

MAY SPECIALS:

Beat Latino: Dia de la Madre

Friday, May 6 at 3pm

Sunday, May 8 at 10pm

Like everything else that's important in Latin and Latino culture, mothers have a special niche in the music. There are songs about a mother's special love, leaving Mom to go elsewhere, returning to Mom and one's hometown, following Mom's advice, and the consequences of not following it! So, join us in celebrating Mother's Day Latin and Latino style!

House of Blues Radio Hour Mother's Day Special

Saturday, May 7 at 11pm

Sunday, May 8 at 1pm

The House of Blues Radio Hour is a syndicated program hosted by Elwood Blues (a.k.a. Dan Aykroyd). In this special, Elwood sits down with three contemporary Blues mamas; actress/singer Sally Kellerman, acoustic master Rory

Block, and Mississippi stalwart Edén Brent to talk about their recent projects.

The Avant-Garde Plays the Great American Songbook

Friday, May 27 at 10pm

Tuesday, May 31 at 3pm

The jazz pioneers of the 1960s – Ornette Coleman, John Coltrane, and others – came up in the entertainment world of the 1940s and 50s, when what we know now as the Great American Songbook was taking hold in the musical canon. Although we think of these musicians as groundbreaking innovators who abandoned traditional song form, they all knew it, respected it, and in many cases genuinely liked it. In this program we'll hear Cole Porter, Harold Arlen, Jerome Kern, and Arthur Schwartz as interpreted by the above players and more.

Jazz Time Spotlight: Miles Davis

Friday, May 20 at 10pm

Tuesday, May 24 at 3pm

Miles Dewey Davis III (5/26/26 - 9/28/91) was a jazz icon and one of the most influential musicians of the 20th century. Many great jazz musicians known today rose to prominence as members of Davis' ensembles, including saxophonists Gerry Mulligan, John Coltrane, Cannonball

Adderley, and many, many more. His album Kind of Blue, released in 1959, is the greatest selling jazz album in history. This special, hosted by Howard Burchette, explores the history and music of a jazz legend.

Thank You for All You Do

On Thursday April 14, 2011 Congress passed the final FY11 federal funding bill including $38 billion in cuts throughout the budget. As we have said all along, public broadcasting is prepared to share in the sacrifice of deficit reduction. Over the last year, the Corporation for Public Broadcasting has sustained numerous funding cuts including: the elimination of Ready To Teach ($10 million) and the Public Telecommunications Facilities Program ($20 million), as well as an additional $50 million less than it received in the FY 2010 bill from the fiscal stabilization and public radio interconnect programs.

Thanks to you and other public broadcasting supporters across the U.S who sent 501,885 emails alone, plus numerous letters and phone calls to Congressional members, in eight weeks federal funding for public broadcasting went from total elimination of federal funding (as passed by the U.S. House on 02/19) to the preservation of 93% of its appropriations including a slight increase to the Corporation for Public Broadcasting in 2013.

We owe our thanks to you, our listeners, who strongly support what we do. We live in challenging times, and it's encouraging to know that when our core services are held up for inspection the public finds high value in keeping us around. Not only are you willing to let Congress know how you feel, you continue to pledge your own finances to support our WNMU TV and Public Radio 90 services.

Our work is nowhere close to done! The sprint to the passage of an FY11 Continuing Resolution (CR) will be replaced by a marathon to the FY12 federal budget. There will be renewed calls in Congress to eliminate public broadcasting funding in the coming months and we appreciate all our listeners who stand up again and again in support of public broadcasting.

Thanks again for all you do for your public radio station, WNMU, Public Radio 90.

Eric Smith, WNMU General Manager

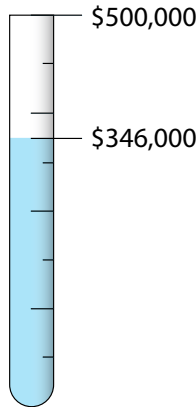

Summerfest On-Air Pledge Drive Set for May 11-20

We're heading into the home stretch of our fundraising year here at Public Radio 90, which ends June 30th.

We've already received nearly $346,000 in listener contributions which means we're just $154,000 shy of reaching the half-million dollars needed to cover expenses and keep Public Radio 90 operational for another year.

Yes, it's a challenging goal, but I'm confident that with your help we can do it! Your tremendous support, both emotional and financial gives us the confidence to face challenges head-on, even during one of the toughest economies that Michigan and our nation has seen in years.

As a current member, you already understand that your continued financial commitment to Public Radio 90 not only keeps us on the air, it provides us with the resources to air top-quality news and information programs from NPR and other program distributors, and music and entertainment programs you can't find anywhere else. Your annual contributions also allow us to produce and air local programming unique to our listening area.

While there are a few hundred small stations across the country just like WNMU, many do not have the resources to air both local and nationally produced programming. Your annual contributions to WNMU continue to make this kind of programming available for all our listeners.

Our final drive of the fundraising year is scheduled for May 11-20 and we need your help convincing other Public Radio 90 listeners that their financial support is vital if we want to be able to continue to afford our current program schedule or add any new programming.

We know our listeners have faced their share of belt-tightening and downsizing of their own family incomes yet you continue to financially support the organizations and activities that are important to you and your way of life. We're thankful that Public Radio 90 is one of those organizations.

Ultimately, our goal is to provide you with the best public radio listening experience possible. With your help, we can do just that. We appreciate any additional contribution you can make at this time to help us reach the goal and pay for the programs that bring you so much enjoyment. You're helping to ensure a future of outstanding radio for you and thousands of listeners across our Upper Great Lakes region.

Warmest Regards,

Evelyn Massaro, Station Manager

Public Radio 90 Making Changes to Save $$

Until we have a better idea of what our funding will be for the coming year, Public Radio 90 is looking for as many ways to economize and save money as possible and still maintain our current broadcasting services.

It's been three months since we suspended printing and mailing our monthly Preview program guide, making it exclusively available on our WNUMUFM.ORG web site. Listeners can receive email notification each month when the next issue of Preview is published and can easily download and print some or all of the pages. This move will save WNMU more than $12,000 a year in printing and postage costs.

Because of the slow economy we have had to put plans for our news/info and classical music digital side channels on hold. While a handful of Public Radio 90 listeners currently listen on a digital HD radio receiver, there is no additional side channel programming for them to enjoy at this time. So, we have decided to temporarily shut off the digital HD portion of our transmitter and broadcast using analog transmission only.

This will save Public Radio 90 about $1,200 per month in electrical costs and will extend the life of our broadcast tubes by nearly 35%. Listeners currently using digital HD receivers will still be able to hear Public Radio 90 via the analog signal. Once we launch our news/info and classical music channels we will put the digital HD signal back on the air.

Watercolor artist Bill Hamilton has created a new print for our 2011 Summerfest pledge drive. Keweenaw Coast portrays a sandy beach along a rocky coastline of the Keweenaw Peninsula, with autumn colors accenting a stormy Lake Superior. For a pledge of $180, this thank-you gift can be yours. (FMV $40)

Translator Plans for Stephenson Moving Forward

The good news is Public Radio 90 hopes to have the Stephenson translator back on the air by December on a new frequency at 97.9 FM. The WNMU translator at 107.3 has been shut off since July 2009 due to interference with a new full power radio station in the area. WNMU's translators are considered booster antennas and are not protected by law like our primary signal at 90.1 FM in Marquette. We're allowed to keep them on the air as long as they do not interfere with the signal of any other protected frequency. The Federal Communications Commission is working with Public Radio 90 to move our Stephenson frequency to 97.9 where it will not interfere with any other stations.

The bad news is after three years of waiting Public Radio 90 has received word from the FCC that we were not the successful applicants for the protected frequencies in Marquette, Houghton and Iron Mountain.

We will continue to work on finding solutions to the reception problems that plague our listening area so that everyone who wants to can enjoy listening to WNMU, Public Radio 90.

Does Your Pledge Qualify for a Matching Gift?

Many businesses set aside special funds each year to match contributions their employees make to qualified non-profit organizations. NMU as well as WNMU-FM are qualified organizations. Most businesses match contributions $1 for $1 but match amounts can vary.

To find out more about Matching Gifts and to see if your employer matches employee contributions visit WNUMUFM.ORG and click on Matching Gifts under the PLEDGE NOW button. Matching Gifts increase the impact of your personal support and mean more resources for the Public Radio 90 programming you enjoy.

If you own a business and would like to match your employee's contributions to Public Radio 90, contact Evelyn Massaro at 800-227-9668.

As the the Metropolitan Opera season winds to an end with their performance of Wagner’s Die Walkure, on Saturday, May 14 from Noon to 5:30pm, the opera season continues on Public Radio 90 with the Bucksbaum Family Lyric Opera Broadcasts presenting the Lyric Opera of Chicago Saturdays at 1pm beginning May 21.

Operas include Verdi’s Macbeth (begins at 1:30pm), Bizet’s Carmen, Britten’s A Midsummer Night’s Dream, Verdi’s A Masked Ball, Gilbert and Sullivan’s The Mikado, Puccini’s The Girl of the Golden West, Wagner’s Lobengrin, and Handel’s Hercules.

Local support for the Lyric Opera of Chicago is provided by Dr. Virginia Feleppa of Iron Mountain in support of the Pine Mountain Music Festival.

Evening of Finnish Musicians Benefits the Pine Mountain Music Festival

To celebrate the upcoming opera “Rockland” and its entire 2011 season, the Pine Mountain Music Festival is hosting “An Evening of Finnish Musicians” benefit reception and concert on May 12 at 7:00pm in the Atrium of the Peninsula Medical Center at 1414 West Fair St. in Marquette.

“An Evening of Finnish Musicians” will feature some of Marquette County’s finest musicians of Finnish heritage playing music in many different styles and traditions.

The evening will begin with music by Dan Truckey to accompany the food and beverages. At 7:30 the Lakeview Elementary School choir will perform a song from the Rockland Opera. They will be followed by WNMU-FM’s own Stan Wright, singing traditional Finnish folk songs. Randy Seppala, master of the rhythm bones, will give a demonstration of his art, followed by local legend Jerry Kippola, who will dazzle the audience with his guitar skills. Local singer-songwriter, Courtney Clish, will perform traditional Finnish tunes and her own compositions, followed by Tanya Stanaway singing her special blend of traditional songs accompanied by guitar and accordion. The New Paris Piano Trio (featuring Lynn Lanczy on piano, Deborah Carlson on violin and Peter Paris on cello) will perform a composition by Jukka Linkola, composer of “Rockland.” The evening will conclude with performances by Marquette’s most legendary Finnish folk musicians, Wil Kilpela and Les Ross, Sr., who will perform several traditional songs from Finland and the Upper Peninsula. In addition to the entertainment, there will be hors d’oeuvres, sweets, wine and other beverages provided.

Proceeds from this event will go towards the Pine Mountain Music Festival’s 2011 season, which will feature the original opera “Rockland.” Tickets for the event are $50 and reservations can be made in advance at City of Marquette Arts and Culture Center or by email nnason@mqctcy.org. A small number of tickets will also be available at the door. For more information on Pine Mountain and “Rockland,” please visit, www.pmmf.org. For more information on this event call (906) 228-0472 or email nnason@mqctcy.org.

On May 19, Dick Estell will begin reading The Last Boy by Jane Leavy, published in 2010 by Harper Collins, N.Y.

The Last Boy is the biography of Mickey Mantle. Author Jane Leavy reveals the man behind the hero worship and the coast-to-coast smile who lived through a wrenching childhood, crippling injuries, and a genetic predisposition to alcoholism.

In this biography, the author chronicles her search to find out more about the person he was and, given what she discovers, to explain his mystifying hold on a generation of baseball fans who were seduced by that lopsided, gap-toothed grin.

Drawing on more than five hundred interviews with friends and family, teammates, and opponents, she delivers the definitive account of Mantle's life, mining the mythology of The Mick for the true story of a luminous and illustrious talent with an achingly damaged soul ...the story of a boy who would never grow up.

Stream Public Radio 90 on Your iOS Device

Get the Public Radio Player from PRX.

The Public Radio Player is an application from Public Radio Exchange (PRX) that offers streaming audio from public radio stations on your iPhone, iPad or iPod Touch mobile device. The Public Radio Player currently offers more than 500 station streams including Public Radio 90, and it's free and available for download in the iTunes App Store.

With PRX's Public Radio Player, listeners can access the Public Radio 90 live stream from almost anywhere, depending on their device and Internet access. After installing the player, here's how to find the Public Radio 90 WNMU-FM stream: click on the "Local" tab and the application will attempt to detect your location; search for WNMU in the "Search" section; or locate us by finding Michigan stations under the "State" tab. The player contains our program schedule so you can see what's coming up next, and the NMU Sports Stream is also available during games. For more information, take a look at the Public Radio Player F.A.Q. at publicradioplayer.org

Sustaining Membership

The easy way to support your favorite programs

As a Public Radio 90 Sustaining Member you help provide WNMU-FM with a stable source of income to support the programming you value. Sustaining Membership eliminates the cost of printing and mailing installment reminder notices and the cost of processing payments. Sustaining Members also help us decrease the amount of time needed for on-air fundraising with their continuing financial commitment.

Supporting Public Radio 90 as a Sustaining Member is easy:

1. You decide how much you want to contribute to Public Radio 90 and how often, monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, annually.
2. Complete and sign the Sustaining Membership authorization form, which can be found at WNMUFM.ORG under Sustaining Memberships in the Ways to Give tab and send it to Public Radio 90. Installments can be paid from your checking or savings account at your bank or credit union or you may use a major credit card.
3. Sit back and relax...

Your installments will be automatically deducted with a record of each transaction appearing on your monthly statement. AND best of all, your membership is automatically renewed each year on your membership anniversary date so you don't have to remember.

This year, 333 WNMU listeners committed to Sustaining Memberships providing more than $72,000 in program support. Thanks so much!
