many that are lost without Christ.

The theme "Hold Forth the Light" resounded through the conference. Thirteen mission boards displayed their ministries in the Atrium. Missionary speakers, including PCC graduates, reminded the Campus Church that God's harvest fields need laborers; many responded to that call.

Dr. James Ray
President of BIMl

"To give light to them that sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the way of peace."

Luke 1:79

Dr. Darrell Hayes,
of Global Fundamental Baptist Missions, presents his ministry.
