Costa Atrium

Welcome on board Costa Fortuna

A tribute to the great history of Italian seafaring

Costa Fortuna, an entertainment ship that harks back to the Italian seafaring tradition, is the perfect heir to the great transatlantic liners of the past. A queen of the seas that welcomes its guests in the same magnificent mood of the epoch-making crossings of times gone by: the stars back then were the great transatlantic liners and they are celebrated on Costa Fortuna today with exquisite models and with reproductions of the glorious advertising posters from the Twenties and Thirties. The glittering Costa Atrium, the ship's main atrium, on the other hand is a tribute to the present, with 26 models of the famous ships in the great Italian cruise line's fleet.

The public areas on Costa Fortuna bear the names of the most famous Italian transatlantic liners, each one accompanied by the year it came into service: the Rex 1932 Theatre, the Michelangelo 1965 Restaurant, the Conte di Savoia 1932 Grand Bar, and many more, all celebrating the grandeur of the past. The passenger decks on the other hand bear the names of some of the main ports of call for these great ships. The sophisticated architecture, the elegant furnishings, and the history that can be felt all around on board make every part of a journey on Costa Fortuna unforgettable.

The art of seafaring on board

Every area of Costa Fortuna tells a special story thanks to the skill and sensibility of artists from yesterday and today, providing guests with an inspiring mix of history and modernity. All over the ship you will see prints of posters by Accornero and Lehnart, and models, like the ones of the Michelangelo and Rex, decorating the rooms dedicated to them. And there are of course the splendid scale reproductions of the Costa fleet that decorate the ceiling in the main atrium. Besides these there are many other exclusive original works and exquisite antique pieces.
