BBC DEFENDS
JEREMY CLARKSON'S
'GAY CAR' COMMENT

THE BBC has once again come out to defend one of its big name presenters after Top Gear presenter Jeremy Clarkson described a car as being, "a bit gay, yes very ginger beer", which is cockney rhyming slang for queer.

Speaking on Gaydar Radio, a BBC spokesperson said, "The Top Gear team's irreverent sense of humour in their car reviews and exchanges with the studio audience is familiar to the programme's regular audience. The intention is to be cheeky and sometimes provocative, but not malicious."

Following Chris Moyle's recent comments, Stonewall is outraged that the BBC still has not apologised for what has happened. A Stonewall spokesperson told Gaydar Radio, "It seems that once again the BBC is pandering to this kind of prejudice and just because children use this language in the playground it doesn't give license to people like Jeremy Clarkson and Chris Moyles to use it when it causes so much offence to so many gay and lesbian people.

"I think an apology is due to be honest and we know from Stonewall's media monitoring that people let us know when things offend them. It's time the BBC took this in hand and really gave out direction to their presenters to not use offensive language in the same way that they wouldn't use racist or sexist language, then they shouldn't use homophobic language either".

QX hopes that Jeremy Clarkson's sense of humour extends to this fabulous photograph of him!

IRANIAN GAY ASYLUM PLEA

THE UK Lesbian & Gay Immigration Group (UKLGIG) has written to Liam Byrne, the Home Office Minister responsible for immigration, requesting the suspension of Iranian gay and lesbian asylum seekers being sent back to Iran whilst there are genuine concerns that those suspected of having homosexual relationships are at risk of persecution. The UKLGIG are also asking the minister to carry out a review of the Country Information Report on Iran, which Home Office caseworkers currently use to make decisions on asylum claims. The group believes that the report contains out of date information to the effect that there is no reason to fear persecution in Iran so long as same-sex relationships are carried out behind closed doors. This month marks the one year anniversary of the hanging of two gay teenagers in Iran who were believed to be lovers and the UKLGIG fear that these executions reflect the hardening of attitudes by the Iranian regime.

The female victim was attacked while walking with her girlfriend in Dean Street W1, near to the junction with Bateman Street. After making a homophobic remark, the man ran off along Bateman Street, into Frith Street and then towards Soho Square W1. ## SUPPORTERS ATTACKED AT LATVIA PRIDE

LATVIAN gays and lesbians, together with supporters from the UK, were attacked with eggs and bags of excrement on Saturday as they tried to celebrate Riga Pride.

The official parade was to have taken place at the weekend but was cancelled by the city's authorities over an alleged high-level security threat. Around fifty gay people and their supporters were blockaded inside a church where they had gathered for a morning service to show solidarity. Crowds of anti-gay demonstrators, including skinheads and Christian groups, gathered to protest outside the Reval Latvia Hotel, where a press conference and alternative event to the banned Pride march was being held.

Peter Tatchell of Outrage! who was inside the hotel said, "People attending the press conference had to be rushed out into waiting vans to be ferried away from the baying homophobic crowd. Despite previously requesting police protection, no police were present to protect the congregation. Dutch MEP Sophie In't Veld was one of the worshippers prevented from leaving the church by the homophobic vigilantes. The inaction of the Latvian police is scandalous."

The Pride march that was to have taken place at the weekend would have been the second gay pride parade staged in Latvia, which joined the EU in 2004.

WEST END BOYS

What's made Central London such a magnet for gay men for 300 years? HAYDON BRIDGE reveals all...

IF you're not doing anything one Sunday, you can take a tour of historic gay Soho courtesy of Kairos. But it's a bit of a cheat. Although today it's camper than Jordan's and Cheryl Tweedy's weddings put together, Soho has been gay for only twenty years. The surrounding vicinity, however, is another matter. British gay life as we know it began in London's West End 300 years ago, and virtually every significant event in British gay history ever since has occurred either here or in the City of London. Why? As we'll see, one thing leads to another.

Perhaps because London in the 18th century was not only a centre of culture, but also multi-cultural (foreigners came to London to escape religious persecution in the rest of Europe), a new concept of sexuality developed here: men began regularly to solicit sex with other men. Just to prove that there's nothing new under the sun, a Court report of 1706 tells us that Edward Barker was prosecuted for poking his cock through a hole in the wall of a cubicle of a "bog-house" in the Temple!

In 1709 journalist Ned Ward revealed that the back room of a brandy shop in Jernyn Street was used by men who enjoyed the company of "mollies" (female impersonators). Publicity must have helped establish London as the place to enjoy these new thrills. In 1726 the London Journal reported that there were twenty "molly houses" in operation, and that men were cruising for sex in Covent Garden, Lincoln's Inn, Moorfields and the south side of St James' Park.

A Christian group, the Society for the Reformation of Manners, placed agent provocateurs in the cruising areas and helped indict Margaret Clap, whose molly house, in Field

Lane, Holborn, was raided in 1726. (Although this area was swept away long ago, it's now occupied by the London School of Economics, which hosts the gay Latino club Exilio).

Prosecutions, and indeed executions, of gay men did little to deter others. In A View of Society and Manners in High and Low Life (1781), writer George Parker deplored the men "who signal to each other in St James' Park, and then retire to satisfy a passion too horrible for description." In 1791 there was a call for the park to be locked at night. The next big scandal came in 1810, when at least twenty men were arrested at the White Swan pub in Vere Street, off Oxford Street.

Then as now, some of those who appeared to be upholders of traditional values were hypocrites. In 1822 the Bishop of Clogher was found with a guardsman in the White Lion Tavern in the Haymarket. In 1825 John Muirhead, a member of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, was arrested for picking up a man in Sackville Street, off Piccadilly. From 1829 we know much more about London cruising patterns because the newly-formed Metropolitan Police recorded them. In the 1830s the police began raiding pubs that catered for men who brought back soldiers they'd met around Horse Guards Parade.

The main cruising areas in the City at this time were St Paul's, Bishopsgate and Finsbury Square. In the West End, Piccadilly and Covent Garden were still popular, but the fashionable Strand and Hyde Park were also mentioned. Probably more than 200 years old, Hyde Park's cruising ground is easily London's oldest. The Rose Garden on the south east corner remains busy today. Visit www.pinkuk.com and a recent posting reads, "I'm a Special for the Royal Parks Unit for the Metropolitan Police. We only visit the cruising area to deter the criminals. If you get robbed, please report it. We will be discreet and you will be treated sensitively."

Historian Matt Cook says that it was the construction of the railways, from 1837 to 1876, that brought about the next advance in gay society. Suddenly, there were a lot of strangers in London, men who were in the capital only to work or to have a night out. The possibilities for anonymous contact were increased, especially around railway stations. Later, servicemen on weekend leave poured off the trains and into the toilets. In the 1880s, the West End changed when slums were razed for the construction of Shaftesbury Avenue. Beautiful new theatres, which lined the avenue, attracted rich men, who in turn attracted prostitutes of both sexes. The Angel of Christian Charity, erected to honour the 7th Earl of Shaftesbury, was nicknamed Eros (the Greek god of love) because it was constantly surrounded by hookers who serviced the theatre crowds! Meanwhile toffs who preferred sex with their own class frequented the Turkish baths. One of the earliest gay haunts, opened in Jermyn Street in 1857, survived until the 1970s. Apparently Rock Hudson was a regular.

WILDE DAYS: PICCADILLY RENT AND A RIGHT ROYAL SCANDAL

BY the late 19th century, Piccadilly was notorious for its "renters". The area was known as "the Meat Rack." Cards were distributed here for a male brothel at 19 Cleveland Street. In 1890 a case was heard at the Old Bailey that potentially could have brought down the Government and implicated the Royal Family. It was alleged that in 1888, a prostitute named Jack Saul (subject of a ghosted 1881 autobiography, Sins of the Cities of the Plain) had solicited the Earl of Euston in Sackville Street and taken him to Cleveland Street, where they had sex. The jury chose to believe the Earl's denial, which was just as well for the establishment. Other clients at Cleveland Street included Lord Arthur Somerset, at least two MPs and possibly – although it has never been proven – Prince Albert Victor ("Eddy"), grandson of Queen Victoria. Rumours also circulated that another client was Oscar Wilde. In 1894 brothel keeper Alfred Taylor, who indisputably catered for Wilde, was arrested at 46 Fitzroy Street.

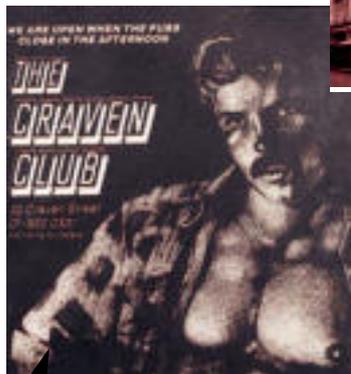

The trials of Oscar Wilde in 1895 were a foregone conclusion because the playwright had been so indiscreet. There was evidence that he had kissed a waiter at the Soho restaurant Kettner's and, worse still, had orgies with renters at the Savoy Hotel in the Strand. But Wilde's conviction seems to have had no effect on gay life in London, which continued as normal. Gay men had sex in the cubicles

► of the swimming baths at the Regent Street Polytechnic (now the University of Westminster). It's been suggested that the Poly's founder, Quintin Hogg, killed himself in 1903 because he was about to be outed. Possibly the first "gay bar" as we know the term was Madame Strindberg's Cave of the Golden Calf in Heddon Street, off Regent Street, which was open before World War I. (Gay performance artist Ryan Styles uses its name as the title of one of his shows).

20TH CENTURY SEX

FROM the beginning of the 20th century, the West End, with its wide variety of gay-friendly locations, became the heart of British gay life. Adventurous queers exposed themselves in French-style, cast iron urinals, erected in streets throughout the capital. In his 1973 autobiography, actor Emyln Williams recalls how an antique dealer described these pissoirs as "the comfort stations of the cross." The most famous, in Dansey Place, off Wardour Street, featured in "Horton vs Mead, 1913",

Then as now, some of those who appeared to be upholders of traditional values were hypocrites. It was alleged that in 1888, a prostitute named Jack Saul had solicited the Earl of Euston.

the leading case on male/male soliciting. It was less dangerous to pick up in the street because this didn't involve indecent exposure. In his 1968 autobiography, radio producer J.R. Ackerley, who prowled Marble Arch and Hyde Park Corner for guardsmen, remembers the prices during the 1930s: "A pound was the recognised tariff for the Foot Guards then; the Horse Guards cost rather more." But the risk was minimal in venues where most if not all the clientele was queer. For more than twenty years from 1916, cultivated gentlemen met on Sunday mornings in the Long Bar of the Trocadero on Piccadilly Circus. Also popular were Lyons' Corner Houses, particularly in Coventry Street and the Strand. In 1925, John Bull magazine exposed six notorious homosexual hang-outs including the Hotel de France in Villiers Street (world-famous since 1979 as the location of Heaven).

In the 1930s the West End's most famous gay pub was the Running Horse in Shepherd Market. The Caravan, in Endell Street, described itself as "London's greatest Bohemian rendezvous." But this was a euphemism for gay bar. A witness who found men dancing together here in 1934 described the club as "an absolute sink of iniquity." During the blackouts of World War II, London was, for many queers, the biggest and best dark room in gay history. During the day, cinemas were used. The best were the little news theatres, which never put up the lights during continuous screenings of newsreels and cartoons. One cinema in Victoria, England's first cinema The Biograph (originally the Bioscope), was known as the Biogrope until it was demolished in 1983.

After the War, the Salisbury, in St Martin's Lane, was the pre-eminent queer pub, so well-known that it was used as a location for the groundbreaking 1961 film Victim, starring Dirk Bogarde as a gay barrister who exposes the blackmailers that caused his ex-boyfriend's suicide. There were a few other discreet gay bars in the West End. But mainly for economic reasons (cheaper accommodation, for example), the gay scene had begun moving West, to Paddington, Notting Hill and finally Earls Court, where the twilight world of the homosexual was soon to burst into the light. But what of Soho?

SOHO: THE DIRTY SQUARE MILE

THE so-called Dirty Square Mile has had gay connections since about the 1890s. Wilde bought gay porn here, and Jack Saul lived in Old Compton Street. During the Bohemian 1920s and 30s, there were several gay-friendly cafés in Soho. Quentin Crisp writes about sitting for hours with his friends in the Black Cat in Old Compton Street. In 1941 the Arts and Battledress Club opened in Orange Street, behind the National Gallery. It later moved to Soho and was still going, as the A&B, in the 1970s. It's up there with the Salisbury and the still flourishing Quebec as one of the West End's most historically important gay bars. But in the post-War years, Soho was the place for old men who liked young girls. It was a homo no-go zone. In the 1950s, the Swiss Tavern in Old Compton Street was not entirely straight. But even as late as 1976, Gay News listed only two gay bars (the A&B and the Golden Lion) in the whole of Soho. Opened in 1981, Subway, in Leicester Square, the only attempt during the period to replicate in London a New York-style sex disco with dress code, became a hotbed of controversy when it was accused of helping to spread AIDS. Subsequently all gay discos were tarred with the same brush; Heaven was one of the few that managed to survive.

Why did Soho go gay? Thank the puritans of the Tory-run Westminster City Council. At the beginning of the 1980s Soho was overrun with unlicensed hetero sex traders. Many had turned ancient delicatessens and restaurants into porn shops and peep shows, and some powerful local residents were unhappy. Accordingly, the Government gave the Council powers to put the porn barons out of business. By 1987, Soho's sex industry had been reduced to five shops, three strip clubs, two soft porn cinemas – and a lot of empty premises. It just so happened that simultaneously gay business was getting into its stride. The gay scene was fading in other parts of London, and Soho, with its saucy reputation, in need of regeneration, had potential. The Swiss Tavern became Comptons in 1986 and the rest is gay history. In a very short time Soho has become a world-class gay village, one that has survived a tragedy (the bombing of the Admiral Duncan in 1999) to become stronger, louder and prouder than before. Begun in 2003, the annual Soho Pride already attracts large numbers – an estimated 50,000 – that rival the main Pride London event. There's something about Soho.

THE SHINING STARS OF SOHO PRIDE

This year, QX will be supporting Soho Pride, London's biggest free gay event, by staging a musical and entertainment extravaganza in Rupert Street. Local bars like Barcode, Duke of Wellington, Escape, Friendly Society, Rupert Street, Shadow Lounge, Village and The Yard will be packing them in, however, outside QX has programmed an amazing day of entertainment (see page 14 for full details). Here, we chat to some of the DJs, performers and artists who will make the QX stage shine!

ALAN X

QX STAGE: 5pm-6pm

You've just been crowned Queen of Soho. What would you change?

My frock?

If you were to recommend one bar, one club, one shop and one restaurant in Soho, what would they be and why?

Barcode, Detox, Rio Beach, Cafe Espana,

What has been your most memorable night out in Soho?

The QX Christmas dinner about four years ago - it was mayhem! I got so drunk I don't remember much at all.

Which personalities do you associate with Soho?

Big loud ones

I'm from out of town. I've got one night in Soho. What would you recommend?

Get a copy of QX read the Musts and Maybes, hang out on a street corner, smile at the passing talent, make superficial friends and work it to the max! Otherwise make sure it is a Friday and come hear us play at Barcode in Archer Street from 10pm-1am!

CRYSTAL

QX STAGE: 6pm-8pm

How did you start MCing?

My first gig was actually hosting a stripshow called Loose...and I started doing little freestyle bits in the breaks between the dancers, influenced by talented friends.

Where can we see you do your thang?

I'm back at Barcode after the summer. I do Detox at the Ghetto club once a month, that's my main residency and I do Essential in Manchester first Saturday of the month and assorted on-off's in London.

What does Soho mean to Crystal?

Vibe, atmosphere, fun, friends, work, daytime meetings, night time shenanigans, bright lights in the square mile...

Where do you hang out in Soho when you're not working?

Soho Square in the sun, various restaurants, especially Thai. Candy Bar and anywhere I'm invited for free cocktails! Ha, ha..

What track is guaranteed to get people on the dance-floor?

That bootleg... Masters at Work vs The Drill: WORK!

If you were Queen of Soho for a day, what would you change?

I'd extend licensing hours. Why not go have a cocktail when you like, at your leisure... And I'd create more facilities for those who are struggling on Soho's streets. And I'd make the parking attendants vanish... Poooooh...!

You, Per and D'Johnny have been one of Soho Pride's most memorable acts. What can we expect from you on the day this year?

You can expect BASS! A house-music extravaganza not to be forgotten, you'll all be dancing straight into August and on and on and on.

DJ SAINT DAVID

QX STAGE: 12noon-1pm

You're a relatively new DJ to the London club scene. How did you start DJing?

I went to Oz for a year and ended up telling all the DJ's what to play. So I thought if you want a job doing properly... do it yourself.

Where do you currently play? Describe your style.

Dirty, phat'n'funky house wiv a dark chocolate vocal twist.

What makes a good party?
A gin and tonic, 1 or 2 cheesy pineapples and a touch of Demis Rousos...

What has been your best night out in Soho?

The best has to be Soho Pride last year. Soho rocked the capital that day. Twas fierce.

What would you change about Soho?

Pedestrianise da roads!

Per QX

D'Johnny

If you were going to be associated with a style of music, what would it be?

Per QX: For me it would be pumping hard gay rave disco with a touch of Latino electro, but it depends where I play, of course!

What's your all time favourite dance track?

PQ: S'Express 'Theme' from S'Express

You've got mates coming over from Sweden, where would you take them to get a true taste of Soho?

PQ: I would start at Ed's Diner for hamburgers and milkshakes then when I fed them up to their ears go to G-A-Y Bar and dance silly to Kylie then straight to Trash Palace (named after me) for some Indie rave do shots with Megan at Element Bar and then into the Shallow Lounge's VIP area then up to Escape to say 'hi' to Michael (Powder Puff Girlz) then on to the Cock to listen to Tasty Tim's neurotic erotic electro madness!

THE POWDER PUFF GIRLZ

QX STAGE: 5pm & 6pm

Who are the Powder Puff Girls?

Powder Puff Girl Scott: The Powder Puff Girlz! are Daniella and Lady K (yes for all the obvious reasons). We literally BUMPED into each other whilst working as bingo callers on the end of Clacton On Sea Pier... every night was a long hard dizzy walk to get off the pier... but worth it!

You're not conventional drag cabaret. How would you describe your act?

We are the new hottest dance

The Powder Puff Girlz

drag duo to hit London. Basically, we are two glam girlz who know how to slam it up and slum it down whilst showing the crowd how to bust some moves on the disco dance floor... pardy lardy!

Describe your look. Any make up or styling tips to share?

We're one foot in Prada and one foot in Primark and whatever will fit us in between! Our one tip is don't get caught with your wig off in front of a QX photographer

If the Powder Puff Girls were a cocktail, what would it be?

We would obviously be a K daiquiri... for those who want to know the special ingredients we will meet you in the cubicles

What does Soho mean to the Powder Puff Girls?

It means to us a chance for everyone to be what they want to be when they want to be whilst giving us good flat surfaces for us to roller skate along.

Imagine the Powder Puff Girlz are throwing a party in Soho. Where would it be held and why?

The Windmill! Its the only stage in Soho big enough to house our "an evening with the 'Powder Puff Girlz! Show Spectacular' whilst in an original setting... We never forget as our head bingo caller Doris used to say, "make them beg for more, then don't give it to them!"

THERESE

QX STAGE: 3pm-5pm

When did you start singing?

As soon as I popped out mum's tummy! I just sang everywhere since I was little and was discovered at 19.

What does Soho mean to you?

Music, laughter, individuality, food, drinks, smells. It's a great area.

You're well known for your big dance hits like 'Put 'Em High', 'Take Me Away' and 'Time', but you're doing something quite different for Soho Pride - singing new vocals over tracks whilst Jamie Head and Mikey D play back-2-back. What have you got planned for the day?

I don't know yet. I think it'll be quite freestyle. Maybe I'll put on a funny costume like my crab suit or somethin'.

If you were to throw a party in Soho where would you have it and why?

Probably Soho Hotel so all the guests could stay over.

What track is guaranteed to get people on the dance-floor?

My new single 'Feelin' Me' that's out soon will get 'em up hopefully!

What has been your best night out in Soho?

When I performed at G-A-Y. I can't remember the rest of the night but I'm sure it was great.

If you were Queen of Soho for a day, what would you change?

Free tuk-tuk rides for everyone with inbuilt cocktail bar (which would be free as well).

If you were to recommend one bar, one club, one shop and one restaurant in Soho, what would they be?

Element, Discoetc, Paradiso and Balans.

TONY TANSLEY Promoter, charity fundraiser, scene queen

Why does Soho do it for you?

Around every street corner there's always a familiar face.

What venue sums up Soho for you?

Steph's Restaurant. Steph is a goddess and an icon and can cut you in two with one sentence if you upset her!

Should Compton St be pedestrianised?

Yes, with all the Tories underneath.

What kind of a Soho socialite are you?

One who likes drinks bought for him.

PAUL RICHARDSON Entrepreneur extraordinaire

Why does Soho do it for you?

Babe, cos we all "DO IT" for Soho...and some!

Should Compton St be pedestrianised?

Na, it's great sport to drive up behind unsuspecting queens and honk your horn real loud...

If you were Queen of Soho for a day, what would you change?

Miss Kimberly's singing pitch?

Have you ever been barred from a Soho venue?

Almost every venue I have opened and counting... 4 outta 6! It's a fear thing, but they always to let me back you know!

Who are the personalities that you associate with Soho?

That strange looking granny with the beaded dreadlocks and bright hippy cloths and a mean "I take no shit" attitude. She has to be 80 and the devil may care. That's Soho: intolerant-tolerance.

MISS KIMBERLY Drag performer and club hostess

Why does Soho do it for you?

Because it's real life right there in front of your face.

If you were Queen of Soho for a day, what would you change?

Stop all the homophobic ass holes from coming in and get rid of the cheap and tacky drug dealers who hang on the streets.

Have you ever been barred from a Soho venue?

Not yet... OK the Edge for a night.

What's the best thing about Soho?

Freedom to be who and what you are.

What's your best Soho memory?

Hanging out in after hour nightclubs and picking up straight boys.

ADRIAN ELEFThERIOU Soho Pride

What venue sums up Soho for you?

BKB; sat outside in the sun with a bottle of rose and a nice steak watching the world go by and the old queens!

Should Compton St be pedestrianised?

Yes, it should; not that you can get a car down there anyway with a sea of queens blocking one end and a Saga coach party kicking out of the theatre the other end!

What's your best Soho memory?

The Queen's Jubilee party outside the Edge - the first street party. That's how Soho Pride was born!

What drink best represents Soho?

A Cosmopolitan in a large Martini glass with a lemon twist!

Early July this year, photographer Magnus Hastings undertook a massive project to capture the 'Faces of Soho 2006'. Over 60 of the most salubrious, sexy, sassy, saucy, sordid, sanguine and sharpest Sohoites around: the bar managers, drag queens, personalities, clubbers, strippers, door bitches and other illustrious characters that illuminate Soho, London's busiest Gay Village. Here are just some of the many characters he shot...

Why does Soho do it for you?

Soho is a microcosm of multi-culturalism and there is always something to excite the senses.

What venue sums up Soho for you?

The Boudoir at the Village with it's great views down Old Compton Street - the venue is great for a drink and you have a choice of viewing the eye candy on Brewer or Wardour!

Should Compton St be pedestrianised?

Yes - let's get it done!

If you were Queen of Soho for a day, what would you change?

No traffic wardens.

Who are the personalities that you associate with Soho?

Jeffrey Barnard, George Melly and that lovely old lady with the great make-up and long hair!

STEWART WHO? DJ

Why does Soho do it for you?

It's a rich tapestry of West End sex, community spirit and London charm

If you were Queen of Soho for a day, what would you change?

The homeless. I'd make them wear sensational drag.

Have you ever been barred from a Soho venue?

Yes, Comptons in the 90s for wearing sunglasses. Apparently only people on drugs wear sunglasses indoors. I argued with this ridiculous notion, despite being off my face, and asked what they'd do if Stevie Wonder dropped in for sherry. They kicked me out and banned me.

Who are the personalities that you associate with Soho?

George Melly, Francis Bacon, Maggie Hambling, Jeffery Bernard.

What's the best thing about Soho?

Cultural diversity, village-esque vibe and the abundance of familiar, pretty and interesting faces.

CAROLINE REID aka PAM ANN Comedian and Cabaret performer

Why does Soho do it for you?

It makes me feel like a woman!

Should Compton St be pedestrianised?

No, I love seeing people nearly get hit by cabs and scarves nearly getting caught in the tyres of rickshaws!

If you were Queen of Soho for a day, what would you change?

I would astro turf the place and put a swimming pool in Soho Square!

Have you ever been barred from a Soho venue?

No, but I have been escorted out for being too shit-faced and spat in the face by the homeless! NOICE!

Who are the personalities that you associate with Soho?

Miss Kimberly, Paul Richardson, Aubrey, Charlotte Church.

What drink best represents Soho?

French Champagne, Mojito, Cowboy Cocksucker!

A pint in Barcode or a cocktail in Shadow Lounge?

Why does Soho do it for you?

There aren't many places that allow me to be Michael in the daytime and Daniella by night!

Have you ever been barred from a Soho venue?

Only when I bar myself from Escape (I need to learn to go home!)

What's the best thing about Soho?

Its 24/7.

What's your best Soho memory?

A young Michael queuing up in 1995 outside G-A-Y in his hot pants waiting to see Sonia! Then walking into the club and seeing so many gays! The rest is history!

What drink best represents Soho?

A Long Island Ice Tea because it has all the spirits, a bit of coke and gets everybody fucked up!

DUSTY O DJ

Why does Soho do it for you?

Soho is like a bubble containing everything I need to survive: work, play, fashion and food.

If one venue could sum up Soho for you, what would it be and why?

Too2Much as its avant garde and traditional at the same time, has great freak nights as well as amazing shows and "poorformances"!

Who are the personalities that you associate with Soho?

Myself of course. I have been there four days a week for twenty years!

What's the best thing about Soho?

The gays can hold hands. Yippy dippy doo!

JODIE HARSH Drag star and club hostess

What venue sums up Soho for you?

Too2Much is SO Soho. It's trashy and glamorous. A VIP club surrounded by sex shops and brothels.

Should Compton St be pedestrianised?

Yes. I've nearly been knocked off my heels many a time after a couple of shandies. Ban those bloody peddle bike things too!

Have you ever been barred from a Soho venue?

I've been asked to behave, but have never been barred. I maintain dignity at all times.

What's the best thing about Soho?

There must be more gay bars in that square mile than anywhere else in the world. It pisses over New York's Chelsea district.

What's your best Soho memory?

I remember walking around Soho aged about fourteen with my Dad after an audition. I saw guys holding hands looking happy and thought 'I want a piece of that'!

LUKE HOPE DJ

You've just been crowned Queen of Soho. What would you change?

That's nice. Maybe open up some better run venues with proper DJ booths! And fill some other too tired venues in with wet concrete maybe. Can we do that please?

What has been your most memorable night out in Soho?

I LOVE Soho Pride!

Which personalities do you associate with Soho?

Drag queens, moneymen, whores and DJs!

What's Soho's best kept secret?

That most venues still pay DJ's shitty wages, even on the weekends!

AUBREY DOBSON Salon promoter

Why does Soho do it for you?

I know it back to front and then some...

If you were Queen of Soho for a day, what would you change?

The Queens!

Have you ever been barred from a Soho venue?

Yes, from the only one I've ever managed!

What's the best thing about Soho?

ME! No, having a good social life and some very good friends I'd have never met without being part of the Soho mile

What's your best Soho memory?

I can't remember!

What drink best represents Soho?

A very overpriced one!

SCREEN TEST

> BY JACK LEGER

▶ FILM OF THE WEEK

ANGEL-A (15)

FRENCH filmmaker Luc Besson shifts gears from his usual action mayhem for this surprisingly engaging romantic fantasy about a small-time con-man in Paris (the almost too-cute Jammel Debbouze) who's in far over his head with some thuggish loan sharks. Enter the leggy blonde Angela (Rie Rasmussen, a Milla Jovovich clone), who's actually his sardonic, slutty guardian angel, sent to help him find some self-respect - among other things. Filmed in lush black and white, it's basically Amélie meets It's A Wonderful Life, with crime and sex. It really shouldn't work at all, but it's sweet and witty, and surprisingly edgy too.

Rating ★★★★★☆☆☆

▶ ALSO THIS WEEK...

> WARRIOR KING (18) gives us more wire-free action with the astonishingly fit Tony Jaa (Ong-Bak), who follows two kidnapped elephants from the Thai jungle to downtown Sydney. There's plenty to love about this ridiculous adventure, which bounces from rural beauty to urban mayhem, with Asian mobsters, roller-blading baddies and cute elephants! Cheesy good fun.

Rating ★★★★★☆☆☆

> STAY ALIVE (15) is an unscary attempt to cross The Ring with Nintendo, as a videogame kills young gamers one by one. While the film looks good, the plot makes virtually no logical sense. Even the good-looking cast (which includes Frankie Muniz, aka Malcolm In The Middle) can't keep this one afloat.

Rating ★★★☆☆☆☆☆

This week's best animation is Disney-Pixar's CARS (PG), which features jaw-dropping images, great voices (Owen Wilson, Paul Newman) and a strong story that never quite overcomes the contrived car-world setting. Fun but mechanical: ★★★★★☆☆☆.

Much stranger is the animated French thriller RENAISSANCE (pictured) (15), a confusing futuristic mystery. The black-and-white design is cool, with nicely moody voices (Daniel Craig, Ian Holm), but it never springs to life. Inventive but dull: ★★★★★☆☆☆☆.

IN EXTREMIS (18), released on DVD, is an emotional French drama about a hedonistic guy who wants it all: the cute boyfriend, loyal hooker girlfriend and custody of his dead neighbour's son. The story is strong, and the film has some sexy and moving sequences, but it's also self-indulgent and far too long (Millivres).

Rating ★★★★★☆☆☆☆

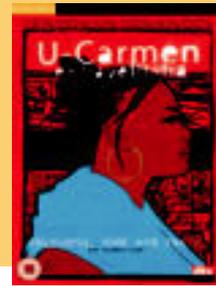

▶ DVD OF THE WEEK

U-CARMEN eKHAYELITSHA (15)

This South African film transplants Bizet's opera Carmen to a Cape Town township for a feisty, energetic story (gorgeously sung in Xhosa) of a vampy diva torturing every man she meets. Pauline Malefane gives an outrageous central performance that sparks with humour and grit, and the filmmakers somehow manage to capture the physicality of life in Khayelitsha, even as everyone is warbling operatically at each other.

It's pretty jaw-dropping really, and far more edgy and sexy than you think it could be. DVD extras include a making-of doc, plus interviews with Malefane, the film's director and the Xhosa translator (Tartan).

Rating ★★★★★☆☆☆

DIMITRI FROM PARIS

ALBUM: SOUTHPORT WEEKENDER ALBUM 5 • ARTIST: VARIOUS • LABEL: ENDULGE RECORDS • STYLE: SOULFUL HOUSE WAY back in 1987 in the Scottish town of Berwick Upon Tweed 600 people descended upon what would become the Southport Weekend, a festival celebrating soulful music. Since then the venue has changed to Pontins at Southport. Now the event attracts thousands, with five arenas playing host to some of the biggest names in soulful house. Celebrating this event is a series of albums, the latest installment being the fifth. As with all other Southport Weekender albums, the mixing duties are handed over to the big hitters, these one's being Kenny Dope (disc one) and Terry Hunter (disc two). Kenny's mix draws from the past and the present integrating hip-hop, soul and funk into an almost old-skool sounding mix. 70's and early 80's influences are obvious. Terry Hunter hands his mix over to house in the form of Afro-Latin fusions, gospel influenced tunes and deep and soulful grooves. Both mixes are a good representation of the general vibe and sound of the weekend. r-filled ceiling, it all could sound rather fabulous. After all, it is Ibiza!

ALBUM: ENCHANTED 2006 • ARTIST: VARIOUS • MIXED BY: DJ GONZALO • LABEL: CLUB PROMO • STYLE: CLUB HOUSE SCENE favorite DJ Gonzalo is let in loose in the Shadow Lounge to mix up a funky, tribal touched, electro sautéed and disco sprinkled compilation. Called Enchanted, the CD is a celebration of the Shadow's Lounge 5th Birthday, however, this is not your average 'hands in the air' DJ/Club promo you would expect from a birthday compilation. Gonzalo has selected a prime choice of tunes that typifies his style and reflects why he is a well respected, credible and highly in demand DJ. Without a track listing to go by, some of the more outstanding grooves include Track 3, a high energy and cowbell slamming groove that will tempt any butt onto the floor (you'll love it when you hear it!), the remix of A 'Studio's 'SOS' which gives the track a more pumping bass line and a tougher remix of Loleatta Holloway's 'Love Sensation'. The rest of the album remains deep yet still driving in that unique Gonzalo way. See if you can bribe a Shadow Lounge staff member and get yourself a copy of this CD now. Gonzalo plays at Exquisite at the Shadow Lounge this Sunday 30th July.

▶ SINGLES

Artist: Divine Comedy
Title: To Die A Virgin
Label: Parlophone
FOLLOWING his recent output 'Victory For The Comic Muse', this one is the opening track of the LP. Slightly morbid and obsessive lyrics about desperation for losing your virginity contrast with a sweet and melodic delivery with a legs akimbo pace. Classic Neil Hannon, it's amusing and gripping at once.
Rating: ★★★★★☆☆☆

Artist: Outkast
Title: The Mighty O
Label: BMG

THEY'VE an album in the coming, called Idlewild, and their partnership is clearly as strong as ever. Stripped bare and less in your face, the track plays on Cab Calloway's famous Minnie The Moucher. Whilst it lacks that instant quality of previous hits, there's a credible swagger that will play well with fans.
Rating: ★★★★★☆☆☆

▼ SINGLE OF THE WEEK

Artist: Paris Hilton
Title: Stars Are Blind
Label: Warners
WORTH highlighting purely for novelty factor. Just like Jordan, there's been rumours about an imminent pop career for years. Expect a mock reggae, UB40 grind and breathy cooing. Quelle surprise, the video plays to her sexual appeal. It will get coverage, but does that make it right? Better than expected, but not good enough.
Rating: ★★★★★☆☆☆

Paris Hilton

Artist: The Raconteurs
Title: Hands
Label: XL
CONFUSED who they are? Think a latter day Crosby Stills Nash & Young. Jack White, of White Stripes fame, is a member, as are three blokes you don't know because they're American guitar hero types from across the Atlantic. Music journos are creating themselves over this band, and the track's a must for indie types.
Rating: ★★★★★☆☆☆

▶ ALBUM
Artist: Rooster
Title: Circles And Satellites
Label: BMG

YOUNG and spunky might be a description of this band (except the one that doesn't wash his hair). Bubble-gum rock n' roll might be another. No one really anticipated a second album, but here they are. Exciting, ballsy, loud and thrashing rock with occasional moments of pop harmony.
Rating: ★★★★★☆☆☆

▼ ALBUM OF THE WEEK

Artist: DMX
Title: Year Of The Dog Again
Label: RCA
DMX has one of the most distinctive and raw sounds in rap music. Following his arrest at Heathrow, for an air rage incident involving a seatbelt, he's been trying to release this album amidst record label changes and leaks onto the net. His output is as uncompromising and fierce as ever – think Tupac minus the melodies.

Big Brother's Nikki

Crystal Castles

WHAT do you get when you cross Trailer Trash with Radio Egypt and a bit of Council? The collision of three scenes on a riverboat travelling up the Thames for a right old knees up, of course. This year's festivities included DJs from each club keeping the party spirits lifted. It was very hot and trashy. That's the music and the antics of Jonny Woo and mates Spanky, Jeanette, Sergio, Stik and Miss Cunty.

Hot band to arrive in town last week had to be Crystal Castles from Canada. Look 'em up on myspace.com/crystalcastles. They headed in on a whirlwind and played at Trash and Club Motherfucker. Serious samplers, their show had a live element to it with the addition of guitar from Claudio, plus keyboards and high-pitched shouty vocals from Alice. They have an E.P. doing the rounds on the Merok label, which includes tracks 'Airwar' and 'Love' and 'Caring'. If you didn't catch them this time round I hear they'll be back very soon.

What's up this week? Well, it's The Cock's 4th Birthday on the 28th. Tasty Tim and myself will take to decks along with a PA from the Black Peter Group, (<http://www.myspace.com/pedronegromusic>).

They recently performed at All You Can Eat, so this will be a real treat added to the fact that front man Gio ain't half sexy to boot! ..... Secret party alert, this event is so underground it doesn't have a name! Anyway, get yourselves down to 32 Creamer Street, East End, on Saturday the 29th - 10pm 'til late. DJs to include the lovely Jon Jo, Mathew Stone and Princess Julia... That's me dears.

OK, here's the real summer anthem. Those of you locked into Big Brother and the antics of Nikki will be amused by this very tongue in cheek collaboration! Track 'It's A Game Part 1', was released ten years ago by Minty (Leigh Bowry's group). Now it's time for 'It's A Game Part 2'. The Minty team, that's Kashpoint's Mathew Glamorre and DJ/producer Richard Torry, have combined this classic track with added vocals from Holestar, extra production from Kinky Roland and, of course, the ironic twist of Nikki's whinging! Download for free now for a limited period from www.myspace.com/itsgamept2.

Well, I think that's about it for this week... In the style of the above, 'I need water-a-a-a!' Actually, I think Vodka-a-a-a is more appropriate...

HOUSEWORK

> WITH STEVE PITRON

STRADDLING a very thin line between cool and utter cheese is 'Wonderland' by the bizarrely named Leg Soup. Coming soon via Art & Craft, an offshoot of Incentive Records. 'Wonderland' is female vocal number, which has been saved from drowning in its own pool of sweetness by the Soul Avengerz, with their best mix for some time. Solid beats, beefy bassline and a couple of killer hooks coming at you from several angles, and that's before the vocal starts. Definitely one of those 'love it or hate it' tracks. The whole thing reeks of a major record label scam, attempting to cover the identity of something like the debut solo release from an ex-member of Liberty X or worse (Nikki French...?): though apparently this is the work of Marc Auberbach (Bump). So we're allowed to indulge. Of course, if this does turn out to be by a naff pop act, then it is naturally utter shite and should be avoided at all costs.

Alternative Route Recordings have enjoyed worldwide support for Chris Lake's single, 'Changes', which has since been licensed to Apollo Records. The new vocal version has been championed by just about everyone. Their latest offering is 'Harmony Of Soul' by Electriciano. The original version is extremely nondescript and doesn't do anything. However, David Ferrero's Housepark Mix transforms the track into a beautiful piece of music that whisks you away on a roller-coaster ride with its piano stabs, brass sounds, gorgeous strings and a warm chunky bass-line that just oozes summer. Not unlike Orbital's seminal classic 'Chime' in parts. Truly wonderful. Alternative Route are also behind Marcelo

Castelli's tasty 'Paradise EP', which is another summery house instrumental that will lift any party to a happy place. Gorgeous. Sticking with the summer vibes: Denis The Menace & Jerry Roper's piano driven club anthem 'Time To Turn Around' is coming back round again. The collaboration between the two popular German producers and Francesco Diaz was originally released last year on Lowered Recordings and never really went away. Lowered have now added that all important female vocal, courtesy of Vicky Fee to help it crossover – a tactic that worked well in the past for the likes of Shapeshifeters, Spiller, Lee Cabrera and Chamonix. The Majors are already scrabbling around to find their cheque books to sign this, which is always a good sign. Michael Grey, Groove Armada and Roger Sanchez are all on board too. Sounds like a hit.

Dutch label Fame release a new Mischa Daniels track under the guise of Paris Clubbing. The main mix of 'Release Me' is somewhat dated, but the Juicy Disco mix on the flip serves up a nice and chunky French filtered disco houser with some choice female vocal hooks to good effect. Already charted by Stonebridge...

FIRST lady of guerrilla transvestism and host of Tranny Lip Syncing (or Transvestite Lipsynchronicity to give it its full title), Jonny Woo opened the show in a gorilla suit and blonde afro - an attention grabber if ever there was one. But at Bistrotheque where such shows as A Night Of A Thousand Jay Astons, Bear Beauty Contest and Tranny Talent are staples, the unexpected has become the expected. Fourteen cross-dressing, lip-syncing lovelies made it through the nine heats to battle the stifling heat of the world's hottest day ever since time immemorial (as the Evening Standard took much joy in telling us all!) and battle it out last Wednesday night. Your judges: QX Editor and Deputy Editor Cliff Joannou and Matt Joshua respectively, the stunning DJ and QX music scribe Princess Julia and Richardette, guv'nor of Shoreditch's premier pub, the George & Dragon. Incredible props and gizmos, fierce choreography, multiple costume changes, blizzards of confetti, the obligatory Whitney, even genital contortionism graced the stage. But lipsynchronicity was what the judges were primarily looking for - of course 'creativity' and 'fabulousness' all scored bonus points. Ryan Styles gave us Baywatch Babe, Heidilicious did Donna Summer, X-Tina did Christina Aguilera, Amanda Pet did Annie Lennox, LipStick did Grace Jones and Miss Jade sang into a pineapple. All the acts were totally unique and of a high calibre, but there could only be one winner. Second runner up was surreal duo Shanghai Surprise. The incredible Spanky (last year's winner) with a piece lasting just 1 minute 48 seconds came in 2nd place. However, the judges unanimous winner was Batty Lashes, whose interpretation of Stone's classic 'Ruby Tuesday' was pure emotion. Batty Lashes walked off with the £537 prize money. Learning to lipsync? Princess Julia offers up a top tip: "a good lipstick and just mouth the word 'watermelon'".

 28th-29th July

IT'S hotter than a napalm victim's arse in London and a poxy, transatlantic line doesn't make calling NY any easier! Still, God – or maybe the Devil – intercedes, and suddenly, I'm on speakerphone to Adrienne and Tanya, the biological and artistic siblings known as the Wau-Wau Sisters. Not heard of them? You will!

An unclassifiable cocktail of kitsch and bitch, they fire-bomb Tina C territory with the kooky aplomb of a sexed-up, intelligent Simpsons, and, to date, have unleashed 4

CDs of their acutely aural schlock 'n' roll! "Our act's Benny Hill meets Marilyn Monroe waking up in a brothel," the sisters coo in unison, "but not burlesque; neo-vaudeville describes it better."

Good for them. Call yourself 'burlesque' in the UK and you risk comparison with the talentless tarts who've defiled the art. Who wants yards of flabby, English tits unlocked from brass best left on? Not the Wau-Waus, who toss off needle-sharp satire and erotic mystique from a flying trapeze! Sassing Bush where it hurts – his AWOL brain – the girls flirt with a farouche, cerebral sexiness worthy of Liza when she mattered!

Even so, they're bored with NY: "Downtown's like a fuckin' baby nursery," they trill. "There's nothing remotely edgy or risky any more. No-one artistic even lives in Manhattan." Me, I blame Bush and his paranoid, post 9/11 Patriot Act. Still, that doesn't bother the girls; their influences are far more Felliniesque.

"We admire an eclectic circle of male and female comedians and circus people," they chirp. "Why bother with mainstream mediocrity? Celebrity culture can't even take a step or a shit spontaneously." No wonder they found a pilot for a possible TV show "far too stifling", but even so, the poor, innocent darlings actually seem excited at the prospect of performing here! Can we even begin to live up to them? Only time will tell!

HOW do I describe this heavily autobiographical show? Sexually, it's all fur coat and no knickers, a façade of sheer luxury masking virtuoso debauchery! And the subject? None other than ex-transsexuality, darlings, a subject sure to incense post-ops nationwide!

Myself, I simply became bored with the downsides of popping female hormones; permanent PMT, cramps and water-retention, causing hideous pantie-line bulges! Worse still, in the run-up to the Big Slice, the surgeons informed me a fake snatch isn't self-lubricating, has no guarantee of any sexual sensation whatsoever, and has to be kept open by constantly fiddling with plastic dilators, unless you're having ferocious, penetrative sex!

Well, sod that for a game of soldiers, sweet-hearts! I'd rather stay true to my androgynous yearnings and remain a chick with a dick, an in-betweenie with no allegiance to labels, gay, straight or designer! Quite frankly, I'd rather have my dick scraped daily down a clap clinic than play with a doubled risk of breast cancer and deep vein thrombosis, the non-glamorous stuff preachy T-girls won't tell you!

A story in last year's Evening Standard merely cemented my misgivings. Following an emotional trauma, a prospective sex-change client was fast-tracked through the process with an irresponsible dispensing of hormones and surgery, and found himself appalled by the results. Having worked through my own gender conundrums for the best part of fifteen years, I deeply sympathise.

In my own experience, far too many hugely troubled post-ops would have benefited from sympathetic and extensive counselling, not the irreversible brutality of surgery! And in an irony straight out of Alanis Morissette, all post-ops are fitted with snatches that are a male consensus of female genitals! Gee – how far does the phrase 'it's a man's world' go? In this case, even down to the design of penile reception sites! Not that Jurassic Tart's bitchy – it's oozing surreal empathy for future ex-TS's, the ultimate non-conformists!

MORE TEA VICAR?

Refreshingly old fashioned, Earl Grey's repertoire takes in the stars of the silver screen to our first ladies of soap via HRH. From mucking out to camping it up, Earl Grey gives QX a potted history.

I'VE talked to Bette Davis, auditioned as Cynthia for Hylda Baker, had Joan Collins in hysterics, been a stand in for Hilda Ogden and appeared as Diana Ross with Dockyard Doris and Phil Starr as black-faced Supremes! It's been an adventure. Earl is real, and I've heard all the lapsang souchong jokes, thank you.

I started off in Cameron Mackintosh's 'Moby Dick' at the Piccadilly Theatre and ended up at the Cock & Comfort. I'm the one that does the Coronation Street characters and over the years have brought you Deirdre, Racquel, Liz, Audrey and Emily Bishop. Born, not in a trunk, but on a Lincolnshire farm, my identical twin Christopher and I were found, from the start, waltzing around the farmyard on my mother's stilettos when we were supposed to be mucking out pigs. Early influences were Norman Evans and Old Mother Riley and during my training at the Birmingham Drama School, I got to work with Danny La Rue at the Palace, which was magical. Some time after leaving Brum I got a dream job as Assistant Stage Manager on Coronation Street and can still recall the thrill I felt when the likes of Pat Phoenix and Violet Carson walked into the rehearsal room. But the call of the footlights proved too strong and I came to London to seek fame and fortune as an actor/performer. After 'Moby Dick' (I was Sylvia the pregnant school girl), I did three wonderful productions at the King's Head: 'Whoop Dee Doo', 'Frankly Scarlett' and 'Boys In The Band' (which later transferred to the Aldwych) and played The Queen in Julie Walters' movie 'Brazen Hussies'. I think good drag can be very potent and my favourites are Hinge & Brackett, Dame Edna and the American Craig Russell, whom I saw live – brilliant.

So I shall be strutting my stuff at The Quebec on the 30th July, knowing that the crowd there will appreciate my parade of old movie stars – all singing, all dancing... all dead. No, I'm not talking about the punters! Along with the music hall and old people's shows I do, the Quebec is about the best gig in town for me. I swear some of the younger audience at other venues think my Judy Garland is Judy Finnigan. When they like you, they really like you and gay audiences are not afraid to show their approval. Is my act old fashioned? Yes, probably. But entertainment is entertainment and my love for these icons shows through I hope and makes it a glamorous, theatrical experience. Maybe I should update my repertoire to include some modern characters. Perhaps one day I'll include Sharon Osborne... who knows!

Earl Grey appears at The Quebec on Sunday 30th July.

First Out's Malcolm & Maria blow out the candles.

BAR NEWS

BY MATT JOSHUA

SURVIVING twenty years on the London gay scene is hard enough if you're a human. If you're a gay business and you survive a decade then you are doing very well. But twenty years deserves the equivalent of an OBE and a ticker tape parade. The word 'stalwart' is often bandied around when praise is due, but with First Out Café it is so very deserved. Dependable and loyal, First Out has faithfully served the gay community for twenty years, providing a great place to meet, eat, drink and chat in the heart of the West End. Very affordable prices keep customers coming back time and again for the tasty veggie fayre, coffees cakes and pastries. At night, especially on the weekend, the basement bar buzzes – very popular with the girlz on Fridays.

Last Thursday night started a weekend of 20th birthday celebrations. The basement bar was decorated with balloons, and smiley faces and friends of First Out old and new turned up to congratulate manager Maria and owner Malcolm. There was a complimentary bar serving up champagne cocktails and at around 9pm a scrumptious strawberry, banana and cream gateaux cake with candles was brought out. The crowds continued to pour in, so much so that they eventually spilled out onto the pavement. ▶

WINDSOR CASTLE • 152 Bath Road, Hounslow.

► As small cafes and bars continue to be ousted by ubiquitous behemoths such as Costa, Café Nero and Starbucks, if ever you needed prompting to support independent gay businesses, this is it. Here's to First Out and another twenty wonderful years! Friday nights in Soho never quite go to plan. You either come out in flip-flops and end up under the mirrorball (not wise) or you plan an early night and inexplicably get sidetracked (which translates in our case as 'doing shots of Absinthe'). Well the latter was most certainly the case last Friday.

Resolutely, we staggered down Old Compton Street at midnight only to be tempted by that last double vodka to help take the edge of the night bus home. The obvious last stop off was CXR 79. Now in its twelfth year, CXR remains busy, day in and day out. Over 3,000 square foot of space over a main bar area and mezzanine level means plenty of space for boozing and cruising – and boy was there a lot of cruising going on! So when in Rome... The 3am late night license means there's a good mixture of guys - all ages, all types - some boozing before clubbing, some after work drinkers still in suits and those horny dudes out on the pull. Security on the door means that the passing straights are kept out, so the atmosphere is relaxed and friendly. And regardless of what time you're drinking, the prices are highly competitive: Happy hour is all day Sunday and every Tuesday to Saturday from 7-10pm. Where house doubles are £2.50 and pints of Fosters, WKD blue and Fosters Twist are just £2.30. Or why not share (or not, if you're a lush) a 5-pint pitcher of Fosters for just £11. On Mondays between 6-10pm pints of Fosters are just £1.50! CXR is always on the way to somewhere or on the way back, so just like us, you'll find you're easily tempted. Check it out. (There is a small cover charge after 11pm).

Now we at QX love a birthday party, and if there's free booze and a slice of birthday cake we don't mind flexing our pink passports to get to it. So Saturday night saw us in Hounslow at the Windsor Castle for guv'nor Richard's 30th birthday celebrations. Being the 'Big Three-Oh', and with Richard's past history of super successful bashes both at the Culvert and WC, we knew we were in for a good 'un. The divine Miss Bette Rinse, the delectable Dolly Diamond and the ravishing Rose Garden were already in full flow. Sequins, frills, diamante, baubles, bangles, beads, big hair, big voices and buckets of laughs – the girls were on top form. With the bar decorated with 'Happy Birthday' signs, balloons and a huge backdrop on the stage, the venue look fab. In fact, it was busier at Richard's birthday than it was at the birthday of the ► ► Windsor Castle itself, packed to the rafters – which shows just how popular Richard is. We had vocals from Annie Dee, who did a great disco stomping Donna Summer, and we laughed ourselves silly to Bette, Rose and Dolly doing 'Sisters'. All we can say is "Lord, help that mister, who comes between any of those sisters!" The birthday cake was brought out for Richard to blow out the candles and the whole bar erupted in a chorus of 'Happy Birthday' – (remember the time Richard dropped the cake on the floor?). With our carriage honking outside we bade farewell to the WC, Richard, those fabulous drag darlings and all the Hounslow homos and gay gals. We hear Sandra turned up to do a late show as well as house diva Angie Brown. God knows what time they got finished! Next time Richard, we'll have to sleep over.

RelationTips 5

Don't get smothered by your relationship. Hobbies that we do apart give us more to talk about. Hobbies that we do together help us meet new people as a couple, which makes us closer. We do both.

We know what sex we like best: locations, positions, frequency and so on. But we try not to fall into a routine. We've tried sex in every room and on every piece of furniture and we've done it outside and even in a lift. Being in love makes the sex even better.

We only have sex with each other, so there's no risk of picking up STIs, but we still prefer to use condoms. We experimented with different condoms and lubes until we found a combination we really liked.

Expect muscle greased with tanning cream swinging from the chandelier, on a truly global scale. Latino heaven! Getting the clubbing congregation all hot under the (dog) collar, the main dance nave pays homage to the celestial bodies of the devilish go-go's - a lusty sight that will put a smile on the face of even the highest priest, so to speak! DJs Per QX, Pier Morocco and Luke Hope play deep 'n' funky tech house in the Main Dance Nave, while Mattias and Elliot J Brown throw down a more electro kinda twist. Cool down at the outside bar and terrace, bedecked in true Salvation style. Expect the red carpet treatment upon arrival.

Prepare yourself for a wild night of hot Latino action this Saturday 29th when Spain's world famous club Matinee takes time from its massive international agenda to come and rock Area - Vauxhall's newest club! HORIZON • 23/07/06 • RENAISSANCE ROOMS, off Miles Street, Vauxhall, SW8. Every Sunday morning.

SHIVER me timbers! With the eyes firmly fixed on Horizon we prepared to be amazed as the Renaissance Rooms was transformed into a swashbuckling fantasyland of shining treasures with their party, Pirates on the Horizon. They had certainly pushed the boat out as no expense had been spared on production for in this extravaganza. Jumping Jellyfish! Massive maritime madness set the crowd off with cannons, chandeliers, caves and treasure chests filled with nearly nude bejewelled boys. Finding their sea legs, the merry throng hoped to walk the plank – of the sexy swashbuckling pirate gogos! It was all hands on the decks from Captain Oli the Kid, Stevie 'Blue Beard' B, and Gonzalo Silver taking no prisoners in the main room, with Long John Jimenez and First Mate Per QX in the Crow's Nest. It looked like the crew were all set for a good Jolly Rodgering! With the Orange Team at the helm it was shining smiles all around and not the slightest fear of scurvy. Appealing to a broad spectrum of revellers, keep your eyes firmly fixed on Horizon. That's the way to do it!

FRUIT MACHINE. 19/07/07 • HEAVEN, Under The Arches, Villiers Street, WC2. Every Wednesday.

FRUIT MACHINE hit the jackpot last Wednesday celebrating its Fifteenth Birthday. DJs Jeffrey Hinton, Terry T-Rex, Luke Howard and Sugarbear got fruity flavas freely flowing with a cocktail of Hip Hop and R&B. Shaking their booty, the party posse got all dancehall in the main room – you could have been in Kingston (n Jamaica that is)! Tough vocals with fierce, grinding bass lines of seismic proportions gave way to the live finale of 'Ghetto Fabulous', a competition which had been escalating week by week over the last month. "Bling it on," we hollered, as contestants battled it out all windin' up dem batty on the stage. Dazzling us with a 22 carat mish-mash of dancehall moves, Asharnie was the proud winner who boogied away with a bundle of prizes, including £100 cash and a year's guest list to Heaven! The second show, 'Serious', was choreographed by Francisco 'Sisco' Gomez, of Madonna fame, and featured the sexy FM dancers. Chris Reardon played pop and old skool cool in the Dakota Bar. David Rosen wrecked the decks with a retrospective of house that shone brightly in the Star Bar. Tasty Tim, Tallulah and Princess Julia saw us off in the Departure Lounge. With Fruit Machine operating an 'open-hours' policy of spinning sounds 'til the last punter drops, Sugarbear finally pulled the lever on the main floor at 5am. A funky, fabulous, fruity fifteen years with many more to come!

INSTINCT • 23/07/06 • CLUB COLOSSEUM, 1 Nine Elms Lane, Vauxhall, SE11. Every Sunday morning.

INSTINCT at Club Colosseum, the new Saturday night/Sunday morning after hours threw open its doors to a sensational night of cutting edge clubbing. The opening event of this new weekly night signalled success with a sexy and stylish crowd who partied their arses off. Seasoned promoters Gavin and Alex promised a transformation of the venue with custom-made décor, and they certainly delivered – the ‘super-club’ looked magnificent. Muscular Go-go’s gyrated in heels and g-strings, an astute move in the eyes of the choreographer who brought a touch of quick-witted chic to the night. Sharp visuals and stomping sound systems rocked our world as the sexy crowd created unrest on the main floor and ran riot to the progressive and uplifting sounds of stellar DJs. Commandeering the wheels of steel in the main arena with a funky up mix of dirty house, Alan X, Blind Pig and Neville Clayton pumped the night so full of adrenaline with an energising music mix that it was full of overflowing with newborn joy. Funky sounds in Room 2 came courtesy of Miss Strawberry K, Carlos De Monkee and Kari H. Trust your Instincts!

FITLADZ • 21/07/06 • CRASH, 66 Albert Embankment, Vauxhall, SE11. Every Friday.

DESPITE the furore over the controversial content of the club's promotional material, which caused a huge stir with our readers, the launch of Fitladz at Crash last Friday pulled in a huge number of hot and horny guys. Fitladz is definitely now on the map for sporty sexiness, with a dress code that simply demands you are horny and in good shape. England may not have won the World Cup, but when it came to scoring, even Beckham might have joined our side to practice excellent ball control with the Fitladz here. If you've ever fancied a grope with Joe Cole or your gonads given the Rooney treatment, here may well be the place you'll be taking home a trophy. The dark room was packed with players giving it their all - no chance of being booted out of here on penalties! Horny visuals quickened the pace and the amateur strip contest upped the temperature with the £100 prize winner Ben cheered on by the crowd. Sexy DJ Steven Artis was rippin' up the pitch with blistering funkyed-up house that had us whistling for extra time - with Steven there's never any foul play! Joined by Mario and DJ Devilish who wrecked the decks and hammered in the grooves, the dancefloor was set alight all night. Fitladz - the new sexually charged night for scoring fit lads!

HARD ON • 22/07/06 • HIDDEN, 100 Tinworth Street, Vauxhall, SE11. Next Hard On: 19/08/06.

HARD ON stood proud last Saturday as the biggest fetish club for boys and gals and let it all hang out at its opening party at new home Hidden. This rambling venue perfectly suits the cruisy nature of the night, with plenty of nooks and crannies to explore, and a huge testosterone-fuelled playroom where the leather and rubber-clad crowds indulged in every fantasy imaginable. Groans of pleasure were released as desire was unleashed beneath the huge porn cinema screen. Talk about hot! There's even a huge outside chill space for those balmy summer nights. Inside, fit-as-fuck DJ Brent Nicholls inspired full frontal madness, spinning a tribal electro sound to the horny, half-naked crowd. On the main floor, things got much harder with DJ Halo-Is ripping up the decks with hard house and toughed-up techno. DJs Hugo'sland, E J Doubell and 'K' went on to rip up the floor with hard-ass fuck-me techno. The sexy, hard core live performance demonstrated how a baseball bat can come into play in quite a different way! If it's leather, rubber, skins, uniforms, jocks, chains or boots that make you stand to attention, then Hard On at Hidden will be your firm favourite!

CHILL OUT & S.L.A.G.S. • 23/07/06 • THE ROYAL VAUXHALL TAVERN, 372 Kennington Lane, Vauxhall, SE11.

A sunny Sunday afternoon in South London can mean only one thing: Grassy Knoll, Dame Edna and a Chill Out with the S.L.A.G.S (that's South London Action Girls, not ladies with loose knicker elastic and morals – although...). It is impossible not to be tempted by this weekly afternoon assembly that has been a relentless institution dating back to the dawn of time (well at least as far back as the early 70's). Huge dance anthems and commercial house delivered by DJs Simon le Vans, Andy Almighty and Sean Sirrs who shake the building almost to its very foundations and have the friendly, zero-attitude crowd waving their hands in the air and singing along in unison. This past Sunday was no exception as the crowds gathered and owner Paul Oxley celebrated his 21st (snigger) birthday! With the pull of the 'grassy knoll' to the rear of the Tavern, revelling punters spilled out to bask in the sunshine, only to be drawn back inside by the pull of the music. Re-admission was the name of the game and we did it again and again! Concerned with having worn the same outfit all night, Heidi-Liscious was found searching for a new outfit in the wheely bins at the back. QX loves those who re-cycle. So next time you're sat at home watching Pauline Fowler and Pat Butcher gurn their way through another omnibus, thinking 'what can I do with my Sunday?' stick the roast in the fridge, hot foot it to Vauxhall and make your day a big gay one.

RUDE BOYZ • 20/07/06 • FIRE, South Lambeth Road, Vauxhall. Every Thursday.

ETIQUETTE took over Rude Boyz early last Thursday with unwelcome attack of good manners. Poised on the podium, Steven, our compare at this the most chav-tacular of nights, had to fight tooth and nail to drum up exhibitionist entrants for the amateur strip contest. The sexy, malevolent, spunk loving youths sullenly cast their gaze to the floor. Shifting guiltily from Reebok to Reebok it looked like no one fancied their chances in the notorious weekly talent contest. Time was marching on! Recognising that lovers of council chic respond well to punishment, Steven surrendered his usual good humour and threatened that the uncouth youths better come forward to strip, otherwise there would be no Scally Alley and no Cruise Cabins to get down and dirty in! Bad manners were luckily restored as a two horse race to strip ensued between Italian Andrea and Ben from Essex. British beef was well hung against Italian Salami, and the crowd cheered their support for Ben, a former Eurocreme model, who claimed the prize money hands down. A hard act to follow, but the uncouth youths did their best as Scally Alley opened and the doors of the Cruise Cabins swung into action. Foul mouthed chickens enjoyed cocky action while DJ Paul Martin underscored the cruisy naughtiness with pant dropping panache.

THE GLITZ • 20/07/06 • MADAM JOJO'S, 8-10 Brewer Street, Soho, W10. Every Thursday (except every 1st Thursday).

FEELING the need for some live entertainment we headed up to Soho's infamous Madam JoJo's to The Glitz last Thursday. Descending into the faded and smoky but still glamorous nightclub, we were seduced by electro rock beats at Frankie D's night for maladjusted misfits and super furry freaks. Trying not to make sense of life seemed the order of the night, with a musical bill of fayre serving up a light salad of post-punk electro quiche. Horace Music were first up with their trademark sound of melodic synths, tough kick drums, fat basslines and heavily processed vocals - 'full of testosterone, ego and confidence'. Their leading single, 'Dangerous', takes inspiration from 80's New Romanticism, 90's Electronic Pop and the current sounds of the underground. If you're a fan of the Pet Shop Boys, Depeche

Volunteer

Volunteer

Mode, Underworld or New Order, these guys will appeal. Next was a more Indie sound drawing on 60's kitsch, primitive electronics and maverick outsiders as the band Volunteer played their future release single, 'Final Hour For Love'. Martin on Bass/Vocals, Chris on Synthesizer/Electronics and Marc on Drums are the missing link between Stockhausen, Zoltan Kodaly School for Girls and the Goombay Dance Band – put that in your pipe and smoke it! DJ Electro sounds were courtesy of Julian Shah from the band, Whitey, who recently played on Orange County, the USA's most popular TV show. All that glistens at The Glitz is certainly indie/electro gold!

THOM BARRON CALLING FROM CAZZO

CRAZY and fucked up! A bizarre kaleidoscope of explosive sex in Berlin with off-the-wall ideas that will make any lover of Cazzo, or the infamous Thom Barron, a dribbling mess. I think we've all seen old Cazzo videos in black and white. Strong as ever, they are alive and definitely kicking with their latest release, Thom Barron Calling.

New sex adventures are waiting around every corner in the world of Cazzo! Franco Potente is running through Berlin and only has two hours to meet his dream man. When he finally meets up with Thom his time is already up _ but what happens then is a dream come true anyway!

In a mad world of masturbating hot-dog vendors, razor-sharp hairdos, fucking cellar punks, horned up gallery visitors, and a strip bar teeming with sex-crazed black men, where does a boy start? First, he falls into the trap of a sex psychopath, and then he runs into a group of nasty skinheads - oh dear! Every minute he experiences one Berlin sex revelation after the other.

The film sounds very strange but it had my cock standing to attention in no time. With a kebab seller wanking into the yogurtsauce and an art exhibition audience applauding hot fuck-action as two guys shag right there and then they become the star piece of the "exhibition". There's sex in a video-cubicle, sex in a car and a wank in a public toilet. Besides twenty red-hot boys there's mega-star Thom Barron in action. What more could you want? Picture and sound are great. All in all, a great Cazzo movie. Give it a go, especially if fucking in public places is your thing. You'll be cumming back to this again and again!
