Chamber agenda makes progress with 2019 General Assembly, but

Big Issues Remain

Dave Adkisson

PRESIDENT & CEO

Kentucky Chamber of Commerce

Cleaning up the unintended consequences of tax reform passed last year, addressing issues related to state Supreme Court decisions, and progress on smaller matters of long-standing interest to the business community were among the results of the 2019 General Assembly. But bigger issues such as pension reform and infrastructure funding were not addressed by lawmakers during the 30-day regular session.

Even before the 2019 session of the General Assembly began, legislative leaders predicted that lawmakers would set a slow and deliberate pace. This did prove to be the case as fewer bills were passed than in other years, and many top-priority items were left on the table.

Priorities of the business community's agenda addressed by the legislature included reinstating the state's arbitration statute, passing tribunal reform, strengthening Kentucky's DUI laws, passing net metering energy legislation, enacting tobacco-free schools and making small changes to the state's legal liability climate and justice system.

Much of the session focused on social issues with many gun rights, free speech and reproductive health bills winning passage.

As those issues took center stage, the focus shifted away from tackling the state's ailing pension systems, ensuring sustainable funding for the state's Road Fund and ensuring a more competitive tax code, among other issues.

Although they passed a so-called cleanup bill for the tax reforms passed in 2018, lawmakers did not take the advice of the business community in several areas, including the elimination of mandatory combined reporting. But they did give relief to nonprofit organizations that experienced a tax increase as a result of the 2018 reforms.

While some positive progress was made in this session, only small steps were taken to improve Kentucky's business climate. The Chamber will continue to encourage lawmakers to take bold steps to ensure Kentucky becomes more competitive and accelerates the pace of progress.

“But bigger issues such as pension reform and infrastructure funding were not addressed by lawmakers in the 30-day regular session.”

THE KENTUCKY CHAMBER'S ADVOCACY EFFORTS:

Saving Money for Kentucky Businesses

The Kentucky Chamber's advocacy during the 2019 regular session of the Kentucky General Assembly saved Kentucky businesses an estimated $892 million a year. Here's a breakdown of how the Chamber's work generated real savings for the business community.

Estimated Annual Savings

SB 51/
HB 182 & HB 47

Employer mandates rejected

The estimated cost to Kentucky employers of the minimum wage increases under SB 51 and HB 182 ranges from $72.9 million to $115.5 million in 2019 to $579.3 million (in 2022 under HB 187 and 2026 under SB 51). HB 47 would have required employers to provide earned paid sick leave to employees in the amount of one hour for every 30 hours worked.

The combined cost to Kentucky businesses of the mandates in SB 51/HB 182 and HB 47 are estimated to reach $842.2 million by 2026.

Million

HB 350

Rollback of 2018 workers compensation reform defeated

This legislation would have removed some of the workers' compensation reforms enacted in 2018. For example, employers would have been required to pay for medical benefits from the time of injury and thereafter during any disability rather than the current cap of 780 weeks (15 years). The 2018 reform legislation was estimated to save Kentucky employers $50 million per year.

up to $50
Million

SB 7

Arbitration bill passed

While there is no economic analysis available as to the economic impact of SB 7, a 2012 review of surveys of trial lawyers, general counsels and participants in arbitration indicate that arbitration is less costly than litigation.

Indeterminate

TOTAL SAVINGS $892 Million

Senate President Robert Stivers testifies in support of Senate Bill 7, which restored the right of Kentucky employers to use arbitration agreements as a condition of employment.

Kentucky Chamber Led Effort to Restore Arbitration Agreements

In October 2018, the Kentucky Supreme Court dealt a blow to all Kentucky employers-private and public-by prohibiting arbitration agreements as a condition of employment. The decision made Kentucky the only state in the nation with such a prohibition, an apparent inconsistency with the Federal Arbitration Act.

Since the U.S. Supreme Court's 2001 Circuit City Stores, Inc. v. Adams decision, the Federal Arbitration Act has allowed employers to condition employment on a worker agreeing to arbitrate their claims outside of court.

After the Kentucky court ruling, the Kentucky Chamber began working with other chambers of commerce, the Kentucky League of Cities and other employer groups seeking a clarification of Kentucky's arbitration statute.

Senate Bill 7, sponsored by Senate President Robert Stivers, restored the right of employers to use arbitration agreements as a condition of employment. In addition, Senate Bill 7 ensured the rights of employers and employees to agree to rehire an employee during pending litigation, agree to a modified period of limitations when permitted under applicable law, and clarified that a candidate for employment can provide consent for a background check prior to hiring when federal or state law requires prior consent.

Senate Bill 7 saw final passage by the Senate on March 13 and was signed by the Governor on March 25.

Kentucky Chamber Director of Political Affairs Travis Burton testifies in favor of Senate Bill 8, tribunal reform, alongside bill sponsor Sen. Steve West.

Teacher Termination Panel Changes Become Law

Legislation to reform the state’s tribunal system which deals with removing ineffective teachers from schools was passed during the 2019 session and has been signed by the governor.

Senate Bill 8, the tribunal reform bill, made changes to the current tribunal structure by ensuring one of the members of the council is an attorney trained in education law.

The bill will help professionalize Kentucky’s tribunal system by helping school districts deal with ineffective or insubordinate employees while protecting teachers’ due process. Superintendents are often reluctant to fire or suspend an employee due to the cost, complexity of the process, and likelihood their decision will be overturned by a tribunal.

Senate Bill 8 also limits tribunal decisions to upholding or overturning the decision of the superintendent.

Sen. Steve West, sponsor of the legislation, stated there are very few cases in Kentucky that end up in front of a tribunal, showing the cases that do end up there are often extremely egregious and need to be handled in a timely and professional manner.

“I greatly appreciate the Chamber’s involvement with this legislation to professionalize the teacher tribunal system and ensure that the best teachers are in the classroom each day. The Chamber continues to be a valuable advocate for education policy in Kentucky,” Sen. West said.

Tribunal reform has been a longtime priority of the Kentucky Chamber and we applaud lawmakers for taking this step to ensure a stronger learning environment.

Several measures would have improved the economic climate of Kentucky. Unfortunately, many positive, pro-business measures below were not passed by the 2019 General Assembly.

Would have allowed for sports wagering, made legal by the U.S. Supreme Court, in Kentucky.

Legislature Continues Tax Reform—Key Provisions of 2019 Tax Code Changes

- Improvements to the combined reporting requirement in the corporate tax code to allow the sharing of net operating losses across the group and the deduction of the tax impact over a ten-year period, and to avoid double taxation by aligning methodology with IRS tax treaties.
- Ensures better guidance is available to taxpayers by removing language passed in an earlier version of the tax reform bill that would have removed certain Department of Revenue information from the state's public record law.
- Maintains the Kentucky Tourism Development Tax Credit by removing language passed in an earlier version of the tax reform bill to sunset the credit in 2020.
- Transitions banks from the bank franchise tax to the corporate tax while ensuring local deposit taxes remain in place.
- Exempts nonprofits from collecting sales tax on admissions to events and occasional sales.
- Creates a resale certificate for business to business transactions, thus eliminating double taxation for services which are required to pay a sales tax for services.

HOUSE DID NOT VOTE ON PRINCIPAL SELECTION/SCHOOL COUNCILS

“Kentucky’s distillers hold a deep commitment to preventing impaired driving, so we were proud to work with the Kentucky Chamber and to use our combined voice to advocate for this important bill. SB 85 provides evidence-based best practices that will target the irresponsible use of alcohol, keep drunk drivers off Kentucky roadways, and save lives. Once again, the Chamber demonstrated its support for our signature industry by helping to pass such a critical piece of legislation.”

Rep. Jim Gooch gives a floor speech while carrying Senate Bill 100, legislation on private solar modernization.

Kentucky Chamber former chairman Craig Guess testifies with Rep. John Sims Jr., Rep. Sal Santoro, and other advocates on House Bill 517.

Looking Ahead: Legislature Leaves Major Reforms for 2020 Session

Although the 2019 session saw some success for the business community, several critical issues that adversely affect the state's financial stability were not tackled: pension reform, comprehensive tax reform, and infrastructure funding.

The 2019 session concluded without any major pension reform even though several pension-related bills were filed addressing the makeup of pension boards and the transparency of the process. One bill that did pass, but was vetoed by the Governor, provided some relief from rising pensions costs for public universities and quasi-governmental agencies.

Kentucky must address the unfunded pension liability that threatens all other functions of state government including education, economic development, and health care.

The General Assembly approved a cleanup bill for the tax reform package it approved in 2018. That legislation improved Kentucky's national competitiveness ranking from 39th to 23rd, according to the Tax Foundation. The 2018 legislation included a provision—mandatory unitary combined reporting—that is harmful to the business community, but the legislature's cleanup bill did not include the repeal of this requirement despite the urging of the Chamber and other business groups.

It is critical for the General Assembly to further comprehensive pro-growth tax reform that not only will make our state more competitive, but will also bring in much needed revenue.

Another top business priority left on the table was infrastructure funding.

As Kentucky struggles to find the money to make improvements and invest in new projects, surrounding states including Indiana, Tennessee, and West Virginia have taken proactive steps to ensure their infrastructure resources keep up with economic development investments. Increased funding would generate a significant economic impact as Kentucky improves its infrastructure for current and future businesses.

House Bill 517 would have modernized the formula for infrastructure funding and would have included a 10-cent increase in the gas tax, raised existing fees and created some new ones. The bill, which never received a vote, was projected to generate nearly $500 million a year in additional funding to meet some of the state's critical infrastructure needs.

The Kentucky Chamber will continue to work with members, stakeholders and elected officials to tackle these critical issues in the 2020 legislative session to spur economic growth and progress for our state.

Board of Directors

The Kentucky Chamber is the state's largest business organization, representing businesses of all sizes throughout the Commonwealth. The Board of Directors is composed of 60 business leaders which work directly with the Chamber's public policy councils to form the organization's annual legislative agenda - the document which shapes our advocacy efforts each year.

Public Policy Councils

As the state's premier business advocate, the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce is a recognized and respected voice at the state Capitol. With thousands of members representing every major industry sector, the Chamber's diverse business policy initiatives converge upon one goal: a healthy, vibrant Kentucky economy. Ensuring that business has a voice in the legislative process, we are working with local business leaders to identify critical trends, at the table as regulations are drafted and in the halls of the Capitol as bills are debated. As part of its advocacy mission, the Kentucky Chamber has developed five public policy councils composed of business leaders from around the state, each of which is responsible for developing legislative positions and priorities for their respective policy areas.
