City Goes into Escrow on Chili Cook-Off Property

■ Municipal Officials Authorize Financing Plan for Acquisition of 20-Acre Private Parcel

The Malibu City Council, at a special meeting Monday morning, approved a sale and purchase agreement and entered into escrow for buying the $25 million Chili Cook-Off site consisting of 19 vacant acres and three commercial properties. The city will open escrow with a minimum deposit of $2.5 million.

After the unanimous vote, Councilmember Sharon Barovsky, referring to how thousands of community residents donated money to help buy the centerpiece of the Civic Center area, said, "The community just bought themselves a great holiday gift. We are in escrow now. We are almost home."

Councilmember Ken Kearsley said it was the second most important day in the city's history. "The first was when we became a city," he said.

There were many last-minute changes to the agreement, including additional restrictions such as the seller, Jerry Perenchio, deciding the commercial properties cannot be used for grocery stores, supermarkets or drug stores.

Additionally, City Attorney Christi Hogin, who is credited with conducting the negotiations, told council members Perenchio did not want the vacant portion of the property to be named after any donor or individual. "He wants it to retain a designation that connotes the property is for all of Malibu," she said.

There are many other restrictions that Perenchio has imposed upon the new buyers in terms of how the vacant property can be used, what kind of park it can be and numerous other conditions on the properties.

"The restrictions on the property both vacant and developed portions may be enforced by Jerry or Margaret Perenchio or John Perenchio by bringing a lawsuit to compel compliance," Hogin added.

Another change council members praised included extending the close of the escrow date. The city attorney said the Malibu Bay Company, which is owned by Perenchio, was still negotiating for a lease for the old Malibu Lumber property and could not hand over a signed contract.

"Under these circumstances, the seller has offered to extend the date to close the escrow to 15 business days after the execution of a lease with a tenant for at least $875,000 per year," Hogin added, saying MBC was under no obligation to do so, but offered the option. The city agreed to pay the broker's fee of $100,000 plus septic upgrades to the building costing $65,000.

Councilmember Pamela Conley Ulich said she thought the city should take on the completion of the lease negotiations, but was outvoted by her colleagues, who said the withdrawal of the Malibu Bay Company dealing with a New York-based firm was preferable. It still was not revealed who the potential tenant is.

Council members did not seem responsive to using the opportunity to try to choose their own tenant such as another lumber company or hardware store. Several members insisted it was too risky to venture beyond what was given them since the lease payments will be used to pay back the loans to purchase the property.

Things got somewhat bogged down in developing the exact numbers for a financing plan. The council is poised to have what are called certificates of participation issued to buy the property and then use the proceeds from the commercial rental properties to pay down the bonds.

The council wanted to know how much money they had on hand and how much could come from other sources that could be used in place of issuing COPs.

After a lengthy discussion, it was decided the city would authorize up to $18 million in COPs with the hopes that not all of those bonds would be offered.

How much money on hand was complicated by more uncertainties. The $700,000 from Los (Continued on page 27)

City Gets Ready to Start Search for a New Manager

■ Current Chief Administrator Gives 30-Days Notice—Jan. 9 Is Last Day in Malibu

DEPARTING—City Manager Katie Lichtig has accepted the position of assistant city manager in the City of Beverly Hills.

In a move that surprised many residents and City Hall watchers, City Manager Katie Lichtig announced Dec. 7 in an open memo to staff and the city council that she is leaving the top local administrative post for a position in Beverly Hills.

Her leave follows the recent departure of other Malibu municipal department heads, including those of public works and parks and recreation. Two other top posts were recently filled when a new planning manager came on board and the city hired a new administrative services director.

Lichtig said she has accepted the position of assistant city manager in the City of Beverly Hills. Her salary will be $181,131. She will report directly to City Manager Rod Wood, who cited her "extensive management experience working in municipal government."

Lichtig will oversee the day-to-day operations of the municipality, which includes seven departments (including its own police and fire departments), 750 employees and a $120 million general fund budget. Malibu has 60-plus employees and a budget of just over $15 million.

Lichtig had apparently just completed contract negotiations with Malibu city officials last May, when the Beverly Hills position was announced during the summer after the previous assistant city manager retired.

During those negotiations, the city council approved a three-year contract with Lichtig that increased her salary to $149,900.

Councilmember Sharon Barovsky said she considers Lichtig the best city manager Malibu has ever had. In response to questions, Barovsky said Lichtig was solicited by a "head hunter" to apply for the position.

"She is a bright star [and] headed upward," Barovsky said of Lichtig. "Besides, we couldn't match Beverly Hills' salary."

Lichtig was initially hired as interim city manager in 2002. Before her most recent contract negotiations, she was making about $135,000 per year.

Prior to her employment with Malibu, Lichtig worked for the City of Santa Monica for eight years, where she served as assistant to the city manager and acting assistant city manager.

She earned her master's degree in public administration from Syracuse University and her bachelor of arts degree in political science from the University of California, Davis.

Lichtig notes that she grew up just outside of Beverly Hills. "I have fond memories of the community, especially Roxbury Park and the swimming pool at the high school—so in many respects, joining the [Beverly Hills] city team is like a homecoming for me," she said.

Past Chamber President Found Dead on the Point

■ Preliminary Law Enforcement Statements Indicate that Longtime Resident Appeared to Die from Self-Inflicted Gunshot Wound

The 2004 Malibu Chamber of Commerce president and a longtime local resident, Chris Hasselquist, 50, was found dead on Point Dume on Monday morning, the apparent victim of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, according to authorities.

Law enforcement officials are tight-lipped about what is described as an ongoing investigation. "We are investigating it as a suicide," said Homicide Detective Kevin Lowe of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department.

Hasselquist's body was discovered by hikers on the Point Dume Headlands.

His father, Gus Hasselquist, told The News, "They are pretty sure it was suicide. There was no note." He added that "last week [his son] seemed in good spirits. I don't know why he took his own life. They said he shot himself with a gun."

Chris Hasselquist, who was living in Decker Canyon, had developed a local web design business. He got involved with web design as the result of a love for computers that began as a hobby, his father said. "He got one of the first Apple computers. He was thrilled with it," the senior Hasselquist added.

Malibu Web was started in 1995 and had many local clients.

Hasselquist grew up in the then less developed, bucolic Malibu. He attended both Malibu elementary schools. He went to Webster when his family lived in the Malibu Knolls, and then went to Juan Cabrillo when the family moved to a house in Malibu Park, his father said.

Hasselquist attended Santa Monica High School, when it was Malibu's Public high school, and later worked as an auto mechanic.

He was the manager of a Pep Boys store and was reported to have built a collection of over $40,000 of automotive tools.

When he was 20, Hasselquist worked in an Arco station in Santa Monica, at which time he met his wife, Patricia. The couple lived for a while in San Diego, where Hasselquist increased his computer education. When his wife died 20 years ago, Hasselquist returned to his hometown.

Hasselquist has two children, a daughter Karla, who lives in Michigan and just recently gave birth to a grandson Joseph, and a son Danny, who lives in Long Beach, according to the senior Hasselquist.

Chris Hasselquist was a practicing Buddhist. As a member of the Nichiren Shoshu, his friends and fellow practitioners are holding a memorial service for him on Thursday from 6 to 7 p.m. at 20534 Roca Chica in a private residence.

A memorial for family members is still pending final arrangements.

Funding Drive for Cook-Off Site Purchase Is Extended

While opening escrow on the Chili Cook-Off site, the Malibu City Council vowed to keep up its grassroots campaign to raise money to purchase the 19-acre vacant property and three commercial buildings.

"We just took in another $37,000 in private donations," said Councilmember Sharon Barovsky. "I am in awe of the community and, with that shock and awe, we will continue our efforts until Jan. 9."

The council agreed to an extended escrow close date, which enables the city to continue to pitch for private funding. It could be opportune for municipal officials who just recently seemed to tap into the pocketbooks of the wealthy and famous of Malibu. Over 3,000 individuals or organizations have already given, according to city officials.

Issue of Council Member Term Limits May Be Put Before Voters

■ Eliminating Limits Altogether May Be Offered as Option

At the urging of Councilmember Pamela Conley Ulich, who is serving her first four-year term in office, the local electorate will be asked in April if they want to reconsider term limits.

The Malibu City Council, at its meeting this week, agreed to consider two different proposals at its next meeting in January, asking voters to consider a three four-year term limit or to undo term limits altogether.

The city attorney was directed to bring back to the council the two different ordinances that could place the matter on the ballot in April.

Currently the law reads that no one can be elected as a member of the city council for more than two four-year terms. The law took effect for the April 2000 election.

Conley Ulich indicated she thought term limits could be detrimental and result in a local loss of "institutional memory."

"We are losing our city manager. There are two people up for election that could either not run or lose, and Ken and Jeff are prevented from running [because of term limits]. Then I would have to run—the only institutional memory. That is scary," she said, to roars of laughter.

Conley Ulich said as a voter and taxpayer, she was quite concerned about the effects on local government due to term limits. "Eight years on the city council is

“Eight years on the city council is not

not enough time," she said. "I know that term limits were the rage in the '80s and '90s."

Commenting on the power of incumbency, Conley Ulich said there is a rich local history showing incumbents don't always win.

Councilmember Sharon Barovsky, commenting on her own political future, said, "I haven't had time to think about running. I will never run for a third time. My late husband was on the council when this came up. The term limits were the worst thing that happened in Sacramento. It created an entrenched bureaucracy. I've never been in favor of term limits," she said.

Councilmember Ken Kearsley said he thought it should be up to the voters to decide.

Councilmember Jeff Jennings said it is a powerful excuse for incumbents not to run. "I agree people should be allowed to vote," added Jennings, who said term limits do offer "fresh blood" and new faces on the council. "It may be time for people to move on," he added.

Mayor Andy Stern said he just did not know how he felt about the issue. Stern said he needed more time to think about it, then realized there were already four votes and said he would prefer to abstain rather than committing himself on the issue.

Meanwhile, the council made it official about the upcoming election, adopting resolutions calling for a municipal election on Tuesday, April 11, 2006.

Councilmembers Barovsky's and Stern's seats are up for grabs.

Getting Ready for Storm Season

PROTECTION—Preparations are under way at Zuma Beach for what is expected to be a heavy winter storm season. Officials with the Los Angeles County Beaches and Harbor Department are busy repositioning the concrete K-rails and building up a sand berm as protection from extra-large and potentially destructive waves that often accompany winter storms.

AGRICULTURAL ADMONITION

Editor:

I want to comment on our farmers market now coming for review in our community conscience.

As a Malibu farmer, I feel that what should be of primary consideration, especially from the point of view of Malibu as a community, is whether the current farmers market organization has the ability to honor the values indicated by the use of such terms as "farm," "agriculture," "farmers market," "community," "inclusion," "abundance," "service," et al.

You see, in Malibu we have a long, legendary and powerful grass roots history of organic food cultivation and cooperation that goes back to the 1960s and beyond. Chico's Farm (PCH and Morningview, now gone) and Fig Tree Ranch (now aka Vital Zuman, my farm) were the telling organic influences at that time, as many Malibu families pored over their copies of "Organic Gardening" magazine and cultivated fruit trees and patches of vegetables in backyards, extending the abundance to their neighbors.

The Malibu organic tradition is one of service, inclusion and the joyful transcendence of the embarrassment of being a human being that comes easily through the blessing of real community-based agriculture. As someone raised from birth on the same land I still cultivate today, and who has grown and distributed organic food most of his life, I will assure any and all that before one speaks of agriculture in Malibu, one needs to take a good long look around and be fully aware of where they are, and then, if they are actually going to talk the talk, well, they better actually walk the walk.

I have personally represented my Malibu farm at scores of farmers market appearances in the Southland and have supervised hundreds of others done by my farm interns and volunteers. My farm is actively sought after to appear in many more city markets than it is currently capable of doing. However, an invitation on behalf of the farmers market in my own community has never been forthcoming. In fact, the firm message has been not to come.

I've heard similar comments from other growers. This is par for the course, given the Malibu market's five-year history of wholesale disregard for the Malibu agricultural tradition and its overt disrespect for local farmers. Rest assured, I am thoroughly insulted. If the Malibu farmers market does not exist to allow Malibu farmers an open public venue to sell their produce, then what is its purpose?

The current farmers market has no roots. Consequently, it doesn't even live up to low expectations of what one would expect from such a venue. It's time for a change to occur in this regard. An opportunity that we as the Malibu community have to step up to the plate and claim for ourselves. The opportunity to be a conscious, powerful, effective and gracious role model of real community agriculture for the nation, the world, and our coming generations.

UNSIGNED ANTIPATHY

Editor:

Let the community know what is happening at City Hall. I believe the citizens of Malibu deserve more information about the Cook-Off/Legacy Park transaction. In order to obtain the highest rent for the lumber yard, the city has allowed a lease to be signed with an unneeded apparel/gift store known as Anthropologie (a division of Urban Outfitters). The high rent was desperately needed in order to fund a loan necessary to close the deal for the Cook-Off site. Though a local and well-respected hardware-lumber yard attempted to negotiate a lease, they were rebuffed.

The city has also offered Wave (Pepperdine) a development deal for two acres behind the county library building. The deal would allow Pepperdine to develop almost 60,000 sq. ft. of high end retail on a site that previously failed to gain community support for assisted living and then an office development. What a Lotto ticket for Pepperdine, our unincorporated neighbor.

APOLITICAL ANTICS

Publisher's NOTEBOOK

Share Less

Generosity is an underpinning of the philosophy inherent in the major holidays of celebration that will converge on Dec. 25 and 26 this year. In the manner of the Magi—traditional and contemporary—it can be argued that there is no such thing as being too generous. However, in my current physical state, I am prepared to contend that generosity can be carried too far with one aspect of the holiday season environment, the common cold and its many variants that are now making the rounds in Malibu, where all forms of absenteeism are now high. The coughing and sneezing at the front counter in our office is replicated at the desks in the editorial section and at the computer stations that concentrate on graphics and design. There is more than enough tonality between all of the individuals engaged in putting out this week's issue of The News to provide a full range of octaves for a major musical production. Move over, chipmunks who "sing" Christmas carols, the newspaper crew is coming out with an album of holiday favorites based on the sounds of the real "cold" season. Imagine such classic lines as "the weather outside is frightful" in wheezes, honks, nose blowing, throat clearing and—well, you get the picture. If this sounds like delirium, it's the kind of thinking fueled by regular 250 mg. doses of azithromycin and every-four-hour tablespoons of cough syrup with codeine (if you're still awake enough to swallow it).

Part of the blame for this sorry state of health belongs with a medical profession that can cure life-threatening pneumonia, but is unable to stamp out lesser woes. Let the rest of the world clamor in fear of the avian flu pandemic, the common cold pandemic is of greater immediate consequence. True, part of the problem is that most of us can't or won't do what is best for us. That's take some time off, kick back and let the body deal with the invading virus on its own terms. In the vast majority of cases, a short cocooning spell would suffice to let the cold run its course and allow the host body to bound back with renewed vigor. Still, colds are clever and prefer to strike during holidays and other peak periods of activity, prompting or requiring most of us to ignore our best interests—as well as the best interests of everyone around us. Oh, well, at least the collective component of the common cold gives new meaning to the concept that we gave at the office.

A Matter of PUBLIC RECORD

PIUMA ROAD EAST OF MILE MARKER 2.81
NOTICE INVITING BIDS

Sealed Bids will be received by the County of Los Angeles Department of Public Works, Construction Division, for the construction of a soldier pile retaining wall including steel piles, tie rods, deadman piles, timber lagging, concrete fascia, asphalt concrete pavement on base material, metal beam guardrail, and terminal system end treatments, and other appurtenant work under Project ID No. RDC0014714, Piuma Road East of Mile Marker 2.81, in the vicinity of Monte Nido.

The bids must be submitted at the Cashier's Office, located on the Mezzanine level, 900 South Fremont Avenue, Alhambra, California 91803-1331, before 11 a.m. on Thursday, December 29, 2005. The Bids will then be publicly opened and read in Conference Room A or at the location posted in the main lobby.

The Work shall be done in accordance with the Plans and Specifications on file and open for inspection at the County Board of Supervisors Executive Office and the Department of Public Works. The Work is estimated to cost between $460,000 and $585,000 and shall be completed in 40 calendar days. The Work requires a California Class A contractor's license. Prebid questions regarding the Plans and Specifications should be directed to Ms. Christine Quirk at (626) 458-3199.

The Bids must be submitted on the Proposal forms included in the Bidder's package of the Contract Documents, which may be purchased for $15, if picked up at the aforementioned Cashier's Office, (626) 458-6959, Monday through Thursday between 7 a.m. and 5:30 p.m., or for $19, if mailed, which includes postage and handling.

Each Bid must be accompanied by a certified check, cashier's check, or surety bond payable to Los Angeles County in an amount equal to at least 10 percent of the Bid to guarantee that the Bidder will enter into the Contract if it is awarded to him.

All persons performing the Work shall be paid not less than the General Prevailing Wage Determination made by the Director of Industrial Relations pursuant to the California Labor Code. Copies of these wage rates are available at the Department of Public Works. Furthermore, minimum wage rates for this Project as predetermined by the Secretary of Labor (Federal) are set forth in the Special Provisions.

If there is a difference between the minimum wage rates predetermined by the Secretary of Labor and the applicable prevailing wage rates per the Director of Industrial Relations for similar classifications of labor, the Contractor and its subcontractors shall pay not less than the higher wage rate.

The rate of compensation for any classification not listed in the schedule, but which may be required to execute the Contract, shall be commensurate and in accordance with the rates specified for similar or comparable classifications or for those performing similar or comparable duties.

The County hereby notifies all Bidders that it will affirmatively ensure that minority business enterprises will be afforded full opportunity to submit Bids in response to this invitation and will not be discriminated against on the grounds of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin in consideration for an award of any contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement.

NOTICE OF REQUIREMENT FOR AFFIRMATIVE ACTION TO ENSURE EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY (EXECUTIVE ORDER 11246)

The goals for minority and female participation, expressed in percentage terms for the Contractor's aggregate workforce in each trade on all construction work in the covered area, are as follows:

- Goals for Minority Participation in Each Trade 28.3%
- Goals for Female Participation in Each Trade 6.9%

These goals are applicable to all the Contractor's construction work (whether or not it is Federal or Federally assisted) performed in the covered area.

The Contractor's compliance with the Executive Order and the regulations in 41 CFR, Part 60-4, shall be based on its implementation of the Equal Opportunity Clause, specific affirmative action obligations required by the specifications set forth in 41 CFR, Part 60-4.3(a), and its efforts to meet the goals. The hours of minority and female employment and training must be substantially uniform throughout the length of the Contract, and in each trade, and the Contractor shall make a good faith effort to employ minorities and females evenly on each of its projects. The transfer of minority or female employees or trainees from contractor to contractor or from project to project for the sole purpose of meeting the Contractor's goals shall be a violation of the Contract, the Executive Order, and the regulations in 41 CFR, Part 60-4. Compliance with the goals will be measured against the total work hours performed.

The Contractor shall provide written notification to the Director of the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs within ten working days of award of any construction subcontract in excess of $10,000 at any tier for construction work under the Contract resulting from this solicitation. The notification shall list the name, address, and telephone number of the subcontractor; employer identification number of the subcontractor; estimated dollar amount of the subcontract; estimated starting and completion dates of the subcontract; and the geographical area in which the Contract is to be performed.

As used in this Notice, and in the Contract resulting from this solicitation, the "covered area" is the County of Los Angeles.

The Bid must provide full disclosure of False Claims Act violations, labor law/payroll violations, debarments, and civil/criminal legal actions as provided for on the forms included as part of the Proposal. # 'Nutcracker' Plays to Full House

The Malibu Ballet and Performing Arts Society recently performed "The Nutcracker Suite" at Pepperdine University's Smothers Theatre.

Directed by JoAnna Jarvis, the Christmas Ballet was a resounding success with young and old.

The lead dancers included Malibuites Devon Martinez, Dasha Jensen, Skylar Cozen, David Eck and Matthew Johnson.

A new addition to the cast this year was Stephanie Pinto, who played the "Maid of Sweets." She became part of the cast through the Malibu Ballet Society's outreach program. Suffering from acute lymphoblastic leukemia, the 11-year-old came through the CureSearch National Childhood Cancer Foundation and is undergoing treatment.

Cabrillo Library Gets Facelift

■ Craftsman Volunteers Time and Talent

The Juan Cabrillo Elementary School library was transformed into a state-of-the-art facility thanks to Ralf Hillenbrand, who personally installed more than 75 oak cabinets that he had made in Germany. Children wait with anticipation, above, and check out the new facilities, left. Below, the school librarian gives a geography lesson to a full house.

Wrap it Right

- Use a strong box with enough room for cushioning
- Shredded newspaper, bubble wrap or styrofoam peanuts can be used
- Use tape that is designed for shipping
- Only delivery and return addresses should be on the package, and for additional security include a return address inside the package
- Remove batteries from all toys and wrap separately in the package

Use pressure sensitive or reinforced tape to secure all carton flaps Proper packaging keeps gifts safe. With almost 5 billion packages and letters moving through the mail during the holidays, taking time to wrap your package right will help ensure gifts arrive in good condition and on time.

The Week of December 15–21, 2005

Don't be surprised if you can't find your fa-la-las this week and next—a difficult planetary pattern dials up a less than joyous frequency, and the ghosts of Christmas past, present and future haunt the festivities. Testy, Touchy, and Temperamental, three elves normally kept in captivity, tag along with Santa, and their presence turns the season into Scrooged Redux. Flexibility is the key to handling the intensity, so rather than cling to a specific vision of what the holidays should look like, surrender and go with the flow. The source of conflict is an ongoing fixed T-square between Saturn, Jupiter and Mars that morphs into a fixed grand cross when Neptune joins the team next week. (Oy.) Fixed signs—Taurus, Leo, Scorpio and Aquarius—have a tendency to hold fast to their opinion and seldom feel the urge to compromise. Yet, in spite of that infamous rigidity, they are all potent creative forces. Taurus represents the fertility of potential. Leo signifies the capacity to express that potential. Scorpio symbolizes the continuous process of that energy through death and resurrection. Aquarius crystallizes new paradigms. When planets in each of these signs square off and oppose each other, the physical grinding motion of change turns the air tense with frustration—it's the astro-equivalent of shifting gears without putting the clutch in gear. Because each of us has every component of the astrological system somewhere in our birth chart, each of us faces the challenge of this rigidity somewhere in our personal life. So best to pay attention to where you don't want to budge and, rather than allowing stubborn resistance to determine your fate, try to participate positively by being open to change, even if that means relinquishing a cherished tradition. There isn't enough room to go into a detailed description of the squares and opposition between Neptune, Saturn, Jupiter and Mars. Besides, only an astrologer would be fascinated by the particulars, and frankly, this astrologer is more interested in how the tension plays out. This entire bundle can either be a cross to bear or a mandala of transformation. Choose the victim role, and you might collapse from the weight of the disappointment and dashed expectations. Opt for personal growth, and those very same feelings of futility can become the fodder for self-awareness, especially if you are willing to be honest about what keeps you holding on. So if you're already exhausted from an already overwhelming year of intensity, give yourself permission over the coming weeks to take a break and indulge in as much quiet time as you need. It takes a lot of energy to move the karmic wheel in a new direction. And sometimes just sitting still can work wonders for the soul. If you know your ascendant and/or your moon sign, read that too.

Aries (March 21-April 19): It's not easy turning the weight of awareness into an incredible lightness of being, but you are certainly up to the challenge, especially if you are willing to stop worrying about money. I'm not suggesting denial. I am advising you to take a deep breath and envision a more expansive future.
Taurus (April 20-May 20): You're in the too-much-to-do-and-not-nearly-enough-time zone, but that's no reason to neglect yourself. Don't even think about putting your needs aside. You need a solid routine to help you stay grounded and gracious.
Gemini (May 21-June 21): To ensure a steady flow of positive energy, you need to let the pressure off slowly. So take your time, release the tension little by little; give everyone a chance to be heard, and you'll transform a potentially volatile situation into a peaceful exchange of ideas.
Cancer (June 22-July 22): You'll need all your nurturing skills to soothe egos and smooth feathers, as friends make extraordinary demands on your time and energy. Just remember, you're also allowed to say "no" without being afraid of damaging those relationships.
Leo (July 23-August 22): Just imagine you're working with a combination lock, only instead of the "right" numbers, you need to experience the cosmic "click" of understanding. Once you realize what's needed to accomplish the task, you'll never look back.
Virgo (August 23-September 22): You don't have to be the peacemaker—but you'll have a difficult time resisting the role. Let go of the need for a specific outcome and instead, focus on how to synthesize the disparate needs of friends and family.
Libra (September 23-October 22): A negative mindset will inhibit your ability to distill wisdom from experience, so stop torturing yourself with what you could or should have done differently. Assess what needs to be learned and move on.
Scorpio (October 23-November 21): There's nothing wrong with being serious and responsible, but all work all the time is hard on body, mind, and spirit. Make time for what you love to do, and that passion will nourish every aspect of your being.
Sagittarius (November 22-December 21): In times of turmoil, it is often best to take no unnecessary action. Pay attention to what motivates, as well as how you spend your energy, and you'll be surprised at what emerges as a pattern.
Capricorn (December 22-January 19): If you let go of how it's "supposed" to be, you'll start enjoying how it is. Yes, some of the terrain is uncomfortable, but you're capable of making the necessary adjustments.
Aquarius (January 20-February 18): Pretending those partnership problems aren't real won't solve the problem, but thoughtful, direct communication will. Take your time with this process and you'll achieve the clarity you're after.
Pisces (February 19-March 20): Be willing to ask yourself if what you're holding on to is worth the effort, and then answer the question honestly. This isn't a test—this is about being authentic about what you really desire.

Local's Love of Cars Shows in His Directing

■ 'Build or Bust' Creator Gives Ordinary Guys Chance to Build a Dream Machine

Although a love of cars and motorcycles is a hobby for many, director Scott Gillen has been able to consistently build his career around it.

His latest venture, television show "Build or Bust," has just been renewed for a second season, and he is in negotiations for seasons three and four.

The show, which airs Wednesday nights on the SPEED channel, takes an "average Joe" and teams him with a master builder and, provided with all the tools and parts necessary, he is given 30 days to build a motorcycle from scratch.

If the job is completed within the allotted time to the master builder's satisfaction, the builder gets to keep the bike; if not, he leaves empty-handed.

"I like building bikes, I like creating bikes, I like designing bikes," Gillen said. The show is shot on a set in Santa Monica and is truly reality-based.

With complete editorial control, Gillen allows the viewer to see all aspects of the building, the good as well as the bad, including the footage of one would-be builder who almost amputates his thumb.

Gillen is also one of a handful of top commercial directors in Hollywood specializing in automobiles, and several of his commercials have brought him awards for design and directing.

A native of North Hollywood, Gillen began racing cars in his teens. He parlayed his love of cars and motorcycles and daredevil driving skills into becoming one of Hollywood's top stunt drivers, working on many feature films including "Devil in a Blue Dress," "Speed" and "Heat," as well as several television shows.

He believes that the use of computer graphics in filming has taken the edge off of stunts. "Stunts back 15 or 20 years ago, they were stunts, and stunts now aren't as much. You see a lot of computer graphics work, and they cheat the viewer. I'm not really into cheating the viewer."

He cites films such as "Heat" and "Ronin" as shooting "real" stunts and believes they look more lifelike than those that use computer graphics. He also believes that the element of surprise is missing in many stunts.

"Nowadays, stunts are exciting but they are more precise, they are really thought out," he said. "Back when I did 'The Dukes of Hazard,' the General Lee would be chasing something and you'd go around a corner and you had no idea where the car was going to end up because we were really chasing the other car. There was somewhat of a plan, but you never knew what was going to happen." Seriously injured while performing a stunt, Gillen was sidelined and began looking for a new career. He opened up a car-rigging business where he perfect-

His talent led him to work with some of the finest commercial direc-

Sheriff's REPORT

COPPED CASH

Malibu/Lost Hills Sheriff's deputies were called when a west Malibu resident reported the theft of large sums of cash from her residence between November 25 at 6 a.m. and December 2 at midnight.

The victim left her home on Nov. 25 for a trip out of town. She allowed an acquaintance, who is homeless, to housesit while she was gone. Upon her return, she noticed that $1,200 in cash was missing from a purse that she had left on a counter in the living room. She also noticed that $5,000 in cash that had been left in a manila envelope in a hall closet was gone.

The deputy on the scene said there was no sign of forced entry, and the owner confirmed that the only person who had had access during this period of time was the housesitter. The owner of the house did not know where the homeless person was living and was unable to reach him in order to find out what had happened to her cash. A report memo was issued.

VEHICULAR VANDALISM

A visitor to a local Point Dume Bar, The Dume Room located on Heathercliff Road, reported vandalism to his Toyota between 12:10 and 1:30 a.m. on December 3.

The car, which had been parked in the parking lot in front of the establishment for several hours, was vandalized when some unknown person(s) took the left windshield wiper and twisted it into a knot, causing $100 in damage.

The deputy on the scene confirmed the damage but was unable to locate any suspects or witnesses.

Brosnan Plays a Hit Man with Humor

■ He Teams with Greg Kinnear in Dark Comedy 'The Matador'

"The Matador" is a dark comedy that centers on an interesting character. Julian Noble (Malibuite Pierce Brosnan) is a lonely hit man with a rather strange sense of humor.

While in Mexico, he meets Danny Wright (Greg Kinnear), a Denver businessman who is not having particularly good luck at the moment.

Little does he know that his life is about to change after Julian discloses his line of work to him during a casual conversation at a bullfight.

As Julian puts it, he is a "facilitator of fatalities." Danny is intrigued by his new acquaintance and finds everything a little exciting, although he doesn't want to have anything to do with the killings himself.

But the two form a bond that will ultimately bring them together again in the future. After they part company, Julian casually handles his work, and he continues to do what he does best—kill people.

He admits he lies when he needs to and tells the truth when he can.

This is something that also intrigues Danny's wife, Bean (Hope Davis). After all, Danny and Bean live a somewhat normal and possibly stagnant suburban lifestyle, and the thought of a hit man is something exciting to them.

"The Matador" is filled with humor at every turn. Brosnan is wonderful as the lonely, wandering hit man who fills his time with booze, women, and as much fun as he can in order to drown out the boredom and the ills of his life.

Outwardly he is a confident man who has no trouble with his chosen profession, but inwardly he is a lonely man who is struggling with his life.

All in all, it's a clever story with an interesting cast, especially Brosnan, who pulls it off with class and style—as usual.

Brosnan, who also produced the movie admits, "Films like this are not easy to do." He discloses about dark comedies that "it's about keeping a balance, keeping it serious, real, dramatic, truthful and yet obscuring it at the same time."

His character is what drives the story, and he says he "loved the audacity of the character and, ultimately, the heart of the story.

NO BOND—Pierce Brosnan plays a hit man with a strange sense of humor in "The Matador," a clever, dark comedy also starring Greg Kinnear and Hope Davis.

You feel for these characters."

Brosnan says, "Julian's been killing for years and while he's lost his soul, somewhere deep down in the catacombs of his heart, there's a flame. He's at a cross roads in his life with choices to make."

His character also interacts with Kinnear's character in an unusual way. "I really like the strangers meeting in the night, who find an unlikely salvation in each other."

Brosnan thinks audiences will ultimately have compassion for his character. "You just feel for him," he says.

Julian Noble is a far cry from Bond, James Bond, but Brosnan pulls it off beautifully.

The combination of Pierce Brosnan and Greg Kinnear—a casting director's delight—is undoubtedly what makes the film as good as it is.

It's clever, witty, colorful, and will leave you wanting more.

Love of Cars Drives Creations

tors, including Michael Bay, Bob Giraldi and Samuel Bayer. His work led him to realize that he could do the job.

"I was rigging a car and realized the director had a great clue about directing but didn't have a clue about cars," he said. "They didn't understand cars and I thought, 'Well, I can direct.'"

"I had no idea what a camera was or anything about directing, but I knew about cars, I knew how to make a car look good. I knew the position a car needs to sit in, the angle, the height. I knew just by looking at it. I can do that, that's easy for me. They would take hours to figure out what position, because they're doing it from a director's point of view. I'm doing it from a lover of cars' point of view, so it's a little bit different."

His clients have included Mercedes, GMC, Honda, Ford, BMW—notably the PopUp commercials—and he is branching out. He recently did a spot for Tapatio hot sauce.

Although Gillen has only been shooting commercials for five years, his star is on the rise and the offers keep coming.

"I've launched quite a few for brand new cars that have never been out before, and four of them, including Honda, Chevrolet, GM and Mercedes, have been all-time sellers," he said.

Gillen feels fortunate for his success—but never complacent. "You would hope to have a 20 to 25 year run as a commercial director. I've been doing this for five years. I've done like 82 commercials, that's a lot of commercials in five years. I'm a proven director, there's no risk with Scott Gillen. I'm pretty much known as a design guy in the directorial world," he said.

An avid collector of motorcycles and cars, Gillen does not see his passion for cars and bikes waning anytime soon.

He resides in Malibu with his wife Teri and daughter Sofia.

Cook-Off Property Purchase Funding Drive Extended

The Malibu Coastal Land Conservancy handed over a $500,000 letter of credit at Monday night's meeting that represented the single largest donation in private funds.

"Well, we are not done yet," said Councilmember Ken Kearsley, who acknowledged MCLC's donation. "But we are working on possibly a bigger donor," said the council member, without elaborating.

To help continue the momentum, the council agreed to keep on Susan Shaw, the consultant overseeing the funding campaign, for another month, from Dec. 16 through the middle of January.

Shaw will also help send out "honorary deeds" to all the donors.

BY BILL KOENEKER

LETTERS to the EDITOR

It is also interesting that two of the largest donors so far are two of the largest Civic Center landlords (Koss and Soboroff—$250,000 per landlord). Could they see the Cook-Off acreage retirement as a benefit, or are they truly philanthropic?

We have only read about the great deal the community is getting for their $25,000,000. What about the cost of the wastewater plant, overruns, and what if it doesn't work as planned? Why did the city gain no rights for the vacant land? Experience tells me that no-money-down deals rarely give a buyer much negotiating clout. As the deal is written, a YMCA or permanent senior center cannot even be built on the land.

Mr. Perenchio has given millions of dollars to charity, yet the city, in their haste to make a deal, gained no rights at all.

This transaction is a fast-moving train that appears very difficult to stop. It is worth considering whether we are doing the right thing by moving all the development across the street.

I will close by saying that last week many of us discovered that one of the primary architects of this deal (who never lived in our community) is leaving her city manager post for Beverly Hills.

ANIMAL STARS of the WEEK

Be an angel this Holiday Season - save the life of a furry friend! They need you!

Oh boy, this little girl is too good to miss. Stella is a huggable little gray Terrier mix. So cute and cuddly, she so desperately needs a friend. Young at 8 years old. Her family moved and left her here. How could they? Be her hero and put Stella under your Christmas tree! Give her a forever home! Adoption #A1667435.

Hang onto your heart. We have little tiny Tinker, a Pomeranian who needs you now more than ever. This lady was left here at 12 years young. She has cataracts and doesn't see like a pup but will love you like one. Filled with love and hope, do something important this year, save Tinker. Give her a home to love in. You'll be as blessed as she will! Adoption #A3448126.

Last but not nearly least this is the cutest guy ever. Get a look at his face!! Bashful is shy but filled with heart and a happy waggy tail. The true definition of adorable. Loves to kiss and play, full of life and joy, he is a keeper. This little stocking stuffer is 13 years old but you would never know it. Please don't leave these senior doggies here, they need warm beds and big hearts. Let them love you! Please adopt him at #A3416194.

These dogs need you more than ever! Unfairly, dogs who are a few years old do not get adopted easily and they make the very best pets. Calm, loving, trained and healthy. Please give our wonderful friends here a chance at love and life. Their time at the shelter is limited, they truly need an open heart and loving friend. To save an animal friend is the least that we can do.

Neither The News nor any of the animal volunteers can determine the appropriateness of a particular animal for a prospective adopter.

Angeles County might not make it in time for the close of escrow. Could the county's $700,000 be advanced by the staff taking money from the general fund? Yes.

There was also some uncertainty about if and when the Malibu Coastal Land Conservancy would donate its $500,000 matching grant. By Monday morning's meeting, no one from MCLC had shown up. A letter of credit was given to the city council at its meeting Monday night.

There were dozens of other questions. Should the city buy municipal bond insurance for the COPs. Yes. Should the city purchase a surety bond in lieu of cash funding a debt service reserve fund? Yes.

Should the city authorize the use of interim financing for the state water resources grant? No.

Should the amount of permanent COPs be reduced to the lowest amount feasible if more local contributions are received? Yes.

The council also asked the bond issuers to hold a special educational session in Malibu for those who might be tempted to purchase the COPs. It was agreed to do so.

During a power point presentation, the costs of issuing the COPs were spelled out for all to see. The cost of the issuance of the COPs is $250,000. The underwriting cost is $137,000. The bond insurance premium is $121,000, and the surety premium is $30,000.
