Foreword

Introduction

Church Statistics 2009/10 continues to expand measures of participation and affiliation collected by Church of England dioceses parishes and cathedrals. These measures are designed to reflect contemporary lifestyles and must be interpreted against the background of a growing number of government and other independent national surveys. National surveys continue to broadly endorse the 2001 government census results that indicate a continuing majority of the English population to be Christian. In summary, 72% of the population of England indicated their religious affiliation to be Christian, 6% of other faiths, 14% of no religion and 8% did not state their religion. More recent national statistics in the Integrated Household Survey 2010 indicate a slight increase in those identifying themselves with other faiths and no religion over the last decade, but the proportion of those affiliating with Christianity remains stable. The 2011 census will facilitate direct comparisons at national and lower geography levels.

In a pluralistic society, Christian denominations continue to play a significant role in the life of the nation. Approaching half of the adult population regards itself as Anglican (Opinion Research Business national poll 2009). Church Statistics 2009/10 provides more detailed geographical evidence of the continued involvement of the Church of England in the everyday lives of men, women and children at the beginning of the twenty-first century. This builds on similar information first published in Church Statistics 2002 and continues to be facilitated by the successful completion of the digitisation of the parish boundaries sponsored jointly by the Church of England dioceses and the Church Commissioners.

New attendance statistics

Following a major review of annual statistical information collection from parishes, attendance measures were designed with dioceses during the summer of 2000. These are generally based on a four week count by parishes of their attendance levels at church worship in October. There is no single period in the year when church attendance could be said to be 'normal' or even 'average' but October is accepted across the Church of England and by our ecumenical partners as the easiest and most comparable month in which to carry out this quantitative exercise.

It would be wrong to make direct comparisons between the number counted in church services across October and the figures that churches have traditionally estimated as their "usual Sunday attendance". Examination of the attendance levels collated in this publication in 'All age church attendance 2000 to 2009' and 'Parochial Church attendance 2000 to 2009,' reveal a larger church and fairly static levels of church attendance. On average 1.1 million people attended church-based services of worship each week in 2009, slightly under one million of these on Sundays. Numbers fluctuated week by week, among adults on average doubling at points across the month while almost quadrupling among children and young people. Statistics included here show that young people and children are attending church and church related activities in significant numbers. Across a typical month in the year parish church and cathedral worship attracted 1.7 million people but only 1.3 million of these attended on Sundays. The Church is indeed a seven days a week Church, and in recent years a similar proportion (a third) of dioceses have seen increases in their all age church attendance levels as mapped in the 'All age church attendance 2009.'

National surveys indicate that 17% of adults in Britain attend religious services at least once every month (ORB Survey 2009). We are adapting the annual church attendance counts to include attendance at fresh expressions of church and also beginning to monitor attendance at chapels in universities and other places of worship. The growing ministry of chaplains in shopping centres, hospitals and other places has yet to be numerically reflected.

Easter and Christmas are festivals in the Christian year when traditionally many attend special occasions of worship in our parish churches and cathedrals. Charts of cathedral worship reveal steadily increasing numbers throughout the years, with attendance at regular weekly services increasing by 7% compared to 2008. On Christmas Day/Eve 2009 2.4 million people attended church and cathedral worship, while 1.4 million attended on Easter Day. The importance of these Christian festivals in people's lives is evident in that Christmas services attracted over twice the average weekly attendance of our parish churches and cathedrals. Figures collected in previous years were directly comparable. In 2009, 35% of adults in Britain attended a Christmas service and 24% an Easter service (ORB Survey 2009).

Occasional offices

The church has traditionally monitored electoral roll and baptism levels, but from 2000 parishes and cathedrals has been asked to estimate the number of occasions where people received direct pastoral contact through each of the occasional offices. Marriages can be performed in recognized places other than churches and cathedrals. The tables 'Total marriages in England and Wales' and 'First marriages, England and Wales' (based on local authority registrars' returns) indicate that just under a quarter of marriages were performed by Church of England ministers. Local churches had significant opportunities for mission and ministry through around 380,000 occasional offices performed by their ministers in 2009. Funerals account for approaching half of these which is a significant pastoral load for many clergy. The table 'Parochial marriages and funerals 2009' shows that 38% of deaths in England are marked with Church of England funerals. Baptisms and thanksgivings represented over a third of the occasional offices, marriages and blessings of civil marriages about one in seven. At these essentially family and community events, local churches have unique opportunities for contact among a wide constituency and national public attitude surveys show this to be valued by the Christian public. In 2009, 56% of adults in Britain attended a religious service for a funeral, 44% to celebrate a wedding and 36% a baptism/christening (ORB Survey 2009).

Licensed Ministers

All God's people are called to exercise their ministry in his world and in his Church. The statistics of this report relate to ministries which are nationally licensed. Reflecting the older demographic profile of the adult population the number of stipendiary clergy has dropped since the turn of the millennium. This is projected to continue at a similar level with the net loss over the period 2010 to 2015 of over 700 from a current total of 8,120 FTE. (These figures include clergy with full-time appointments and those with part-time appointments aggregated to their full-time equivalents. Europe, due to the special nature of its chaplaincies, is excluded.) These projections take into account the expected number of ordinations to stipendiary ministry. This figure stood at 284 in 2010. It is estimated to remain fairly static at 311 in 2011 and 304 in 2012. For the years 2013 onwards a moving average of the previous three years ordination figures has been used. The number of people entering stipendiary ministry is not sufficient to replace those who are retiring. Detailed figures on the age structure are contained in 'Clergy age profiles and age structure' tables.

Among those licensed as unpaid ministers attached to parishes, the increasing number of self-supporting ministers including ordained local ministers stood at 3,150 in 2010, an increase of just over 50% between 2000 and 2010. Dioceses benefit from a growing number of lay ministers and retired clergy. However across the country the number of licensed readers has decreased by almost 17% over the same period. In 2010 there were 7,172 licensed readers, (excluding readers with permission to officiate and active emeriti).

The number of women clergy, stipendiary and non-stipendiary, continues to rise. In 2010 there were 1,710 women in full-time stipendiary diocesan appointments compared with 1,466 in 2005 and 1,140 in 2000, generating a rise of a half (50%) (these figures include the Diocese in Europe). Women make up just over one in five (21%) of stipendiary parochial clergy. Out of every eight incumbents one is a woman (13%). The equivalent figure including clergy of incumbent status is nearly one in five clergy (18%). Of a total of 352 dignitaries in 2010, 37 were women, fourteen more than 2005 and twenty five more than 2000. Women in self-supporting ministry in 2010 made up over half (53%) of the total. For licensed readers the equivalent proportion 50%.

The Church also benefits from the ministry of 289 licensed lay workers and lay Church Army evangelists; 460 professed members of religious communities, of whom 88 are ordained, and 1,232 chaplains working with mission agencies, the armed services, in hospitals, prisons, schools, higher and further education. In each of these categories of ministry there are fewer people than in 2000. At the turn of the millennium there were 257 Church Army evangelists, 693 professed members of religious communities and 1,258 chaplains. A further 268 self-supporting clergy minister within dioceses but outside the formal parochial system.

Since 1994 when all categories of licensed ministry were opened to men and women, the total number of those entering licensed ministry in the Church of England (clergy ordinations and reader admissions combined) has fallen by similar levels, (13%) from 1038 to 907 in 2010. Over the same period, the total number of ordinations has risen by 39% from 405 in 1994 to 563 in 2010 while the number of reader admissions correspondingly decreased by 46% from 633 in 1994 to 344 in 2010. In particular, the number of people ordained to stipendiary ministry has remained broadly similar at 316 in 1994 and 284 in 2010 compared with approaching a three-fold increase in non-stipendiary ordinations (89 in 1994 to 279 in 2010). In addition, it is worth noting that half (50%) of those ordained in 2010 entered stipendiary ministry compared to 55% in 2000 and over three quarters (78%) in 1994.

The average age of full-time stipendiary diocesan clergy is 52 years and one in five (22%) of full-time stipendiary diocesan clergy are aged 60 and over. Two-thirds (66%) are aged between 40 and 59 years, and 12% under 40. The average age of self-supporting diocesan clergy is 58 years while half (55%) of self-supporting ministers (including OLM's) and 55% licensed readers are aged 60 and over. The majority of the remaining half are in the 40 to 59 age group leaving just 3% of self-supporting ministers and 2% of readers under 40.

The total number of recommendations for training for ministry was 515 in 2010, 80 less than in 2007 and with 202 (39%) under 40 years of age. The number of readers in training has fallen by approaching a third (27%) since 2000 from 1,315 to 961 in 2010.

Financial giving

In the autumn of 2008, the "Credit Crunch" hit the UK economy. For the charitable sector as a whole, there was an immediate and significant financial impact. The Church was not immune, and in 2009 parish incomes decreased compared with the previous year to £889 million.

This decrease was proportionally less than that experienced by many charities, and this is explained by the regular, planned giving which continues to be the core of church finances. In 2009, parishes received £302 million from 616,000 tax-efficient planned givers (or more precisely giving units where some will represent two donors). At £10.06 per week, this was the first year where the average weekly planned gift crossed the £10 mark. These gifts, and some one-off donations are given through Gift Aid, and over £82 million was reclaimed by parishes from HMRC, another new high.

Income from dividends, interest and property dropped by approximately 40%, and parishes received £34 million from this source. This drop reflects significant reductions in interest rates, and lower stock market returns.

Outward giving from PCCs to mission organizations and other charities was £49 million, a very significant contribution to wider mission and charitable work. Parish Share contributions totalled £306 million in 2009, and there was £187 million of capital expenditure.

Summary

Today people support their local churches, chapels and cathedrals in many different ways. A national opinion survey in October 2009 by Opinion Research Business confirmed that since the turn of the millennium 85% of adults visit a local church or chapel every year for a wide range of activities alongside attendance at church worship. While the quantitative information is not fully comprehensive, it does provide a healthy picture of the variety of local church life. Church attendance patterns, the role of the occasional offices, the increased diversity of ordained and lay ministries, financial giving and other measures of church support are all continuing to evolve at the turn of the millennium in ways which are beginning to capture the interest of many serious religious commentators.

We are particularly grateful to the dioceses and the parishes for continuing to embrace new aspects of the annual parochial return exercise. Their co-operation continues to remain crucial to the successful gathering of the information required for this publication, and we are encouraged that they too are finding the results useful for their own forward planning. This edition includes as much appropriate information as possible from the Diocese in Europe and from diocesan cathedrals.

Definitions and notes

While many figures in this booklet have been rounded, totals, percentages and averages were calculated before rounding. Hence row and column totals will not always agree exactly with the sum of the stated amounts.

Among the 12,600 parishes of the Church of England there are around 600 Local Ecumenical Partnerships in roughly half of which there is a congregation and a ministry shared between the Church of England and certain other churches. In such circumstances it is not always possible (or indeed desirable) to isolate the Anglican component of the congregation. The parochial statistics will therefore include a small element which may appear also in the statistics of other churches.

Figures for cathedrals and the Diocese in Europe are included as far as possible. Their inclusion is most frequently inappropriate in the finance tables.

Figures for the Channel Islands are combined with those for the Diocese of Winchester. The isles of Scilly are included in the figures for the Diocese of Truro. The Diocese of Europe is part of the Province of Canterbury. It has clergy in the rest of Europe, Morocco, Turkey and the Asian countries of the former Soviet Union.

Attendance

Membership, attendance and finance figures reported in this booklet have been collated from the annual parochial returns completed each year by parishes on behalf of Parochial Church Councils.

In the tables relating to attendance at church services the measures of church attendance are defined as follows:

Average Sunday attendance	the average number of attenders at Sunday church services typically over a four week period in October.
Average weekly attendance	the average number of attenders at church services throughout the week typically over a four week period in October.
Highest Sunday/weekly attendance	the sum of the highest Sunday (weekly) attendances over the four week period.

Attendance figures have only been included where local churches held at least one church based service (which included adult presence) during the week under examination.

Licensed Ministers

In the tables relating to licensed ministers:

- Stipendiary clergy and lay workers are paid by the central Church payroll and figures are based on statistics derived from this data.
- Self-supporting clergy (and Ordained Local Ministers) hold diocesan licenses with a role in the parishes.
- Other self-supporting clergy hold other roles in the Church that are not parish based. More detail is provided in note 5, of the table Chaplaincy and other ministries 2010.
- Details of chaplains and other ministers working outside the parish framework can also be found in the table Chaplaincy and other ministries 2010. These figures are based on statistics derived from the database used to compile Crockford's Clerical Directory. Where possible they have been cross-referenced with material produced by organising bodies.

Finance

In the tables relating to finance, components of income and expenditure are defined as follows:

Tax efficient planned giving	Tax-efficient planned giving including regular Gift Aid donations
Total direct giving	Planned giving plus church collections and boxes
Other voluntary income	All other voluntary income for ordinary expenditure excluding income tax, e.g. fund-raising events, net profit on magazine/bookstall, sundry donations.
Total voluntary income	Direct giving plus income tax plus other voluntary income.
Other recurring income	dividends and interest, recurring diocesan and other grants, and all other income for expenditure on ordinary purposes of the PCC, net surplus from church hall or other buildings, income from endowments or trust funds if used for ordinary purposes. Includes insurance claims, non-recurring grants, legacies, special appeals and the sale of fixed assets.
Total recurring income	Total voluntary income plus other recurring income.
Unrestricted income	income that may be used by the PCC for general church expenses
Restricted income	Income which may not be used for any purpose other than as specified by the donor. (Income which a PCC designates for a specified purpose is considered to be unrestricted, since the PCC and not the donor is determining how it is to be used.)
Total recurring expenditure	The total of ALL expenditure (includes donations to charities, parish share/quota, clergy expenses, church running costs, costs relating to trading, salaries and support costs) for the ordinary purposes of the PCC i.e. excluding only non-recurring items of capital expenditure and non-revenue items.
Capital expenditure	Includes major repairs, redecoration and new building work.

Notes:

- 1 The figures in brackets give rankings. Thus in terms of area, Bath and Wells is the 11th largest diocese, Birmingham is the 41st.
- 2 C and Y denote dioceses in the Provinces of Canterbury and York respectively.
- 3 Diocesan population figures are based on the 2009 mid-year estimates. Crown copyright material is reproduced under Class Licence Number C01W0000297 with the permission of the Controller of HMSO. However as government boundaries do not match diocesan boundaries there has to be an element of estimation.

Notes

- 1 Children and young people are under 16 years of age while adults are 16 years of age or over.
- 2 From 2000 church attendance figures are calculated typically from a four-week count in October.
- 3 *In 2000 attendance at midweek weddings and funerals was included.
- 4 An approximation to monthly attendance can be taken from the highest weekly attendance counted over a typical month.
- 5 "Highest Sunday/weekly attendance" = the sum of the highest Sunday (weekly) attendance over the four week period.
- 6 Lowest Sunday/weekly attendance = the sum of the lowest Sunday (weekly) attendances over the four week period.
- 7 Attendance figures have only been included where local churches held at least one church based service (which included adult presence) during the week under examination.

1 A special question, previously asked during October 2004, again asked for numbers of young children attending activities other than worship connected with the church, generally over the month of October 2009. It also asked the number of adults attending with the children, and adults working through the church/parish with young children over at that time, in both a voluntary and employed capacity.

2 Figures of employed adults working with children are supplied by individual parishes, therefore there may be double counting where one youth worker is employed by two parishes. This figure represents a headcount since it is not known whether adults are full time or part time workers.

Notes

A special question asked for the numbers of children and young people attending activities other than worship connected with the church, generally over the month of October in the given year. Questions were asked over 3 successive years from 2002 to 2004, and then repeated from 2007 to 2009 about different age brackets. It also asked the number of adults working through the church/parish with children and young people at that time, in both a voluntary and employed capacity. Voluntary and employed staff have been combined for comparison purposes.

- 1 Since 1972 new electoral rolls have been prepared usually every 6 years. Such years are marked with an "R"
- 2 Before 1957 the minimum age for inclusion on the electoral roll was 18. From 1957-1980 the age was lowered to 17 after which it was reduced again to 16. Electoral roll figures for 1982 and previous years include some cathedral rolls. These have been excluded from the figures for later years.
- 3 The number of deaths are estimates based on Population Trends, Office for National Statistics

Notes 1 The infant baptism figures for 1980 and later years are not directly comparable with those of previous years, because from 1978 the returns have specified infant baptisms as those under one year of age in order to relate more realistically to live births.

2 Figures have been rounded and as a result the total may not add up.

Church of England licensed ministries 2010

Licensed stipendiary clergy	8,501
Licensed self-supporting clergy	3,151
Chaplains and other ministries	1,598
Licensed layworkers and lay Church Army evangelists	289
Active retired ordained	5,674
Licensed Readers	7,172
Readers with permissions to officiate and active emeriti	2,713
Totals CHURCH OF ENGLAND	29,092

The figures for stipendiary clergy (full-time, part-time and including those outside the clergy share system) and for lay workers above are based on statistics derived from the central Church payroll. Details of chaplains and other ministers working outside the parish framework, and of non-stipendiary clergy, are based on statistics derived from the database used to compile Crockford's Clerical Directory. Where possible, they have been cross-referenced with material produced by organizing bodies (Church Army, the Home Office for prison chaplains, and the Hospital Chaplaincies Council for hospital chaplains).

The figure shown for active retired ordained clergy is an estimate of the number of licensed retired clergy who take an active part in ministry. It is based on the number of retired clergy known to have either permission to officiate, licence to officiate or actual appointments. Pension Board records indicated a total of 8,954 retired stipendiary clergy in 2009.

Notes

- 1 The table does not include chaplains and other clergy counted elsewhere in the statistics; for example chaplains who have a diocesan appointment and are on the Church Commissioners' payroll.
- 2 Where an individual holds more than one appointment it has been a subjective decision as to where to place an individual. This means that there is inevitably some disparity between the above figures and those for previous years.
- 3 Apart from chaplains, ordained members of the teaching staffs of schools and colleges are not counted here, but are included within the self-supporting clergy figures.
- 4 'Other chaplains' includes full and part-time ordained staff of retreat houses, conference and healing centres, shrines, almshouses, missionary societies and communities.
- 5 'Other self-supporting clergy' includes: full and part-time ordained staff with either diocesan or non-diocesan appointments; some cathedral clergy; certain chaplains; and those who are not parish deployable but with licence to officiate or permission to officiate.
- 6 Of these, 86 are professed in vows and 2 are novices. There are an additional 372 lay members of religious communities who are professed in vows (40 men and 332 women).
- 7 In addition there are 106 accredited lay workers on the Church Commissioners' payroll (including some church army evangelists), 5 licensed deaconesses, and a further 11 full-time clergy on the staff of Church House and Lambeth Palace.
- 8 The figures for chaplains and other ministers working outside the parish framework are based on statistics derived from the database used to compile Crockford's Clerical Directory (with the exception of religious communities and Church Army where data is collected from source). Where possible, they have been cross-referenced with material produced by organizing bodies (Ministry of Defence for the forces chaplains; Home Office for prison chaplains; Hospital Chaplaincies Council for hospital chaplains).
- 9 The above figures capture those in chaplaincy and other ministries as at 31 December 2010

Notes:

<sup>1</sup> Figures are based on the numbers of clergy leaving and entering the clergy payroll (excluding the Diocese in Europe), which is held currently by the Church Commissioners. The losses and gains recorded include people that have moved to and from the Diocese in Europe, to and from posts which are funded by external agencies such as National Health Service Trusts, the Prison Service, mission agencies or schools, and between stipendiary and self-supporting ministry or full-time and part-time.

Projections of stipendiary diocesan clergy shares 2011 - 2015

Projections are intended to show the results of letting present trends continue, rather than as explicit predictions of the future. They are calculated by considering past clergy losses and gains, together with the number of ordinations to stipendiary ministry anticipated for 2011 and 2012, and applying them to the actual numbers of stipendiary clergy in post on 31st December 2010. After comparing the actual outturns with earlier projections for the same year, the mechanism is reviewed to reduce sources of inaccuracy.

Notes:

1 Figures are rounded to the nearest 10 and figures may not add up as a result.

Estimates of retirement patterns take the age profile of present clergy into account and consider what proportion of clergy of similar age have retired in recent years. Because of a high proportion of clergy born shortly after 1945, retirements are expected to rise until 2012 and remain high thereafter. The annual losses in clergy numbers due to deaths in service and resignations are likely to decrease because they are dependent on the decreasing number of clergy at the start of the year.

Ordination numbers are estimated several years ahead in consultation with the theological institutions and dioceses and there will be factors influencing these figures that cannot be anticipated at this stage. The most recent information available anticipates 311 candidates will complete training in 2011 and 304 in 2012. A small allowance is made for a proportion to defer their entry into stipendiary ministry. From 2013, a moving average of stipendiary ordination figures starting from three past years and two anticipated years has been used.

The greatest uncertainty comes from movements into and out of stipendiary ministry aside from ordination, death and retirement. Some resign and leave completely. For others, there is two-way exchange with self-supporting ministry, chaplaincy, other provinces and the Diocese in Europe. Other clergy are remaining stipendiary but for altered hours. These projections apply a combined moving average of all such movements to future years. As transfers to self-supporting ministry and part-time working become increasingly prevalent, it may be that the projection mechanism will need to be refined to deal specifically with them.

If present trends continue, there will be fewer clergy in stipendiary ministry in future years. Numbers of women are expect to remain steady for several years but the decline will come especially from the high numbers of men reaching retirement age. In contrast, the number of non-stipendiary clergy continues to increase, gaining both new ordinations and former stipendiary clergy.

The average age of ordinands to stipendiary ministry has risen since 1999 from 40 to 43 for women and from 35 to 38 for men. These projections assume that the ages will not rise any further, but the situation is continually reviewed.

- 5 Unrestricted income is income that may be used by the PCC for general church expenses. Restricted income is income which may not be used for any purpose other than as specified by the donor. (Income which a PCC designates for a specified purpose is considered to be unrestricted, since the PCC and not the donor is determining how it is to be used.)

1 Figures for Sodor and Man are not strictly comparable with those for other dioceses because of different income tax arrangements in the Isle of Man.

2 Tax efficient planned giving includes regular Gift Aid donations

3 Unrestricted income is income that may be used by the PCC for general church expenses. Restricted income is income which may not be used for any purpose other than as specified by the donor. (Income which a PCC designates for a specified purpose is considered to be unrestricted, since the PCC and not the donor is determining how it is to be used.)
