FOREWORD

The Population of Cities, Towns, and Villages report is the second report to be released in a series of planned reports emanating from the analysis of the 2022 Population and Housing Census data. This report is preceded by the Preliminary Results report released in the month of May 2022. The release of this report within a period of less than two months from the end of the enumeration exercise demonstrates Statistics Botswana's commitment to meeting user demands for timely and quality data, nationally and internationally. This is also part of carrying out the organization's obligation to ensure that data is made available and accessible for programming and policy decision making at the earliest time possible. Other reports will follow on the same basis once the ongoing further data management processes are concluded.

This report presents population figures with disaggregation by gender for cities, towns and villages identified in Botswana during the census cartographic listing exercise and census enumeration. The report builds on the preliminary results report by providing new insights through further disaggregation of the populations of cities and towns and inclusion of all villages. However, it is worth noting that populations of localities associated to villages, for each district have been lumped together in this report. The disaggregated populations of localities associated to each of the villages in each districts will be presented in the next report following completion of the related data verification and validation.

Efforts have been made to ensure that correct place names are used. However, it should be noted that the names and/or boundaries of some villages are a subject of legal disputes hence the choice of names used was guided by advice from district authorities.

Users are advised that the next report which will present associated localities to each village listed in this report is expected to be released by the middle of July 2022. Users are also further advised that a report on detailed thematic analysis of census data shall be available by November 2022

Note that this report replaces the one released on 3rd June 2022 to effect correction to the computational errors realized in some of the census districts.

TECHNICAL NOTES

1. TOTAL POPULATION

Total population is established on the de facto definition of population which refers to individuals recorded to the geographical area where they were present at a specified time. It comprises of the number of persons who were reported and recorded to have spent the night with the household prior to the enumeration of the household.

2. CENSUS DISTRICT

For census operational convenience, the country has been divided into 28 census districts of which some correspond to administrative districts or sub districts, can be a whole or a sub-division of an administrative district or township. Cities and towns are census districts by themselves, and make a total of seven (7). These are Gaborone, Francistown, Lobatse, Selibe-Phikwe, Orapa, Jwaneng and Sowa.

Other districts are designated as follows: Southern District comprises of Ngwaketse, Barolong and Ngwaketse West census districts; Central district is sub-divided into Serowe/Palapye, Central Mahalapye, Central Bobonong, Central Boteti and Central Tutume census districts ; North West District comprises of Ngamiland East, the Okavango Delta, Ngamiland West and Chobe census districts; Ghanzi District comprises of Ghanzi, Charles Hill and the Central Kgalagadi Game Reserve census districts; Kgalagadi District is sub-divided into Kgalagadi South and Kgalagadi North census districts; Kweneng District is sub-divided into Kweneng East and Kweneng West census districts and lastly Kgatleng, South-East and North-East administrative districts are each designated as census districts.

3. VILLAGE

Villages are determined by population size as one of the characteristics used to classify a settlement as a village. Further to this, a village is usually illustrated by the presence of a tribal authority (a Chief, a Tribal Authority, a Chief's Representative or Headman) and availability of certain facilities such as schools, clinics or health centres, tribal administration offices, Botswana Police offices, water reticulation, etc.

4. LOCALITY

A locality is defined as any human settlement with a name and identifiable boundaries. This could be a part of city, town or a village.
