

University of the Arts London (formerly The London Institute) A Brief History

The Original Colleges of the Institute		Now
1854	Saint Martins	Central Saint Martins College of Arts and Design (CSM)
1891	Chelsea	Chelsea College of Art and Design
1892	Printing	London College of Communication
1896	Central	Central Saint Martins College of Arts and Design
1898	Camberwell	Camberwell College of Arts
1921	Retail and Distributive Trades	London College of Communication
1967	Fashion	London College of Fashion (LCF)

Each had predecessors, perhaps most noteworthy as it is the most recent, LCF was preceded by the Leather Trade School (established 1887) and Barrett Street Trade School (1915).

- To 1965 Individual Institutions controlled by London County Council
- 1965– 1988 Controlled by Inner London Education Authority (ILEA)
- 1983 ILEA review of Further & Higher Education
- 1986 ILEA review led to establishment of the London Institute.

- 1986 John McKenzie appointed as first Rector.

- 1988 Education Reform Act – Institute incorporated as separate legal entity.

- 1989 First Court of Governors for Institute as a free-standing corporation
Central & Saint Martins merged as Central Saint Martins College of Art & Design.

- 1990 Printing and Distributive Trades merged as London College of Printing.

- 1992 Further & Higher Education Act unifies Higher Education sector.

- 1993 Institute's Taught Degree Awarding Powers approved by Privy Council.
- 1996 Sir William Stubbs appointed as Rector on retirement of Professor McKenzie.

- 1998 Coat of Arms granted for the Institute.

- 1999 Drama Centre London (DCL) merged into CSM.
Will Wyatt CBE appointed as Chairman of Governors on retirement of Julian Markham.

- 2000 Cordwainers College merged into LCF.
First Chancellor of the Institute installed – Lord (Dennis) Stevenson.

- 2001 RAE rating 5 – 'national excellence... significant...work of international standing'
Sir Michael Bichard appointed as Rector on retirement of Sir William Stubbs.

- 2002 Granted Research Degree Awarding Powers

- 2003 Granted University Status
Byam Shaw merged into CSM

- 2004 LCP renamed London College of Communication
Awarded title as University of the Arts London

- 2006 Wimbledon School of Art incorporated as a sixth college
- 2007 Sir John Tusa appointed Chairman of Governors on retirement of Will Wyatt.

- 2008 Nigel Carrington appointed as Rector on retirement of Sir Michael Bichard.

- 2011 Central Saint Martins College of Art and Design renamed Central Saint Martins College of Arts and Design.
- 2012 Change of titles for senior managers at the University – the Rector becomes the Vice Chancellor; Deputy Rectors become Deputy Vice Chancellors; and the Heads of College become Pro Vice Chancellors.