Flinders University has always been home to brave learning and new thinking — a place where boundless curiosity and future-focused ideas form the foundation on which we were built. The opening of Flinders' new city campus in 2024 continues this fearless tradition.

Flinders University invites students, creators, collaborators and industry experts to come and experience our new city campus — a place where potential meets possibility.

Flinders University acknowledges the Traditional Owners and Custodians of the lands on which its campuses are located, these are the Traditional Lands of the Arrernte, Dagoman, First Nations of the South East, First Peoples of the River Murray & Mallee region, Jawoyn, Kurna, Larrakia, Ngadjuri, Ngarrindjeri, Ramindjeri, Warumungu, Wardaman and Yolngu people. We honour their Elders past, present and emerging.

Taking education to new levels.

A place for fearless learning.

Flinders' new city campus has been designed for flexibility, collaboration and immersion. Here, students will gain the knowledge and practical skills they need to confidently step into their careers.

Spanning eight levels, with multiple state-of-the-art teaching spaces, Flinders' new city campus is designed for innovative and adaptable learning, catering to an extensive range of study programs. Every floor has dedicated spaces for students to come together, learn from industry experts and be inspired by a world of learning possibilities.

With everything built to world-class, 6-star Green Star sustainability ratings, the campus features open-plan event spaces, central library and a dedicated executive education suite connecting students with business and industry leaders.

Industry informed. Future focused.

Innovative curriculum for real-world impact.

Flinders' new city campus features an innovative, collaborative learning model that provides real-world experience to prepare students from the moment they step into the workforce.

Our students are empowered to fearlessly share ideas, engage with dynamic industry leaders, and work on authentic case studies and projects.

Students at our new campus will gain practical knowledge by tackling unpredictable problems that are informed by industry, to help develop fundamental skills and experience.

The campus' unique integration between academia, students and industry aims to enrich studies through high-impact workshops and classes. Students will work closely with their peers from a range of disciplines, forming diverse teams to share ideas and solutions, extending their knowledge to boost future career opportunities.

Fast, flexible and designed for success.

The latest technology for modern learning.

The cutting-edge technology that informs every part of the campus exists for a simple reason – to make the most of our students' learning experience in the way that suits them best.

Inside the campus, students will find collaborative areas and quiet learning spaces that connect with their own devices via access-all-areas WiFi. If students don't have their laptop with them, don't worry, they are available for hire on the day.

Classrooms are equipped with technology enabling hybrid and remote learning, so no matter where they are, students will feel part of the action.

With softphone technology, students and staff will be connected like never before.

A connected campus.

Integrated study options.

Flinders' new city campus sits at the epicentre of Adelaide's most vibrant and connected cultural hub, surrounded by iconic Adelaide institutions such as the Festival Centre, Adelaide Oval and Parliament House.

On North Terrace, students will have the opportunity to study alongside and connect with key arts, business, government, sports, health and tech organisations.

Our Work Integrated Learning (WIL) program is a core aspect of the overall learning experience, as it integrates theory and practice and enhances student employability by:

- connecting knowledge, skills and study attributes through real-life application in the workplace,
- building confidence in workplace capabilities,
- developing workplace skills including communication, teamwork, problem solving, critical thinking and professionalism,
- broadening professional networks and connections.

At Flinders University, we aspire to every student having an opportunity to apply their skills in an authentic workplace context, through placements, internships or projects.

Students at Flinders' new city campus can study a range of courses:*

Business | Creative Arts & Media | Computer Science & Information Technology
Criminology | Disability | Engineering | Health Sciences | International Relations & Political Science
Law | Psychology | Social Work | Sport | Tourism

* Course availability is subject to change.

Putting students first.

Supporting students every step of the way.

At Flinders we're committed to delivering seamless support and a student-centred approach. That's why we're ranked No. 1 SA university for learner engagement, skills development and student support,* and No. 1 in SA for overall experience.

We provide diverse support services and options to empower students throughout their entire time at university.

Flinders' new city campus will provide a variety of on-site support services with staff at the ready to offer assistance and solutions across all levels of the campus. The building is connected to Flinders' extensive support network, so no matter what they need help with, students and campus visitors will benefit from real-time advice from our expert teams.

"I would definitely encourage them [students] to make the most of all the opportunities. Reach out for support whenever they need, especially from the tutors and topic coordinators, because they have been so supportive."

— Shai Barboza, Bachelor of Laws/Legal Practice and Bachelor of Criminology

Flinders Connect: This service offers in-person, phone and online support for student-related issues such as enrolment, fees, exams, graduations, and general queries. New students can also find advice and information throughout the year.

We're committed to providing the best possible experience, to help students make the most of their potential and prepare them for the next steps in their career. Perhaps that's why we're ranked No. 1 in Australia for postgraduate employment.

Come and be part of a place where potential meets a world of possibility.

Our new campus is a space built for students to unlock their potential, with cutting-edge technology, innovative learning models and unique access to industry leaders, all within the bustling heart of the city.

“By being positioned here, in the precinct of technology, business, government, law and arts – it means we are going to be able to provide more real-world learning experiences. It’s going to provide a front-door in the city for the wider community and it’s also going to help us strengthen and grow our engagement and collaborations with industry and government.”
