Title: Proposal to add two Sinological Latin letters to the UCS
Source: Michael Everson and Andrew West
Status: Individual Contribution
Date: 2017-08-17

This proposal requests the encoding of a casing pair of two Latin characters used in Sinological and Sino-Tibetanist phonetic transcription. If this proposal is accepted, the following characters will exist:

	AB66	LATIN SMALL LETTER DZ DIGRAPH WITH RETROFLEX HOOK	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• used in sinological transcription for a voiced retroflex affricate
	AB67	LATIN SMALL LETTER TS DIGRAPH WITH HOOK	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• used in sinological transcription for a voiceless retroflex affricate

Although the International Phonetic Alphabet deprecated the letters

U+02A3  LATIN SMALL LETTER DZ DIGRAPH
U+02A4  LATIN SMALL LETTER DEZH DIGRAPH
U+02A5  LATIN SMALL LETTER DZ DIGRAPH WITH CURL, U+02A6  LATIN SMALL LETTER TS DIGRAPH
U+02A8  LATIN SMALL LETTER TC DIGRAPH WITH CURL

in favour of the sequences [dz], [dʒ], [dʒ], [ts], and [tɕ], in the Sinological phonetic tradition the digraphs are the norm and continue to be used. In the two source dictionaries for Naxi Dongba and Naxi Geba, some additional digraphs were discovered; these should be added to the UCS in order to support Sinological practice.

In this example the sequence “dz” is used where the digraph “dz̥” would be expected. Note the offset from the baseline of ts̥ and dz̥, however, suggesting that this is simply a font matter. There are other font-related typos in this dictionary, such as “nazo³¹” for “ndz̥o³¹” on p. 40.
